This course, if established here, will be given in two general parts: seventy-two hours of ground school courses and thirty-five to fifty hours of flight instruction. Government requirements state that the students must be citizens of the United States and be between the ages of 18 and 25 on or before September 1, 1939. Also, they must not have had any solo

Humboldt Winner Over Cal Poly In Second Game

The Humboldt State College football team scored a spectacular 13 to 9 upset over the California Polytechnic Mustangs last Saturday evening at Albee Stadium.

Halfback Bill Brown gave Humboldt an early lead when he intercepted the first Cal-Poly pass early in the first quarter and raced 50 yards down the field for a touchdown. He was aided on the run by nice down-field blocking by Saunderson, Givins, and Gomes. The conversion attempt failed leaving the score at 6 to 0.

MUSTANGS SCORE

The Mustangs lashed back soon after the kickoff when Silva broke loose on two consecutive cut-back plays between end and tackle for gains of 13 and 48 yards, taking the ball to the 2 yard line. From this point fullback Joe Stombaugh took it over on two line plunges. The conversion was good and Cal Poly led 7 to 6 midway in the first quarter.

HUMBOLDT'S ENROLLMENT

The increase this fall in the registration of students at Humboldt State College has been popularly attributed to the increase in the enrollment of new freshmen. However, a survey recently made by Mrs. Myrtle McKittrick, registrar, shows that the increase has been due rather to increases in the other classes.

Although the enrollment of students now actually in attendance is more than 400, the study was made when the enrollment was just below that figure: it was 399, to be exact. The figures showing the distribution of students by classes for last fall and this fall follow:

CLASS	FALL 1938	FALL 1939
New Freshmen.....	141	147
Old Freshmen.....	46	58
Sophomores.....	68	89
Juniors.....	41	49
Seniors.....	42	43
With Degrees.....	7	5
Specials.....	1	0
Limiteds.....	4	8

Although there has as yet not been time to make a detailed analysis of the foregoing enrollment, it has been suggested that more and more students are planning to enter teaching and remain four years at Humboldt.

This seems logical because of the demand for elementary teachers and because of Humboldt's success in placing its graduates.

THANKS TO SUPERVISORS

The man behind the story is generally the one we never hear about. Here and now we would like to express our appreciation to the men behind the quick action we're receiving on our new aeronautics field improvement, our county board of supervisors. The enthusiastic manner in which they have been hurrying the necessary changes means a great deal to Humboldt. With such good feeling and support behind the college on the part of our supervisors we are bound to keep expanding and improving Humboldt State.

Wilda Tomilson, Humboldt freshman, spent the week-end at her parents home at Orick.

Campus Commentator Was Evidently One of Those Attending the Brawl

Thirty days hath September and now they're all gone....Gone, too, are some few dozen shirts-lost in the Soph-Frosh brawl....Among the onlookers was Carl Owens being much amused by the fruitless efforts of one Maurice Davis to put on a shirt what wasn't.... then there was the brief lull in the greased pole event when Howard Goodwin had Maurice on the ground and poured dirt in his face....just being friendly, you know....The sack-race sort of took your breath away, didn't it, Ernie Johnson?....Vicky Lorenz had the Sophs in a frenzy thinking they might win the obstacle race and then—he stumbled.

'Tis a sad story what happened just the other day....characters, Bill Hodges and a jar of amoebas; setting, the front steps; plot, how to find the amoeba who had strayed away from his little glass shack; finale, Bill mournfully crawling about trying to find the wanderer. After all Bill, who are you to keep an amoeba off the steps of learning?

Getting away from little things, we go on to littler, more little, oh well, we go on to other matters. If Leon Flink is Lee's little brother, why is he larger than Lee, or isn't he?....He can dance too. Seen coming in to cheer on Big Brother Bus at the game Saturday night were Rose Foster and her mother....That's the way we like it....A side-line wit at the game came out with, "His Hart's not in it....Ah, but it was.

Couples at school, at games, at dances....everywhere you look.... couples....you'd think it was spring. Gee, Herbie Gomes, that's some tell-tale gaze you give Dorothy Fragas....Charlene Renfroe and Len Moseley are always together.... And why do people hum "Josephine" when they go by Henry Trioni?

Lynette Swan and Fred Hibler were out sunning themselves in the Quad Monday afternoon....trying to get rid of that blue Monday feeling?....And when two titans get together you have news....Lois Wrigley was escorted to the game and dance by none other than Roderick Brian Breckinridge Belcher....however while Rod spent his time broadcasting the game Lois stayed in the bleachers.

For a while last Saturday we thought the college would have to look for a new cook....Reason.... Susan Goldssmidt won one of the five dollar pools on the Humboldt-Cal Poly game....Norman Belfis won the other.... Why can't I do that sometime? Second hand information reports that Gregg MacDonald and Jerry Matthams are returning to Humboldt next week or thereabouts.... That will mean two more join the "400."

If a certain college president doesn't stop purchasing so many of those new postcards with pictures of Humboldt on them, there won't be any left for the rest of us...."Dear Aunt Matilda....Three skunks went to church and they all sat in their own pew. When the collection basket came around they each gave a scent. P. S. These cards cost only two for five."

While everybody else was out basking in the sun Monday afternoon we saw only two who sought the cooler spots....Moe Musante and Verne Thornton....What's the matter....don't you like the sun?

second quarter in a sustained drive for a touchdown. Longholm was the main factor in the drive gaining yardage consistently on end runs. He finally took the ball over from the one yard line on the fourth down. This time the conversion was made on a pass that was from Ellis to Longholm. Humboldt maintained their 13 to 7 lead at halftime.

Soon after the second half kickoff, Humboldt, aided by a downed kick on the Cal Poly one yard line, again gained possession of the ball in scoring territory. However, the Mustangs repulsed the attack on the four yard line. At the end of the third quarter Humboldt again made a downfield march but were stopped on the Cal Poly 20.

STATE TIGHTENS

Midway in the fourth quarter the Mustangs made another serious scoring threat, but the Humboldt defense strengthened with its back to the goal line, and took the ball on downs on the Lumberjack four-yard line. After an exchange of punts Jack Ellis missed a bad pass from center, the ball rolling back into the end zone, where he retrieved it and then three a pass.

Since he was standing in his own end zone when he threw the pass it was declared a safety, making the score 13 to 9. Humboldt was never in danger the rest of the game.

BIG IMPROVEMENT

The Lumberjacks showed a marked improvement over the Linfield game the previous week, both in fundamentals and in timing of plays.

Easily the most outstanding back on the field was Len Longholm who made sparkling runs on punt returns as well as on scrimmage plays. The Humboldt line was much stronger in this game. Mose Musante especially was a thorn in the side of the Cal Poly offense.

CAL AGGIES NEXT

Humboldt rests this next weekend and then on October 14, travels to Davis to meet the Cal Aggies team which made a very good showing against the University of California. The next home game will be on October 21, when the Lumberjacks tangle with San Francisco State at Albee Stadium.

Radio Is Taking Place Beside 3 R's

Listening and learning by radio as a modern improvement over the three R's is urged in American schools by students of Westminster College here, as shown in the results of a survey released today by Dr. Franc Lewis McCluer, president of the college, which is at Fulton, Missouri.

Three out of four students saw possibilities for the use of radio in the classroom, the survey showed. Radio could be used most profitably in history, music and political science, the students thought, one student pointing out that "history is being broadcast in the speeches of the Hitlers, Roosevelts and Chamberlains of the day." One comment was that such speeches should be heard in the classroom and then discussed under the guidance of teachers.

Several students pointed out that broadcasts of speeches in foreign languages would aid language classes. One student thought that television would enable the study of "real life activities in the classroom."

New State Coach Versatile Athlete

Harry Griffith, who came to Humboldt State this fall to be football line coach and basketball coach, has had wide experience both as player and coach.

He was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1931 with a major in physical education. As a freshman there he played football, basketball, and baseball; as a sophomore he again was in all three sports. In his junior year he played football and basketball but was forced to leave the university in the spring semester because of an injury. When he finally returned to complete his work, he played baseball only. He won varsity letters in all three sports.

From 1931 to 1934 he coached at Riverside High School; and from 1934 on he coached at Riverside Junior College. His 1933 high school football team won the championship of their league; and his 1934 and 1935 junior college teams were the junior college champions of Southern California.

While Griffith was a student at U.C.L.A., he pitched a regular "Believe-It-Or-Not" baseball game against Stanford; that is, although Stanford got five hits off of Griffith, while Sobieski, the Stanford hurler, pitched a no-hit game, U.C.L.A. won the game 1 to 0.

The explanation is that the five hits made off Griffith were well scattered and resulted in no runs. On the other hand, the Stanford short, after knocking down a hot U.C.L.A. line drive, overthrew himself and another U.C.L.A. batter first advanced the runner to third and then brought him home with the winning—and only run of the game.

SOPH-FROSH BRAWL ENDS IN A DRAW

For the first time in history the Soph-Frosh brawl ended in a draw. The brawl is an annual affair given under the direction of the Men's Association, Roderick Belcher, Francis Givins, and William Farber officiated.

The sophomores won the sack race, the freshmen won the relay obstacle race and the tug-of-war. The rope-tying contest ended in a tie. The brawl was brought to a close when the sophomores had defended the greased pole for the stipulated time, thereby winning that event.

Ski Club Planning To Seek Charter

To make the Ski Club a recognized Humboldt College organization by securing a charter from the student body was proposed at the Ski Club meeting held Thursday noon.

Tentative plans also were made for building a ski hut on Grouse Mountain near the location of the Humboldt Ski Club cabin.

The club is now open for charter membership but will be closed after a certain number, to be decided later, have joined. Anyone wishing to join later in the year must pay a higher initial fee. Although no girls showed up at the first meeting they are nevertheless invited to join and it is hoped that some will be present at the next meeting. It is not necessary that members be expert skiers; beginners are just as welcome to join.

Present at the first meeting were Leland Domeyer, Bob Bryan, Emory Sitts, Fred Price, Fred Jackson, Jim Savage, and Dr. William Lanphere, faculty advisor.

Twenty-six dollars appears to be the average expense of each student. Twenty dollars is taken out in insurance for the student and six dollars for medical examination by a physician selected by the government. It is understood that Dr. O. R. Myers of Eureka has been so selected.

The college, in a tentative way, subject to the approval of the government, has selected the following faculty members for the ground courses: Mr. Homer Arnold, Mr. Horace Jenkins, and Dr. Harry D. MacGinitie.

According to information received by President Arthur S. Gist, only three per cent of the total number of students training over the United are to be women. Among those institutions selected for this course is Mills College in Oakland. The following students have expressed their interest in such a course: Milton Villa, Jack Ellis, Casper Torp, Dane Williams, Bill Inskip, Martin Cabalzar, Herb Gomes, Don Pozzo, Tom Amen, Jack Lawyer, James Crippen, Jack Lennox, Robert Lawrence, Sherman Washburn, Ben Yacorzynski, Richard Yacorzynski, Eugene Hammond, C. Record Not Hurt By Work Dropped

"Will it affect my record if I drop a course now?" The answer is: "Not yet."

According to college regulations, a student in residence dropping a course with official approval (note the "official approval") during the first six weeks of any semester will not have that course reported or charged against his record for that semester.

During the second six weeks of any semester, a student in residence may be permitted to drop a course without prejudice to his record in case this is done with the approval of his adviser, such approval to be based presumably upon considerations of health, outside work, or other matters for which the student is not held culpable. Otherwise, the dropping of a course during this interval will be recorded as a Failure.

During the final six weeks of any semester, the dropping of a course by a student will result in a record of Failure or Incomplete, depending upon whether the work has been of passing grade up to the time of withdrawal.

Nine Months In the Madeira Islands Long Enough Stay for Mary Silva

Mary Silva, freshman student at Humboldt State and winner of the Chi Sigma Epsilon Scholarship, has had the experience of living for nine months in the Madeira Islands.

She went there with her mother and father when she was eight years old. She was born in New Bedford, Massachusetts on July 3, 1921. In 1928, her family made the trip to the Madeira Islands intending to stay for the rest of their lives, but the stay lasted only as long as their pass-ports were good, which was nine months.

The Silvas lived in the San Antonio parish on the outskirts of Funchal, the main city of the island. The streets of the parish were narrow, cobble-stone lanes, along which trains of donkeys carried supplies and produce. The houses had tiled roofs but not many modern conveniences.

Weather Was Wonderful

The weather on the island was wonderful; numerous people go there to regain health, but it did not agree with Mary and her sister Esther. Disappointments are found in every land, even in Madeira, and to Mary one of the greatest disappointments of her stay was the rainy weather on Christmas day and the custom of not giving Christmas presents.

Festivities were numerous among the people and the main feasts and merrymaking were held on certain days which celebrated the patron saint of each parish. Another interesting event was the grape harvest. The women picked the grapes and carried them to a large place where the men crushed them by tramping on them with their feet.

Good Food Expensive

Mary said that good food there was much more expensive than in the United States. However, she liked the fruit of the island, which was a type of cactus fruit.

School began at 10 o'clock and ended at two. As the school Mary attended was not a government school it was not efficiently run, and usually the teacher was later than the students, arriving about 11 o'clock. The school children were divided into classes. The first class included what we know as the first and second grades and so on up.

At the end of nine months every one was glad to come home except Mrs. Silva, as the Madeira Islands are her home. Their return trip was made by way of Lisbon, Portugal. The first few days of ocean trip were very uncomfortable, but from Lisbon the trip was good. Massachusetts was deep in snow when they arrived home, and nothing could have seemed better.

New Non-Fiction Added To Library

Among this week's addition to the college library are four new books of popular nonfiction. The first two are part of the rental collection, while the other two are for general borrowing.

The first, "Wind, Sand and Stars," by Antoine de St. Exupery, is an account of the adventures of a French aviator who transported mail over the Sahara and across the Patagonian Argentine and who was flying in Spain during the recent war.

Narratives of the lives of four California bandits of the gold rush days and later are found in Joseph Henry Jackson's "Tintypes in Gold." The first account is of Black Bart, a dapper little man with a passion for holding up stage coaches with the words, "Throw down the box!" The other three characters are "Rattle-snake Dick," Dick Fellows, and Tom Bell. Black Bart was notorious for his operations near Willits for some time.

In his autobiography, "The Education of an American," Mark Sullivan, journalist, gives a picture of American country life in the late nineteenth century as well as a resume of the history of his time.

In "San Francisco's Literary Frontier," by Franklin Walker, are included sketches of eight major literary figures prominent in California during the years 1849 to 1896, and some forty minor figures. Fullest treatment is given such writers as Bret Harte, Mark Twain, Juquin Miller, and Ambrose Bierce.

J. Naggiar Chosen By Buisness Girls

Jacqueline Naggiar, a graduate of Arcata High School last June, now a freshman at Humboldt State, is the winner of the scholarship presented by the Arcata Chapter of Associated Business Girls this year.

This is the first year that such a scholarship has been given but it is hoped by the group that they will be able to provide a scholarship each year to the most outstanding girl graduating from the Arcata High School who is taking commercial work.

The club's object in providing this scholarship is to get more girls in business.

Each year a project will be carried out to raise funds for this scholarship. This year the girls held a raffle at the Admission Day celebration in Arcata.

Students are asked to watch the bulletin boards more closely, especially those which are glass-enclosed. Another request from the office is that those students who put up notices should see that they are taken down when out of date.

June Gregory and Carmen Baldwin, former Humboldt students, are now enrolled at San Francisco Junior College.
