

Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities

---

Volume 4

Article 7

---

2022

Breathless

Kayda Stelley

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.humboldt.edu/rwc>

---

Recommended Citation

Stelley, Kayda (2022) "Breathless," Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities: Vol. 4, Article 7.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.humboldt.edu/rwc/vol4/iss1/7>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals at Digital Commons @ Cal Poly Humboldt. It has been accepted for inclusion in Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ Cal Poly Humboldt. For more information, please contact kyle.morgan@humboldt.edu.

Breathless

By: Kayda Stelley

Life echoing all around me,
faint winds whistle against the leaves,
dewy green grass in the mornings, under my steps.
Breathing in the fresh pine air,
a desire to seek more,
blooming buds left and right covering the forest floor.
Crimson reds, with amber yellows fluttering in the open breeze,
luring out the enchanting creature,
from big to blue with purple wings.
Now awaiting one true meaning,
the breathless sun contains all hope,
slipping into pitch blue sky.
Singing to the crescent moon up above in the pitch blue sky,
awaiting another,
great morning eve.