Humboldt County Directory Year 1903

PREFATORY.

We are pleased to present to the public the Humboldt County Directory for 1903. While doing so we believe that it will meet with general approval. In points of information, reliability, interests and completeness, it must be borne in mind that where a city enjoys the prospects that Eureka does, and has such a floating population, it is quite impossible to get all the names, occupations and residences correct. This fact can be appreciated by most people.

We have no hesitancy in saying that we have spared neither time, trouble or expense in making this work complete and believe we are presenting to you a book of information as correct as is possible to be had.

The names in this directory are alphabetically arranged, from A to Z, and to find a name you must first know how to spell it.

This Directory contains for Eureka names which does not include the names of wives nor plural firms and using 2½ times as a basis would show Eureka to have a population of inhabitants. Using the same system throughout the county would give the entire County of Humboldt a population of

We most cordially extend our thanks and appreciation to the business public and those who have so generously aided us by their support and patronage, in making this the most complete Directory ever published of Humboldt County.

Respectfully,

HUMBOLDT COUNTY.

Humboldt county, situated on the sea-coast of California near the northern boundary of the State, is one of the most important counties in its natural resources. Although ranking eleventh in population and the assessed valuation of its property, it stands first in the shipment of lumber and dairy products, as well as in some minor productions.

This county is nearly rectangular in shape, and is about 108 miles in length (north and south) with an average width of 35 miles, giving an area of 3509 square miles, equivalent to 2,244,480 acres.

In surface characteristics, it is a hilly and mountainous country; probably less than ten per cent of its area could properly be classed as level land; but it has this peculiarity, that the soil is practically all fertile no matter whether it be level bottom or sloping hillside. Only a small percentage of the roughest mountain sections, with river channels, occasional rocky formations, etc., could truthfully be termed unproductive.

Nearly one-half of the total area of the county is timbered land; one-fifth may be classed as cultivable; one-fourth as most suitable for grazing; and the remainder is mineral, marsh, and waste land.

The county is well watered by numerous small rivers flowing generally in a northwesterly direction to the Pacific Ocean. The most important of these is the Eel River, which is navigable for a few miles from its mouth; and whose lower valley constitutes the largest and most important of the agricultural sections of the county. But all the streams are bordered by bottom lands of greater or less extent, and all these bottom lands are the equal of any lands on earth in fertility and productiveness of the vegetation for which its temperate climate is suitable.

The climate is one of the most equable and healthful in the United States. The location on the shore of the Pacific, and directly under the influence of the warm Japan current, prevents extremes of temperature, and furnishes an abundance of rainfall, well distributed throughout the year. The records of the U. S. Weather Bureau at Eureka show that the range of mean temperature is from 46.4 degrees for January, to 56.4 degrees for August; and the absolute extremes since the establishment of that Bureau in 1886, have been: Maximum, 84 degrees; minimum, 20 degrees. But these extremes are seldom reached, and the usual range is from about 24 degrees to 75 degrees.

No irrigation for general crops is practiced or required in Humboldt.

About midway in the coast line of Humboldt is situated Humboldt Bay, the most important land-locked harbor between San Francisco and the mouth of the Columbia River. The expenditure by the federal government of upwards of two millions of dollars in improvement work on the entrance channel has been followed by highly successful results; a permanent depth of from 27 feet upward being established, permitting the entrance and departure full loaded of large sized deep-sea vessels. The bay proper is about 14 miles in length, and from one-half to four miles in width, and furnishes ample room for the large fleet of vessels required to move the lumber output of the county.

The entrance to this bay is 216 miles from San Francisco bar, and 420 miles south from the mouth of the Columbia River. Two lines of regular passenger steamers ply between Eureka and San Francisco, in addition to two or three lines of steam schooners, which in addition to their regular lumber freights, carry passengers and miscellaneous freights. Two lines of steamers connecting San Francisco with Portland, Oregon, make this place a regular port of call, giving weekly connection with Portland. An average of 1250 vessels cross Humboldt bar annually, making nearly four per day. About two-thirds of these are steam vessels, the remainder being sail vessels engaged solely in the lumber trade.

Trinidad to the north, and Shelter Cove, south of Humboldt Bay, are well protected open roadsteads which figure considerably in the commerce of the county. Eel River is used throughout the summer months by a line of steamers connected with San Francisco.

was 27,104; there were notable defects in the collection of the data for that census, and the growth of the county has been quite rapid since that date; making it certain that the present population (March 1, 1903,) is in excess of 30,000.

The principal cities and towns are, Eureka, the county seat, situated on the easterly side of Humboldt Bay, with a population of upwards of 10,000. (7,327 in 1900). Arcata, at the northerly extremity of the bay, 2,000. Ferndale, in the rich Eel River Valley, 1,600. Fortuna, in the easterly portion of the same valley, on the line of the E. R. & E. R. R., 1,200. Rohmerville, two miles south of Fortuna; Blue Lake, on Mad River, eight miles northeast of Arcata; Scotia, Alton, and Hydesville, in the southern portion of Eel River Valley; Petrolia in the rich Mattole Valley; Garberville, Blocksburg, and Bridgeville, in the southeastern part of the county; Field's Landing, on South Bay; Loleta, on the edge of lower Eel River Valley; and Trinidad, on the roadstead of the same name, some 28 miles north of Eureka.

The principal industries of Humboldt in the order of their importance, are lumbering, dairying, stockraising, general agriculture, fishing and fruit raising. The standing timber in Humboldt is estimated at from 25 to 40 billions of feet, principally the incomparable redwood; and the ten large saw mills and the thirty-five shingle mills of the county are converting this timber into merchantable products at the rate of some 225 millions of feet per year. These mills and the logging operations connected therewith furnish steady employment throughout the year for some 3,000 to 4,000; and they also furnish the principal portion of the freight for the eleven lines of local railroad, which all in themselves or through connections, converge on Humboldt Bay. As a building material, redwood has no superior and few equals. And the almost fabulous density of its forests, with the large size of the trees, and the great percentage of clear lumber, make the redwood the most valuable of all timber forests. Much of the three or four hundred thousand acres of redwood in Humboldt is now in the hands of large owners, many of them being Eastern lumbermen of experience; and the value of these holdings has steadily increased until in the early part of the present year, the sum of $31,000 has been paid for a single claim of 160 acres. But such prices as this are exceptional; and from $20 to $100 per acre may be given as the present value of good redwood lands.

Dairying is the second great industry of Humboldt. The cool, moist climate along the coast is ideal for this purpose; green feed is possible all the year round; and the suitability of the soil of the bottom and marsh lands for clover and other excellent dairy grasses, gives Humboldt an exceptionally advantageous position as a dairy county. For a number of years the exports of dairy products from Humboldt has been upwards of one million of pounds per annum, of a value of about one and one-quarter millions of dollars; thus placing this county indisputably at the head of all the counties of the State in the output of dairy products.

Stockraising occupies the third position in importance among the industries of the county. Upwards of one-fourth the area of the county is admirably adapted to this purpose, and the combination of a mild climate, fertile soil, and perennial natural feed has fostered this industry.

Much of the stock marketed is driven out of the county overland, so that the figures given among the exports do not fairly present the relative importance of the industry.

Nearly a million pounds of wool of excellent fiber are produced annually. A very successful woolen mill is operated at Eureka, and in the county are three tanneries, whose output amounts to over one hundred thousand dollars per year. Tanbark of excellent quality is found in abundance, and is numbered among the important articles of export, in addition to the quantity required by the local tanneries.

In general agriculture this county does not take a very high rank, for the reason that a large proportion of the most suitable lands are monopolized by other industries, notably dairying. Formerly Humboldt exported large quantities of excellent oats and potatoes; and even now those items are the most important of its agricultural exports. But much of the land best suited for their production has been taken for a more profitable industry, i. e., dairying; so that the strictly agricultural interest of the county is not as important as it was a score of years ago.

The fisheries of the county are important. Upwards of a million pounds of fresh salmon are shipped to San Francisco annually; and rock-cod, halibut, flounders, smelt, etc., are abundant. In the season, trout and steel-heads are caught abundantly in the streams; in fact Humboldt is a paradise for anglers.

Fruit raising is an industry that has not been properly developed here. With a climate and soil most suitable for the production of all fruits and berries of a temperate clime, lack of direct communication with the larger markets, and the backwardness in the development of the resources of the county has kept this industry from assuming its proper importance. A very excellent quality of apples is produced here, and cuts quite a figure in our exports. Aside from apples, not much more fruit is produced than is required for local needs.

Communication with San Francisco is by sea, from 18 to 24 hours. Fare, $10.00, $7.50, and $5.00, according to vessel and class.

To Portland by sea occupies nearly three days; fare $15.50.

In summer time, by rail and stage, the trip from San Francisco is made in 48 hours. For many years this section has felt the need of direct rail communication with the outer world, and it now seems certain that this will be accomplished within the next two years. The public prints now announce with some semblance of authority that actual construction work to close the gap between Scotia and Willits (in Mendocino county) will be begun with the opening of spring, and that it is hoped to have the road completed by the end of next year. In anticipation of this event real estate of all kinds is advancing in value, and taking on a firmer tone. The present is a very prosperous time in Humboldt, with all indications favorable to a continuous of such conditions.

The annual report of the Board of Harbor Commissioners for the Port of Eureka gives the following interesting summary of Humboldt's exports for the year 1902:

Truly, that is a healthy showing for the exports for even so important a county as Humboldt.

There is abundance of room for home-seekers in Humboldt. Nearly every line of industry is at yet but partially developed, and all along the line there is ample opportunity for active, energetic men and women to make places for themselves. Labor and skill are as sure of their reward here as elsewhere in this favored land; and no one endowed with average ability and habits of economy need fear to come to Humboldt to build up a home.

ARCATA.

Arcata is an incorporated town, having a population, including its immediate vicinity, of 2000. It is the largest town in Humboldt county and the business center of the entire territory north of Eureka. It is within twenty minutes ride by rail of the county seat, and is connected by two independent lines with the mammoth lumber plants of northern Humboldt. Arcata practically controls the trade of the gold mining communities of Humboldt county. It is the business center of dairy, agricultural and wool growing interests second to none in the county.

Being situated near the bay, it has its own shipping facilities and is wholly independent of any other town or city for its resources, advancement or prosperity. Its situation makes it the logical business center of every industry, present or projected, north of Eureka. Excepting the

THOS. H. PERRY Real Estate ^{and} Insurance
406 F STREET, EUREKA. PHONE RED 1444

City of Eureka, Arcata is the only incorporated town of Humboldt situated on Humboldt Bay.

The development of the resources of Northern Humboldt is in its infancy. The fact that capital from various sources throughout the country is now seeking investment here is the best testimonial to the richness of this section in resources. In common with the county at large, this portion offers a diversity of products, giving variety in occupations; abundant rainfall, guaranteeing crops and water; great natural resources, awaiting development; good wages; its own lumber, fuel, wood, wool and leather; equitable temperature; an abundance of land. It has no Chinese to compete with American labor; no summer thunder storms to interfere with harvests; no long and severe winters; no heavy frosts to destroy vegetation; no cyclones or blizzards; no suffering poor; no tramps and no labor troubles.

It needs more manufactories in all lines and more capable and energetic settlers to develop the country. Every development of the northern section of the county adds to the general prosperity of Arcata, which by force of its natural advantages is the business center.

Arcata is one of the most ideally located towns in California. HEALD'S SCHOOL OF MINES AND ENGINEERING

PROVIDED WITH ALL NECESSARY INSTRUMENTS, LABORATORIES AND APPLIANCES.

DAY AND NIGHT SESSIONS.

CIVIL AND MINING ENGINEERING

Thorough instruction in mining and surveying much shorter than the university course of four years. The plan adopted therefore is to specialize, so that those who wish can take up one subject only or as many as may be deemed advisable. Six months devoted exclusively to mining engineering will give the average student a full practical knowledge of the subject.

Any course or group of studies may be selected.

The CIVIL ENGINEERING COURSE includes:—Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Draughting, Strength of Materials, Surveying, etc.

The MINING ENGINEERING COURSE includes:—Assaying, Blowpipe Analysis, Mill Construction, Milling, Mining, Geology, Mineralogy, Economic Geology, Surveying.

The METALLURGICAL COURSE includes:—Chemistry, Assaying, Metallurgy, Calorifics.

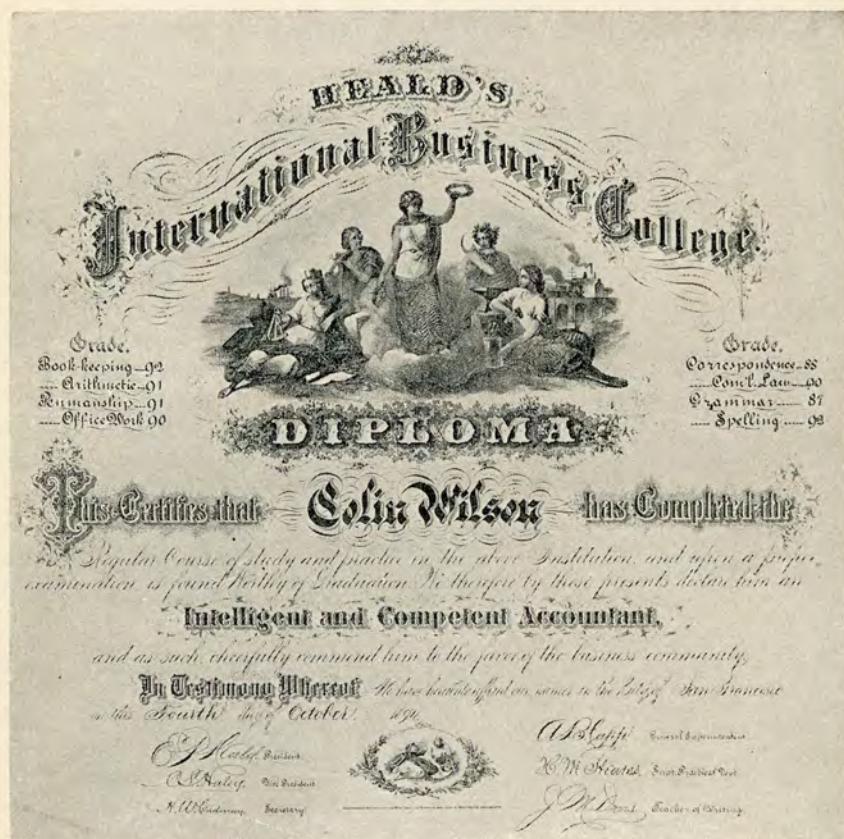

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

The study and work in this department cover all the modern applications of electricity. The course is so condensed and divested of superfluities as to bring it within the time limit and means of the average young man who has to make his own way in the world. Each student has to manufacture in the workshop a large proportion of the apparatus. The department is thoroughly equipped with Dynamos, Motors, Measuring Instruments, Wiring Appliances, Wheatstone Bridges, Telegraphic Instruments and Appliances, Electro-Medical Apparatus, Galvanic and Storage Batteries of all kinds, Fluoroscopes, X-Ray closet and a large Laboratory.

Send for Catalogue.

The course of study in every department of Heald's Business College is as short, practical, thorough and useful as it is possible to make it.

Visitors to the College are always welcome.

TRAINS leave Eureka over the Eel River & Eureka Railroad twice daily, stopping at South Bay, Salmon Creek, Loleta, Singley's (for Ferndale), Fortuna, Rohnerville, Alton Junction, Scotia and Burnells. Returning, trains leave Burnells for Eureka twice daily, stopping at way stations.

Trains leave Arcata for Eureka twice daily making close connections with trains for Scotia and Burnells, returning, leave Eureka for Arcata twice daily making close connections with trains for Blue Lake and Korbel.

The Eel River & Eureka Railroad runs through Eel River Valley, a distance of 25 miles. Here is a fertile valley which requires no irrigation, with rich soil, a congenial climate and an abundance of water, surrounded on all sides by a great stock country and forests of redwood. The valley is truly an oasis of grain, vegetables and fruit in the midst of a land of ranches and cattle, dotted with mills and creameries. The rivers and mountain streams abound with fish; and game of nearly every description is plentiful in the forests and along the foot hills.

No other spot in California offers greater inducements for the sportsman than points to be reached by this road.
