

HJSR

Humboldt Journal of Social Relations

Special Issue 40: The American West after the Timber Wars

1	Introduction Erin C. Kelly and Yvonne Everett	Articles
	Vantage Points	54	Beyond 'Owls Versus Jobs': A Twenty-Year Retrospective of the Headwaters Forest Controversy Jennifer Bernstein
5	There Has Never Been a 'Timber War' Greg King	68	Social-Ecological Change, Resilience, and Adaptive Capacity in the McKenzie River Valley, Oregon Timothy B. Inman, Hannah Gosnell, Denise H. Lach and Kailey Kornhauser
15	Timber Wars and Aftermath in Northwest Coastal California Richard Gienger	89	A Challenge to Socio-Ecological Resilience: Community Based Resource Management Organizations' Perceptions and Responses to Cannabis Cultivation in Northern California Yvonne Everett
23	Finding Solutions through Politics: One View from Inside the Timber Wars Erin C. Kelly and Andrea Tuttle	116	Rethinking the Fiscal Relationship between Public Lands and Public Land Counties: County Payments 4.0 Mark Haggerty
32	There is a Fish in my Forest and Other Post-Timber War Musings Mike Miles	137	Bushler Bay and Hood View, 40 Years on: Gender, Forests and Change in the Global North Carol Colfer
36	Stewardship Contracting in the Siuslaw National Forest Shiloh Sundstrom and Johnny Sundstrom	163	The Role of the Local Community on Federal Lands: The Weaverville Community Forest Erin C. Kelly
45	An Opportunity to End the Timber Wars: how Collaboration in Southeast Alaska has Helped to Dissipate Conflict Diana Portner

- 178 From Conflict to Collaboration:
Exploring Influences on Community
Well-Being
*Leanna M. Weissberg, Jonathan P.
Kusel and Kyle A. Rodgers*
- 191 Who's in Charge? The Role of Power in Collaborative Governance and Forest Management
Patricia B. Orth and Antony S. Cheng
- 211 Making and Breaking Trust in Collaborative Groups
*Emily Jane Davis, Lee K. Cervený
Donald R. Ulrich and Meagan L. Nuss*