BLA (11 March 1893) Fish Protection--Mr. A.T. Smith, deputy fish and game commissioner, has written the following letter to Kneeland Jack, an Indian of this place, in reply to a request from the last-named for information relative to his right to construct a fish dam on Mad river. We make the following extract:

Yours of the 4th instant, inquiring as to building of a fish dam in Mad river, to hand.

In reply will state that such contrivances are strictly forbidden by law and for the guidance of yourself and that you may inform others (be they Indians or whites) I quote you the law on that subject. Section 636 of the political code says:

"Every person who shall set, use or continue or who shall assist in setting, using or continuing any pound, weir, set net, trap, or any other fixed contrivance for catching fish in the waters of this state is guilty of a misdemeanor..."

The opinion seems to prevail with some parties along Mad river that an Indian is allowed privileges under the law that are not granted to white residents. This is not a fact; and you will observe in the section quoted above that the law reads "every person" and there can be no doubt of its meaning. The fish and game laws will be strictly enforced so far as I am able to perform that duty.

In a note to the editor of this paper commission Smith adds: The old Indian method of trapping fish and at the same time preventing free passage of others to spawning grounds must cease. I am aware that the prime object of Mr. Indian is to secure eels (for which no special mention is made in our laws), but his conscience does not suffer for taking of trout at the same time...

BLA (12 July 1902) An Indian known as Charley Saxey, [possibly Saxon?] of Indianola [Table Bluff], who was engaged in shingling Kneeland Jack's new house near the creek here, fell off to the ground...fractured his left leg....

BLA (12 Dec. 1908) Mrs. Lucy Brock, who was once married in Indian fashion to John Bates, better known here as Monkeywrench Johnny, is not the latter's wife any longer as her parents have paid the money back to Johnny. Lucy soon found another admirer, James Kane, a well-known woodsman and last Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents near Blue Lake, they were married by J.P. Merriam.

AU (14 Nov. 1918) Obit Kneeland Jack, at Blue Lake, age 80; lived with John Kneeland family as young man. [Arcata Bottom Kneelands]

BLA (16 Nov. 1918) Obit Jack Brock "Indian Jack;" lived in Blue Lake until a few years ago when he went to Arcata; fought whites in early days; Leaves two full brothers James and Dan Brock, Blue Lake; about 70 years of age; burial Greenwood cemetery in Arcata.

BLA (13 Oct. 1923) Dan Brock, one of the very few left of the Mad River tribe of Indians, passed away at the home of his brother, James Brock, in Blue Lake on Friday, Oct. 5, after a prolonged illness due to old age. Dan Brock was about 80 years of age and leaves one brother, James Brock to mourn his passing. Indian Dan was well-liked by all who knew him, being honest and square in all his dealings and he was a particularly good friend of the whites during the Indian war in the early sixties. Funeral in Arcata, Rev. S.C. Gilman of Blue Lake officiating. Interment in Arcata cemetery where his oldest brother, Kneeland Jack, is buried.

BLA (6 Sept. 1930) Mollie Brock, an aged Indian, long a familiar feature in Blue Lake, who has been ill at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scott, is very much improved and has returned to her home on the Indian Reservation. Mollie, whose parents and brothers and sisters were killed during a battle in the Indian war, is the last of the Nongatl tribe, which until recently was supposed to be extinct. She will figure largely in a book by Mrs. Gladys A. Nomland, who is connected with the Anthropology Department of the University of California, for which Mrs. Nomland was stationed near the reservation recently gathering satisfactory data from Mollie and others.

BLA (28 March 1936) Obit James Brock, 85-year-old Indian of Blue Lake; passed away at his home; had been deaf for a number of years; leaves wife Mollie Brock; two daughters Lucy Brown of Blue Lake and Maggie Roberts of Weitchpec; step daughter Mrs. Ben Scott of Blue Lake; interment Greenwood cemetery in Arcata.

BLA (23 May 1936) Obit, Lucy Brown, age 64, Blue Lake; died of leg infection resulting from auto accident some weeks ago; daughter of Molly Brock; half sister Mrs. Ben Scott, Blue Lake.

BLA (3 April 1937) Mollie Brock Died Sunday—Death claimed Mollie Brock, well known Indian woman of Blue Lake, who had made her home here for over 50 years, Sunday, in a Eureka hospital.

“Mollie,” as she was universally known here, was born on Bug Creek above Kneeland nearly 90 years ago. She was one of the few remaining Indians who had seen the Indian massacres. Her father and mother and sisters and brothers were all killed at that time. Mollie, then a young girl, hid away in the brush and was spared by the white soldiers.

Mollie was a familiar figure and up to a few years ago never missed visiting her white friends once a week. Of late years, Mollie was nearly blind and had been forced to remain in her home. Mollie was believed to be a member of the Nongatl Indians. A year ago, Mollie’s husband Jim Brock died and two months later, a daughter Lucy Brock passed away. Another daughter Mrs. Ben Scott and one granddaughter survive. Interment Greenwood Cemetery, Arcata.

BLA (22 Feb. 1902) Owing to the heavy rain of Saturday night and Sunday, Mad river rose considerably again and at the rancherie on the Chase property the current washed away two more cabins, those belonging to Indian Dick and Ned Woodward, and was threatening to cut into the Indian cemetery. Indian Jack, known as Kneeland Jack, Bob Leon, Leon Billy, and Indian Jim rushed to Blue Lake Monday and hired three men to help them dig up the remains of their dead relatives and friends before the river should wash them away. Messrs. Geo. Rowe, Geo. McDermott and Emerson Hower went to their assistance and dug out 17 graves and one more had already been washed away by the river. In 13 of the graves nothing but remains were found, the coffins and boxes having rotted away, which were gathered up, put into a long box built for that purpose and buried together. In the other graves the coffins were found intact, and all were interred in the eastern corner of the Blue Lake Cemetery. The Indian cemetery had been established about 30 years and among those buried there were not only Mad river Indians, but Indians from Redwood and the Bald Hills. This rancherie is now a thing of the past, and these Indian families are left without a home.

HT (6 May 1910) He Survived Massacre—Leon Bob, the aged Indian who was killed Wednesday morning near Blue Lake b being run over by an Arcata and Mad River railroad passenger train, was probably the last survivor of the Indian massacre, which took place on Indian (Gunther's Island) about 50 years ago. This fact has been practically established by the Blue Lake and Arcata correspondents of The Times, and many pioneer residents of the northern part of this county can doubtless vouch for the truth of the above statement.

The Indian massacre took place on the night of February 26, 1860, according to H.L. Ricks who last evening hunted up the date which he found in one of his histories of the county.

Mr. Franklin Ellery, Sr. ws a resident of this city at the time of the massacre, but last evening he stated that he had forgotten just when it took place. He is of the opinion that it was in the early 60s. Mr. Ellery, the night of the massacre, was in Eel river valley but he cannot name the date within several years.

A great many Indians were at the time living on what is now known as Gunther's island, and infuriated by the depredations of the aborigines in other parts of the county and by misdeeds of the Gunther island inhabitants, a number of residents of this city one night crossed to the island and with few exceptions took the lives of every member of the colony.

The party of white men, between 75 and 100 went to the island while the Indians were enjoying a feast, fell upon them and put to death about 100. All members of the party were sworn to secrecy and their names never became public.

Bret Harte, the famous poet and essayist, was at that time employed by The Times and it is a tradition that he was "fired" because of his too vivid write-up of the massacre in which he took occasion to censure certain prominent citizens.

Leon Bob, who was buried at Blue Lake yesterday, was living on Indian island at the time of the massacre and he was one of the very few Indians who escaped the wrath of the thoroughly aroused white settlers.

Just how old Leon Bob was at the time of his death is not known but it is stated that he must have been at least 80 years old, while attorney L.F. Puter, who knew him well, declared last night that he must have been close to the century mark.

The passing of Leon Bob marks "finis" in one of the most turbulent and bloody chapters in the history of Northern California.

BLA (7 May 1910) Indian Killed by a Train—Bob Leon, one of the best-known Indians of the Mad River section, has [died]....Bob was run over by the passenger train of the Arcata and Mad River Railroad last Wednesday morning at about 10:20 o'clock. The accident occurred on the railroad right of way track a short distance from the first McCahan ranch crossing above Blue Lake. The old Indian was quite deaf and did not hear the coming train speeding behind, although a number of whistles were blown by Engineer Harry Liscom, who was unable to stop his train before running him down. The pilot of the engine struck him on the back of the legs, throwing his body backward onto the pilot and in that position he was carried a distance of about 85 yards before the train stopped. When picked up he was dead. His head evidently struck against the iron frame of the locomotive inflecting a deep gash and fracturing his skull, thus causing his instant death. One of his legs was almost severed just above the ankle, while several bones in his body were fractured. Otherwise, his body was not badly mutilated. [coroner's jury summoned; accidental death was verdict] Burial Blue Lake cemetery.

Mad River Bob was about 75 years of age. He was born and raised in this vicinity and he leaves three cousins, Jack Kneeland and his two brothers James and Dan of this place besides four grandchildren, Mrs. Ned Woodward, Misses Rena and Flora Maple and Peter Maple, all of this section.

At one time Indian Bob was considered as a chief and legal advisor by his tribe and he was known as a friend of the whites. It is reported that he was one of the two last surviving Indians who escaped from the great Indian Massacre which occurred on Indian Island at Eureka, Feb. 25, 1860. Indian Bob was well thought of by our late beloved sheriff, T.M. Brown, and on his body was found the following letter or certificate of character written by our late sheriff.

“Sheriff's Office, Eureka, Cal., June 28, 1905.

“To All Who May See This:

“The bearer of this is Mad River Bob (Indian). He lives at Blue Lake, Humboldt county, Cal. He is one of the few Indians who don't drink whiskey. He has always been a good friend to white men and Indians, and is a good honest Indian. Please treat him well and oblige yours, T.M. Brown.

“P.S. Leon Bob is the true name of this Indian. TMB”

The document is written in the well-remembered chirography of Sheriff Brown and bears his signature, as in dictated above.

BLA (30 March 1895) Indian Patents for Delivery--Mr. John C. Gamble, register of the land office at Eureka, favors the Advocate with the following Indian patents which have been received by him and are now ready for delivery: In Trinity county, Lucy Eveland; in Del Norte county, Fanny J. Early and Julia A. Lewis; in Humboldt county, Dan Prince, Minerva Shakespeare, Susie Miller, Nora ? Tom Miller, George Miller, Jennie Denman, Weaver Denman, Andy Denman, Ida Bailey, Luther Bailey and Mary Bailey.

BLA (30 May 1903) Shearing Sheep—Sheep shearing in northern Humboldt will commence next week. Mr. Ohania (O'Haniel Bailey) and his crew of fourteen shearers will go to J.H. Hooker's ranch on the Bald Hills Monday and commence shearing Mr. Hooker's flock, about 3000 head in number. From there the shearers will go to Will Ford's ranch on Mad River, after which they will shear the flocks of Thomas Bair at Three Cabins, Madrone and Rock ranches. After their sojourn there, Mr. Ohania and his crew will return to Thos. Bari's ranch on Redwood creek and from thence to J. Lyons and Sons ranches on the Bald Hills. From present indications the wool crop this year will be fairly good.

BLA (27 May 1905) Sheep Shearing in Progress—Ohaniel Bailey and his crew of twelve sheep shearers commenced the sheep shearing season at William Ford's ranch u Mad river. They will then shear Thomas Bari's flocks on Mad river and will afterward move to Redwood creek, where they will shear the Bair Brothers' sheep, those of J.H. Hooker and the Lyons Brothers on the Bald Hills. They expect to get through with their circuit in about two months.

BLA (30 June 1906) The shearing season in northern Humboldt has begun in earnest. Ohaniel Bailey and his Indian crew have finished shearing at the Hooker ranch and are now at work on the ranches of the Lyons Brothers at Elder. At the Hooker ranch, they sheared over 2600 sheep, 1000 of which being yearling and as an average there was about seven pounds of wool to the sheep, which is a remarkably good crop. Thos. Bair of Arcata purchased the wool at 31 cents per pound.

BLA (13 June 1908) Sheep shearing in northern Humboldt is now in order. Last Tuesday evening the Indian shearing crew of Ohaniel Bailey of thirteen men finished shearing the flock of Arthur Stover on the Hooker ranch, amounting to 2960 head in number. They finished their work after a five days' session. Each man gets six cents per head and board for shearing.

The shearers came to Angel's Ranch yesterday, where they will attend to the clipping of Mr. James P. Anderson's sheep. After this they will go to Rock Ranch and Three Cabins up Mad river, where they will spend a week or ten days on the ranches of Thomas Bair. From thence they will move to Redwood creek, where after shearing the sheep of Thos. H. Bair and Len Berry, they will proceed back to the Bald Hills and finished the season on the Lyons Brothers sheep ranches. The wool crop this year is very promising and an average of eight pounds per sheep is expected almost everywhere on the ranches above mentioned. If the price of wool is just as good as the quantity and quality, our sheepmen will do well this year.

BLA (29 May 1909) The shearing season in northern Humboldt will begin on June 1st. Mr. Ohaniel Bailey and crew of about fourteen men will start on that date at the Redwood ranch of Mr. Thos. Bair where about 3500 head will be sheared. From there Mr. Bailey and crew will come to Angel Ranch and will attend to Mr. James P. Anderson's flock of about 1500, and then they will go up Mad river and shear the 5000 head of sheep that are on the Three Cabins and Rock ranches of Mr. Thos. Bair. This accomplished, Bailey and crew will move to Elder and the Bald Hills country, where they will shear about 2800 head for Arthur Stover and William Lyons, respectively and about 1500 for Tomlinson. They will finish the season at Berry's ranch on Redwood, where about 1000 head will be relieved of their wool. Mr. Bailey estimates that it will require about one month to perform all this work, his crew being composed of fast shearers. According to present indications, the wool crop in northern Humboldt promises to be excellent.

BLA (4 June 1910) The sheep shearing season in northern Humboldt is at hand and on June 10th, Ohaniel Bailey and his Indian crew of fourteen men will commence work on Fred Bair's ranches at Three Cabins, Madrone and Rock ranch, when about 6000 head of sheep will be deprived of their valuable wool.

The crew will then move to Redwood creek where T.H. Bair will have about 3000 head of sheep sheared. The shearers will then go to the Hooker ranch and Lyons Bros ranches on the Bald Hills. The wool crop promises to be excellent this year and will command a top-notch price.

BLA (29 July 1911) The Molasses Indian Tragedy—Hower's Ranch Redwood, I write to correct a statement made in the Advocate of July 22nd in regard to the death of the Molasses. The old Indian, Molasses, did not die several years ago, as it was stated, but they were both found dead, the old man in the hut and the old woman about 20 feet from the door. Both were buried at the same time.

The children of Indian Grant went to the house about a week before they were found and went home and told their mother that Molasses was lying on the bed with the blanket drawn over his face and the old woman was sitting in the hut talking to herself. There was a fearful smell in the room and the children were frightened and ran home and told the story, but as Grant was not home, being away shearing sheep, no one would venture near until Grant and Ohaniel Bailey, who were on their way to Stovers to shear, on being told by Grant's woman, went around by the Molasses house and found the woman lying outside but did not venture in the house. They came down the creek and told Mr. Hower who stopped his work in the harvest field and sent a man to the Bair place to telephone to Dolson, who telephoned back to bury them, which Mr. Hower and son did the next day.

The bodies were in a fearful condition, having been dead for some time. The woman was torn by the hogs but the man lay on the bed in the hut and his body was not touched. Save for the flies, which had done swift work, the burying was a job not to be envied. In fact, such a thing happens but seldom in a lifetime. The Hower men hope such a thing will never happen again in their lifetime or they be called upon to perform such a task again. Mrs. L.W. Hower.

BLA (19 Aug. 1911) On Oct. 16, 1911, the three Indian allotments of 160 acres each of Ida Bailey, Mary Bailey and Luther Bailey situated on Redwood Creek, just above Berry's Redwood House, will be offered for sale.

BLA (18 May 1912) Sheep Shearer Retires—One of the old time and best known sheep shearers of this section is Ohaniel Bailey, a half blood Redwood Indian, who has worked on the ranges of Humboldt county for the past 31 years, being foreman of a crew of 28 years. Lately ill health has compelled him to abandon that pursuit and he has now retired to the government quarters near Blue Lake. It will be up to the rest of the Indian sheep shearers to find a foreman among them.

BLA (21 Sept. 1912) Ohaniel Bailey a well-known Indian, held in high respect both by the Indians and whites, died Wednesday forenoon after an illness of about a year with tuberculosis. At his funeral and while lying at his home just before it, his Indian friends manifested great grief at his loss. Not long ago the deceased published his valedictory in which he mentioned his principal life service, that of head of the sheep shearing crew of northern Humboldt, a position he held for many years and until he was incapacitated by ill health about a year ago. He was counted one of the most expert shearers ever known in Humboldt. Mr. Bailey was of a kindly, quiet disposition and he will long be remembered by many friends he made in life. The funeral took place Thursday in Blue Lake cemetery. Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Luther, and a daughter, Ida Bailey. [Goddard said O'Haniel Bailey was an interpreter for him when he visited Molasses and his wife in 1907]

BLA (22 Feb. 1902) Owing to the heavy rain of Saturday night and Sunday, Mad river rose considerably again and at the rancherie on the Chase property the current washed away two more cabins, those belonging to Indian Dick and Ned Woodward, and was threatening to cut into the Indian cemetery. Indian Jack, known as Kneeland Jack, Bob Leon, Leon Billy, and Indian Jim rushed to Blue Lake Monday and hired three men to help them dig up the remains of their dead relatives and friends before the river should wash them away. Messrs. Geo. Rowe, Geo. McDermott and Emerson Hower went to their assistance and dug out 17 graves and one more had already been washed away by the river. In 13 of the graves nothing but remains were found, the coffins and boxes having rotted away, which were gathered up, put into a long box built for that purpose and buried together. In the other graves the coffins were found intact, and all were interred in the eastern corner of the Blue Lake Cemetery. The Indian cemetery had been established about 30 years and among those buried there were not only Mad river Indians, but Indians from Redwood and the Bald Hills. This rancherie is now a thing of the past, and these Indian families are left without a home.

BLA (1 May 1897) Death of Thomas Brett—Last Monday [April 26] afternoon at 1 o'clock Mr. Thomas Brett passed peacefully away at his home at Willow Creek. The gentleman had been ill for several months previous but his death was rather unexpected. Deceased was well and favorably known in northern Humboldt, where he had resided since 1866. He first came to the county in 1865 as a soldier in company B, California Volunteers, stationed at Fort Gaston where he stayed 13 months. He was then removed to Benicia where he was mustered out of service and returned to Humboldt, locating on a claim on Redwood Creek. After residing there a few years, he went to Willow Creek where he remained until the time of his death. He was a native of County Clare, Ireland, aged 69 years and leaves to mourn his loss three children: Mrs. H.B. Waterman, John and Thomas Brett, and seven grandchildren; burial Arcata cemetery, J.S. Todd, officiating.

FE (4 May 1897) Thos. H. Brett asks to be appointed administrator of the estate of his deceased father, Thos. Brett, who died recently at Willow Creek. The estate is valued at $5000 and the heris are the petitioner, John Brett, and Mrs. W.H. Waterman.

BLA (6 July 1912) Miss Stella Brett returned from Bair's resort on Redwood Creek after visiting there with her father and sister.

BLA (24 Jan. 1914) Half Breed Defies The Town—Charles Sims, a well-known half breed Indian, formerly from Weitchpec, but for the past few years a woodsman of this section and a resident of Blue Lake, went on the war path last Sunday morning, cutting and shooting right and left. When the smoke of battle had cleared away, Marshal Brett had been stabbed in the neck, H. Murray was shot in the back with a 22 caliber rifle, while John Bates and the originator of the fireworks, Charles Sims, were more or less perforated with shot from a shotgun.

About 11 o'clock a.m., Lucy Bates, more familiarly known as "Monkey Wrench Johnny's wife, approached Trustee Frank Wheeler, who was standing at the corner of Lewis' store, stating that Charles Sims was at her home creating a disturbance, and asked Wheeler to get the Marshal to come and take Sims away as he was threatening to do bodily harm to her husband.

Wheeler found the Marshal and together they went to the house of Bates. On the way to the house the Marshal gave Wheeler his club, saying that he had his gun in his pocket. Just as the two arrived at the house, the Marshal called on Joe Montgomery, who was standing outside, to accompany them into the house. About that time, Mrs. Bates, who was standing near the door, warned the Marshal to look out for Sims, as he had a knife.

On entering the house, Sims was sitting beside the bed on which was lying John Bates. Marshal Brett approached to within about four feet of Sims and said "I have come to arrest you. Give me that knife." Sims said, "John Brett, what you arrest me for?" Brett replied, "For disturbing the peace." At that Sims made a cat-like bound, striking Brett with a knife in the neck just at the lower part of the ear, and losing hold of the knife. Brett and Montgomery retreated outside the house, followed by Wheeler, who struck Sims on the head with the club, but failed to knock him down. Just after getting outside the house, Brett collapsed and fell to the ground where he lay in a daze for a short time, but when he revived he was taken to the house of H. Murray nearby, telling the bystanders to get Constable Underwood. The latter arrived in a few minutes, but meanwhile Sims had picked up a 22 caliber rifle that was in the house and flourishing it said he would shoot anyone that should try to take him.

On the arrival of Constable Underwood that officer went up to the corner of the house with his drawn pistol and where he could command a view of the door if Sims should attempt to come out. He called to Sims to come out and surrender, but Sims called back: "I see you, Jack, and you can't take me." Seeing that it was useless to try to get him to come out the Constable retreated a short distance and sought the shelter of a nearby building, sending a message by telephone to the Sheriff. Deputy Helms, who answered back to surround the house and hold him in it until they could get there. Up to this time not a shot had been fired.

Dr. Mooney, who had been called to dress Brett's wound, ordered O.C. Mulvany to bring his auto to convey the wounded man to his office. About this time, Constable Underwood ordered his shotgun brought him, but before the arrival of the shotgun is when Sims began shooting, first taking a shot at Murray, just as he was entering the door of his own home. Murray returned the fire with three shots from his pistol, none of which, however, took effect. About the same time, Sims took a shot at Mulvany, who had arrived with Dr. Mooney's auto, after which Sims retreated back into the house, only to return in sight in a short time, when Constable Underwood, who had got his shotgun in working order, took a shot at Sims as he retreated within. He struck Sims in the leg and the same shot also struck John Bates in the leg, who was inside the house. All was quiet for awhile when Sims again appeared at the window. Underwood fired again crashing the window in. All was quiet again for some time when Sims poked his gun out of the window and took two shots at random, but failed to hit anyone, which was lucky, as by this time quite a crowd had gathered around. After another...at the door, but this time without the gun. He threw up his hands and said he would give up.

An examination of the wounds revealed the following facts: Marshal Brett had been stabbed with a pocket knife in the neck just at the lobe of the ear, severing it. The thrust narrowly escaped being immediately fatal. H. Murray received a wound in the back with a 22 caliber bullet, which lodged in the flesh. Sims was shot in the leg and arm with No. 6 shot, there being 36 pellets embedded in his flesh. John Bates had 5 shots to his credit in the flesh of his leg.

During the time the shooting was going on there was considerable excitement. Most everyone in town was attracted as near to the scene as it was at all safe to go. Most everyone knew just how to take the man, but no one was willing to venture on carrying out any of the plans, least of all the ones who proposed them. It is easy enough to stand around and say how anything should be done, but next to impossible to get in and carry out your plan.

Shortly after Sims had given himself up to Constable Underwood, Deputy Sheriff Helms and Ross arrived and took Sims to Eureka, where he was confined in Redmond's hotel

It is stated that the cause of the disturbance dates back to some time ago when Sims sold his place near the Klamath, later gambling away the money. Sims has been drinking considerably of late and having trouble with his wife, claiming the other half breeds living here were inducing her to separate from him. That is the reason he was at the home of Bates, when Constable Brett went to arrest him.

BLA (24 Jan. 1914) Marshal's Injury Proves Serious—The knife wound sustained by Marshal John Brett last Sunday at the hands of Charles Sims took on a more serious turn as the days progressed, with the result that he was taken to the Trinity Hospital in Arcata yesterday morning to undergo an operation. The trust severed the nerves that control the muscles of the left side of the face, amounting to a facial paralysis on that side. He loses the action both of the eye and the lips on the left side. The operation is for the purpose of splicing the nerve together and if successful he will regain the use of those organs.

Regarding Sims, who stabbed Brett and wounded Murray, he is being held in the county jail pending the time when a charge will be preferred against him. District Attorney Arthur W. Hill stated that no complaint would be lodged against Sims until the outcome of Brett's condition could be determined.

BLA (16 Sept. 1916) Obit Miss Trena Brett, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Brett of Redwood Creek, died at Trinity hospital as a result of an operation for appendicitis [ruptured]; funeral from Arcata Methodist church.

BLA (28 April 1917) Drowning of Young Child—About 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, Clarence, the two-and-eight-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brett of this place was drowned in the North Fork of Mad river, near the Riverside mill, and his young companion, Lawrence Anger, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed B. Anger, also of Blue Lake, had a miraculous escape.

It appears that the two little tots disappeared from their home at Powersville about 9 o'clock, their mothers believing that they were playing in the yard nearby. They walked to Riverside and attempted to wade across the river opposite the Riverside Mill, where the wagons usually cross on a riffle. Young Anger helped to pack the Brett boy across but when about half way, the current proved to be too swift and they both fell in and washed down the stream. The Anger boy managed to get out of the water by getting close to the bank and pulled himself out by clutching hold of some willows. The other boy washed down the stream a distance of about 300 yard where his body was afterwards recovered by Ed Anger, who had hurried to the scene. The body was about two feet under water, lodged against a snag, the pool where he was, being about seven feet deep.

As soon as the alarm was given, quite a number of men from the mill went to the rescue of the lad, but it was about an hour after the accident had occurred that he was recovered by Mr. Anger. The body was quickly taken to Blue Lake, but nothing could be done to resuscitate him, he having been in the water too long.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, Rev. C.J. Irwin officiating with interment in the Blue Lake cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Brett have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their sad misfortune.

BLA (4 Feb. 1922) Passing of Thos. H. Brett In Eureka....—The people of this northern section were grieved to learn Monday of the rather sudden death of Thomas H. Brett in a Eureka hospital following an operation for appendicitis. It appears that Mr. Brett, who was employed in Arcata as a cattle buyer for the J.C. Bull, Jr., Co. was out auto riding on Arcata Bottom Sunday morning when he complained of feeling ill at noon when he returned home. He rapidly became worse and about 4 o'clock Dr. McKinnon was called in and his condition was so alarming that an ambulance was telephoned for and he was taken to the St. Joseph hospital in Eureka. He was found to have an exploded appendix and a perforated bowl and the operation came too late to save him.

Thomas Henry Brett was born in Humboldt County on July 12, 1868 on the old Brett ranch which is now a part of the Bair ranch on Redwood Creek, being 53 years, 6 months and 18 days of age when he died. He spent most of his life at Willow Creek, where he owned a ranch which he sold some ten years ago to William Gallop of Eureka. At one time he conducted the Willow Creek Hotel and in 1915, he moved with his family to the Berry ranch on Redwood Creek, which he conducted for five years. About two or three years ago, he moved his family to Arcata and bought a home in the Anderson Addition where he has since resided, being employed as a cattle buyer for J.C. Bull, Jr. Company

On Nov. 10, 1897, he was married to Miss Rena Copeland of Arcata, who survives together with six children, two sons George Brett, Hoopa and Rodney of Arcata; and four daughters Mrs. Vesta Robinson, Eureka; Pearl, Constance and Jean Brett, Arcata. He is also survived by a brother John Brett of Eureka and a sister Mrs. Mary Waterman, Willow Creek. Funeral at Arcata Presbyterian Church, C.O. Hessel officiating.

McLean, County Health Officer. Funeral services were held yesterday at Paul's Funeral Chapel for Yarnell W. Cooper, III and his 16-month-old son, Yarnell W. Cooper, IV. Their tragic death was caused by fumes from burning charcoal briquets brought into their closed bedroom for warmth following an outdoor barbecue. Mrs. Nancy Cooper was released Monday from the Humboldt County Community Hospital where she was treated for severe carbon monoxide poisoning.

She had stepped out of the room for a drink of water at 10 p.m. and this act might have saved her life, according to Clyde Johnson, Humboldt County Sheriff's deputy. She returned to the room and sleeping in a stupor, revived twice, the second time at 5:30 a.m., she managed to get out of the house to a neighbor, where a call went out for help....
