Reactions

By Isabella Ryan

Angry, sad, scared.

Missing friends, helping as much as we can.

These are all different reactions that people are having to one thing.

Frightened, being thankful for the people that care.

Some people ignoring, some people not caring,
and some are trying to make the best of it.

People are trying their hardest to help us, while others are not.
Covid-19 is a pandemic which we are surviving,
and though it seems that the world just might be ending,
We stay with the ones we love.

Brothers mad, sisters sad, parents are frightened like everything is over.

After it all, we will end up together, and though we can't be together now we will be soon when it's all over.

We like to sing and play together but for now we can't.
