Do You Enjoy Writing and Helping Others?

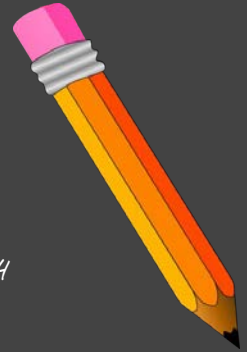

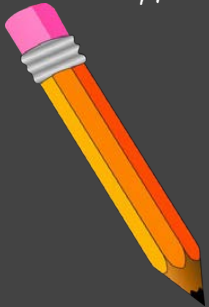

The HSU Writing Studio is looking for strong writers who enjoy helping others develop as writers, readers, and critical thinkers.

- Positions start in January 2021 (entirely online in spring). Interviews will be held over Zoom on December 17 and 18, 2020.
- ALL MAJORS (including STEM majors and graduate students) are encouraged to apply.
- Priority will be given to applicants who have completed or are currently enrolled in English 450: Tutoring Developing Writers (2-unit course). English 450 is offered every fall. Students who took a similar course elsewhere can request equivalency.
- Priority will be given to students with an expected graduation date of Dec 2021 or later.
- Applicants must be available for pre-semester training January 11 - 14, 2021 (over Zoom).

Priority deadline: Monday, December 14, by 5 pm.

To apply, please submit all materials through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/75954>

Writing Studio Consultants (Job #145)

What Writing Consultants Do:

Writing Studio Consultants work primarily in the Writing Studio.

- Work one-on-one, in small groups, and online with peers on writing projects in any subject area
- Engage in ongoing training, including optional College Reading & Learning Association (CRLA) certification
- Take on leadership opportunities, such as facilitating writing workshops for peers and promoting the Studio in classrooms

Why Become a Writing Consultant:

- Strengthen your written and oral communication skills
- Have flexible hours that work with your class schedule
- Join a team of students who are passionate about writing and helping others
- Learn ways to work with writers from diverse backgrounds
- Gain valuable teaching and leadership experience

The position requires independence, maturity, reliability, and excellent interpersonal skills. Applicants must be in good academic standing and have earned a grade of B or higher in composition courses.

Hours: Consultants generally work a set schedule of 6-12 hours a week (20 hours maximum).

Pay rate: $14.00 / hour.

How Do I Apply?

Priority deadline: Monday, December 14, 2020, by 5 pm

Submit application materials through Interfolio. Directions are on the HSU Learning Center website. (DO NOT apply through Handshake.)

You will be asked to include a brief statement about why you are interested in working in the Writing Studio.

You will also be asked to attach three documents:

- A resume
- HSU Academic Employment Application: <https://forms.humboldt.edu/application-academic-employment>
- Unofficial transcripts
- Writing sample from a recent college course. Analytical and/or argumentative writing only. If you choose a lab report, be sure to include sections that show your analytical writing, i.e. Introduction and/or Discussion. 10 pages max

English 318: Rhetoric for Writers

Wild Tongues Cannot Be Tamed: Writing Identity into Research

This course examines how academic writing, storytelling, and cultural contexts are intimately connected, inviting us to write into and from our reality. We'll explore literary and personal essays, multimedia texts, physical spaces as cultural texts, and even our own writing, to analyze the relationships of rhetoric, language, and writing to race, culture, gender, class, and accessibility. Topics of study include:

Latinx Poetry &
Cultural Rhetorics

Comics &
Graphic Novellas

Ethnic Studies 245: Hip Hop & the Black Experience

Tim'm West. Wed 17:00-19:50. Sync

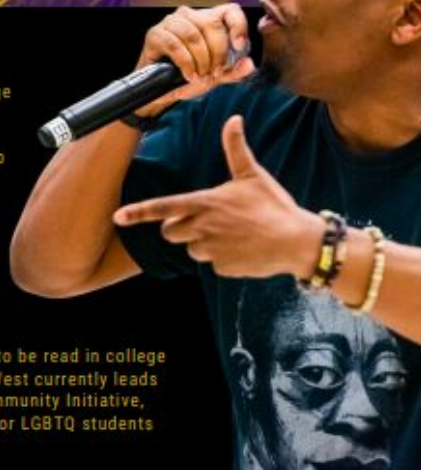

By centering voices that are systematically forced to Hip Hop's margins, the course will navigate around a critical question: How might elevating counternarratives in Hip Hop culture illuminate the relationship between Blackness and the struggle for political, social and economic empowerment? This DCG-d class will count for Ethnic Studies and MQS minors and majors, and for the Ethnic American Literatures minor

About the instructor:

Poet and hip-hop artist Tim'm West embraces the power of words to challenge ideas of masculinity and race. A hip-hop scholar, he is featured in many award-winning documentaries, including Pick Up the Mic, Hip Hop: Beyond Beats and Rhymes, and Mario Van Peebles' Bring Your 'A' Game. With degrees from Duke University, The New School for Social Research, and Stanford University, he is the author of several books and hip-hop projects, and is widely anthologized.

West's first book, Red Dirt Revival: a poetic memoir in 6 Breaths, continues to be read in college classrooms nationwide, including HSU. West currently leads Teach For America's national LGBTQ Community Initiative, advancing safer and braver classrooms for LGBTQ students and their educators.

Spring 2021: Ethnic Studies/English 336

ASIAN AMERICAN LITERATURES

We must recognize ourselves at last.
We are a rainforest of color / and noise.
We hear everything.
We are unafraid.

Our language is beautiful. (from Janice Mirikitani, "Breaking Silence")

Over three centuries, the U.S. has attempted to distinguish between "Asian" and "American" through stereotypes (both brutal and deceptively benevolent), exclusion laws, citizenship restrictions and even concentration camps. Asian Americans and Asian American culture emerge anyway, frequently offering an alternative site for reading the nation and its contradictions.

We'll begin with poetry carved in the walls of Angel Island immigration detention center and John Okada's groundbreaking novel No-No Boy, and continue with fiction, memoir, poetry, and spoken word by a range of contemporary writers including novelist Jessica Hagedorn, queer disability justice activist Leah Lakshmi Piepzna-Samarasinha, and poets Bao Phi, Franny Choi, Ishle Yi Park, and Chen Chen.

EN/ES 336 is a domestic DCG course and fulfills requirements for English, Ethnic Studies, and the interdisciplinary minor in Ethnic American Lit.

Learning Center Online

The Learning Center is meeting students where they're at
--in class, on Zoom, by email, or through chat.

The Learning Center has new resources and services to support students online. The most significant updates are below. Visit our website or contact us to learn more.

We'd love to meet with your department or student group.

The Learning Center online!

- Academic Peer Coaching
- Peer to peer coaching is now available to help students identify and use effective academic strategies in their practice. Coaching is offered on a first-come, first-served basis.

- Connected Tutoring -
Tutors are now paired with specific courses and sections so students can get to know and find their course's tutor easily. In addition, the ERE department is partnering with the Learning Center to offer embedded tutoring for select courses.

The Learning Center online!

- The Writing Studio will continue to offer student writing support through Zoom, email, or chat. Students can make an appointment from the Writing Studio's webpage or can Zoom with our front desk staff.
- Supplemental Instruction - Supplemental Instruction (SI) will offer synchronous SI courses via Zoom two days a week. In addition, the SI program is partnering with the Philosophy Department to support Phil 100 (Logic) with an SI course, Phil 198.

The Learning Center online!

- Embedded Supplemental Instruction \(SI\) leaders in Intensive Math Courses - The Learning Center's SI program is partnering with the Math Department to run SI within Math 101I, Math 103I, and Stat 108I courses.

- Math Tutoring Lab Hours - Since math and statistics classes will be supported with connected tutors and embedded SI leaders, the Math Tutoring Lab will have limited drop-in hours in the fall to support quantitative skills.
