Student Professional Mixer 5:00-6:30pm

Elections & Wildlife Happy Hour 6:30-8:00pm

We're looking for new board members! Email cncc2ws@gmail.com if you're interested in a board position.

Please join us for a familiar event in a different format! On Friday, December 11, we'll be holding our annual (virtual) winter mixer.

As usual, we'll have a student/professional mixer from 5-6:30 PM (sign up HERE) and happy hour followed by elections from 6:30 - 8:00 PM (register HERE). If you are interested in serving on the CNCC board in 2021, or you have any questions about the event, please email us at cncc2ws@gmail.com.

Remember, only current members can vote in the election, so if you need to renew your membership, you can do so online HERE.

We can't wait to see you!

English 318: Rhetoric for Writers

Wild Tongues Cannot Be Tamed: Writing Identity into Research

This course examines how academic writing, storytelling, and cultural contexts are intimately connected, inviting us to write into and from our reality. We'll explore literary and personal essays, multimedia texts, physical spaces as cultural texts, and even our own writing, to analyze the relationships of rhetoric, language, and writing to race, culture, gender, class, and accessibility. Topics of study include:

Latinx Poetry & Cultural Rhetorics

Comics &
Graphic Novellas

Ethnic Studies 245: Hip Hop & the Black Experience

Tim'm West. Wed 17:00-19:50. Sync

By centering voices that are systematically forced to Hip Hop's margins, the course will navigate around a critical question: How might elevating counternarratives in Hip Hop culture illuminate the relationship between Blackness and the struggle for political, social and economic empowerment? This DCG-d class will count for Ethnic Studies and MQS minors and majors, and for the Ethnic American Literatures minor

About the instructor:

Poet and hip-hop artist Tim'm West embraces the power of words to challenge ideas of masculinity and race. A hip-hop scholar, he is featured in many award-winning documentaries, including Pick Up the Mic, Hip Hop: Beyond Beats and Rhymes, and Mario Van Peebles' Bring Your 'A' Game. With degrees from Duke University, The New School for Social Research, and Stanford University, he is the author of several books and hip-hop projects, and is widely anthologized.

West's first book, Red Dirt Revival: a poetic memoir in 6 Breaths, continues to be read in college classrooms nationwide, including HSU. West currently leads Teach For America's national LGBTQ Community Initiative, advancing safer and braver classrooms for LGBTQ students and their educators.

Spring 2021: Ethnic Studies/English 336

ASIAN AMERICAN LITERATURES

We must recognize ourselves at last.
We are a rainforest of color / and noise.
We hear everything.
We are unafraid.

Our language is beautiful. (from Janice Mirikitani, "Breaking Silence")

Over three centuries, the U.S. has attempted to distinguish between "Asian" and "American" through stereotypes (both brutal and deceptively benevolent), exclusion laws, citizenship restrictions and even concentration camps. Asian Americans and Asian American culture emerge anyway, frequently offering an alternative site for reading the nation and its contradictions.

We'll begin with poetry carved in the walls of Angel Island immigration detention center and John Okada's groundbreaking novel No-No Boy, and continue with fiction, memoir, poetry, and spoken word by a range of contemporary writers including novelist Jessica Hagedorn, queer disability justice activist Leah Lakshmi Piepzna-Samarasinha, and poets Bao Phi, Franny Choi, Ishle Yi Park, and Chen Chen.

EN/ES 336 is a domestic DCG course and fulfills requirements for English, Ethnic Studies, and the interdisciplinary minor in Ethnic American Lit.

Dr. Christina Hsu Accomando, ca3@humboldt.edu

English 360 / 560 Studies in Literature: BLACK LIVES MATTER

"Black lives matter" is a hashtag, an intersectional global movement, and a powerful theme resonating through African American literature, from the 1700s to the present.

We will discuss poetry, spoken word, autobiography, and fiction, from Phillis Wheatley, David Walker, Sojourner Truth, Harriet Jacobs, Frederick Douglass, Ida B. Wells, Langston Hughes, Lorraine Hansberry, James Baldwin, Audre Lorde, June Jordan, Patricia Smith, Eve Ewing, Patrisse Cullors, Alicia Garza, and Trevor Noah, among other bold voices.

Resources Available for our Student Leaders this Virtual Semester

The Learning Center online!

Learning Center Online

The Learning Center is meeting students where they're at
--in class, on Zoom, by email, or through chat.

The Learning Center has new resources and services to support students online. The most significant updates are below. Visit our website or contact us to learn more.
We'd love to meet with your department or student group.

The Learning Center online!

- Academic Peer Coaching
- Peer to peer coaching is now available to help students identify and use effective academic strategies in their practice. Coaching is offered on a first-come, first-served basis.

- Connected Tutoring -
Tutors are now paired with specific courses and sections so students can get to know and find their course's tutor easily. In addition, the ERE department is partnering with the Learning Center to offer embedded tutoring for select courses.

The Learning Center online!

- The Writing Studio will continue to offer student writing support through Zoom, email, or chat. Students can make an appointment from the Writing Studio's webpage or can Zoom with our front desk staff.
- Supplemental Instruction - Supplemental Instruction (SI) will offer synchronous SI courses via Zoom two days a week. In addition, the SI program is partnering with the Philosophy Department to support Phil 100 (Logic) with an SI course, Phil 198.

The Learning Center online!

- Embedded Supplemental Instruction \(SI\) leaders in Intensive Math Courses - The Learning Center's SI program is partnering with the Math Department to run SI within Math 101I, Math 103I, and Stat 108I courses.

- Math Tutoring Lab Hours - Since math and statistics classes will be supported with connected tutors and embedded SI leaders, the Math Tutoring Lab will have limited drop-in hours in the fall to support quantitative skills.
