

Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities

Volume 1

Issue 1 Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities

Article 12

October 2019

Dawn

Mercy Arnold

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.humboldt.edu/rwc>

Recommended Citation

Arnold, Mercy (2019) "Dawn," Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities: Vol. 1 : Iss. 1 , Article 12.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.humboldt.edu/rwc/vol1/iss1/12>

This Poetry Informational/Argument is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals at Digital Commons @ Humboldt State University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ Humboldt State University. For more information, please contact kyle.morgan@humboldt.edu.

Dawn

By: Mercy Arnold

Rays of sunlight engulfing the earth,
Swallowing darkness in minutes.
Birds singing a melody that no one understands,
And creatures of the night returning to their homes.
A chill breeze blows across the fields,
Leaving a stark coldness in its wake.
Morning dew dripping off single blades of grass.
The stars hidden behind the disguise of day.
Humans, resuming life,
Knowing nothing of what took place during the night.
Its secrets to be concealed forever.