Valentine Dance Here Tues. Nite

Valentine's Day will be the theme of the dance, to be held Tuesday night, Feb. 13, in the College gymnasium from 9 to 12. Sponsored by the AWS, the dance will be semi-formal and servicemen are to be invited. All civilian outsiders must have bids.

Lois Sherman is general chairman for the affair. Don't forget - - for fun and frolic—see you at the dance Tuesday night!!

HSC To Have New Feature in Hall

Humboldt will have a new feature in the Main Hall beginning very soon. This feature is a large news map which is received weekly by the Social Science Department which has subscribed to it for the benefit of HSC students.

The feature, "World News of the Week," has a large map of the world so that you can find the places that you are reading about in the news. Also on it are briefed articles on what has happened on the world fronts during the past week. Numbers on the map correspond with the articles so that you can find what is happening where.

After seeing the feature, students at HSC will agree that it is a definite addition to Humboldt State.

Service Wives To Be Honored

The faculty women of Humboldt State College are planning open house for the wives of enlisted personnel in this area. Wives of men stationed at Samoa, with the Coast Guard in Eureka, and at the Naval Air Station near Arcata are to be included. The party will be held in the College Social Unit, Friday, February 2, from 2 until 4 o'clock.

Committees for the party are: invitations and transportation, Mildred Bennett, Muriel Stoner, Sarah Davies, Ilene Jensen; food, Helen Everett, Phyllis Woodcock, Hazel Jeffers, Gayle Karshner; program and games, Monica Hadley, Myrtle McKittrick, Edith Hedrick, Beth Brizard; decorations, Sankey Little, Sally Cornelius, Adella Johnson, Dorothy Romero; clean-up, Belle Dickson, Imogene Platt, Jessie Woodcock.

Those not assigned to a definite committee will be called upon to help with receiving and being on hand to assist where needed.

Opal Shull, a January graduate of Humboldt, has accepted a teaching position in the rural school at Myers in southern Humboldt County.

Don't let the boys down! They still need those supplies that your Bonds and Stamps are buying!

Dr. Fisher Gets Adams Award

Dr. Raymond Fisher, associate professor of history at Humboldt State, has been awarded the Henry Baxter Adams prize for his historical work, "Russian Fur Trade, 1550-1700."

Announcement of the award was made recently at the annual meeting of the American Historical Association in Chicago.

The Adams prize is awarded an author for his first work in the field of European history, and is awarded biennially. It has been included in the Historical Series of the University of California, where Dr. Fisher completed the book as a part of his work for his master's degree.

Dr. C. W. deKiewiet of Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., said the committee examined the books of a relatively large number of scholars and were of the opinion that Dr. Fisher's study was most worthy of the prize.

Dr. Fisher's study in the field of Russian history, culminating in the publication of his book on the subject of the Russian Fur trade was a factor in his selection for work in the department of state in the division of territorial studies, having to do with the affairs of eastern Europe, particularly Russia.

Dr. Fisher is now on leave from Humboldt State College to do this work in Washington, D. C.

William H. Poe Gets Commission

William H. Poe, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Poe of Trinidad, has been commissioned an ensign after completing a course at Naval Reserve Midshipmen's school, Northwestern University of Chicago, Ill.

Ensign Poe is a former Humboldt State College student.

Concert Program Cancelled Friday

Morley and Gherhart, duopianists, who were to appear on the Community Concert program last Friday night, February 2, were forced to cancel their engagement due to the illness of one of the team.

Instead William Primrose, viola player, will appear on the Community Concert program, Saturday evening, February 17.

Former Student Graduate Nurse

Miss Patricia Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Hill of Eureka, was among the graduates of the St. Mary's College of Nursing, at ceremonies held recently in St. Mary's Cathedral, San Francisco. She will remain in the bay city until March, for special work before taking the state board examination.

Miss Hill took her pre-nursing work at Humboldt State College before going to St. Mary's College of Nursing. Her brother, Lt. C. W. (Bill) Hill has been serving with the AAF in India and is believed to be enroute home.

Clair Gustafson Has Leave Of Absence

Mrs. Claire Speier Gustafson, secretary to President Gist has taken a leave of absence for the spring semester. She is being replaced by Miss Sarah Davies, well known around HSC at President Gist's former secretary. David Lee Gustafson, was born on January 8. His father, Elmer, is somewhere on the German front.

Miss Davies will also take Mrs. Gustafson's place on the editorial staff of the News Letter.

Alice Loewenthal Now Wave Yeoman

Alice Caltoft Loewenthal, yeoman in the WAVES, has been enrolled in the Naval Training school in the campus of the Iowa State Teachers College, at Cedar Fall, Iowa for further training.

Yeoman Loewenthal was selected for special training on the basis of recruit training aptitude tests and past civilian experience. She is a graduate of Eureka High School and is a former student of Humboldt State College. She is the daughter of Mrs. Christine L. Caltoft of Eureka.

All are required to have taken part in a play, and to have had experience working on scenery. Anyone interested in working toward membership in the honorary group should see either, Mrs. Karshner or Mr. Van Duzer.

Editorial

Well, here we have a new semester and from the comments flying after seeing grades for last semester there seems to be a lot of new leaves turned over—course, how long they stay turned, well, that's another matter!

Since Registration Day I've seen a lot of new faces on the Campus belonging to Freshmen and new students. You know, for a long time now, it has been the tradition around that Humboldt is a friendly school and is the sort of place where anyone can feel at home. . . . where anyone can feel welcome. This is intended to be the Lumberjack Staff's official welcome to all you new students on the campus. We hope you'll have fun and like the work and play at HSC. It's a grand school and we have grand times as you'll soon find out.

Incidentally, if any of you are interested in working on any part of the Lumberjack Staff you're more than welcome. Humboldt is a small school but that's no reason why we can't have a super paper to be proud of—if you want to work—we're the people that can give it to you!

A sign in the Bronx says: "Piano lessons; special pains given to beginners."

Earl Wilson

WITH THE ARMED FORCES

We have set up this column in an effort to keep present and former students informed about the men and women of HSC now in the Armed Forces. We would appreciate any letters or notes from anyone concerning former students. To date we have received some very interesting letters.

Here's an excerpt from a letter received some time ago from A-C Lyle Alkire stationed at Kingsville, Texas:

Your very fine Christmas copy of the Lumberjack and the Humboldt News Letter couldn't have arrived at a more opportune moment. Certainly helped that old homesick feeling that creeps out around Christmas.

I'm strictly a true Californian and what I tell you might be snafu-ing Texans. The truth is, Texas and Texans just don't believe California or any other state has anything over Texas.

Robert Mitchell is in my battalion. I very seldom get to talk to him but it is good when I do. I'm sure the old gang remembers Bob and his green hornet at the beer bust.

About weather—Texas weather fluctuates from hot to a penetrating cold. Eureka and Arcata, even with fog and rain, has it all over this going south for the winter. If Florida is anything like Texas in the winter, then DON'T go south for the winter. Hope this epistle of mine finds you and Humboldt in the best of health.

Lyle.

HSC Campus has had several visitors in the last week or so in the person of former students—Don Christiansen, Navy, straight out of boot camp with one of those BEAUTIFUL haircuts; Charles Merryman, Maritime service, now stationed in San Francisco; Peter Anderson, Merchant Marine, home from the South Pacific and Axel Lindgren, Army Air Corps, home from Yale where he has been training.

Here's a note from Jack Bolger,

Ramona

For the benefit of new students, I suppose I should introduce myself and state my purpose in appearing in the Lumberjack. About a year and a half ago I came as a stranger to Humboldt because I felt that there was a definite need for me here. My name is Ramona and I'm only a little mouse but I see all, hear all and tell all about students and all the little things you do because you see, it's the little things that count!—as I've said so many times before.

In this column it has been my purpose to sort of give you hints on proper behavior and dress and about all the LITTLE things.

Last Wednesday, the first day of the new semester, I was down in the Commons at noon to see how things were progressing. One Sophomore girl I noticed was swept off her feet (almost literally) when a new Frosh boy waited for her to go ahead of him in the line in the kitchen. Was really remarkable—heard her say that perhaps the age of chivalry is not dead after all! Well, of course it isn't—the fellows just haven't been using any of it is all—it's not that they don't know how—it's just that they don't always remember all the things that Mom taught them. I think that part of this is the girls responsibility too—because though there aren't as many fellows at Humboldt as there used to be—still we should act and dress the same as we used to do. You all were at the Women's assembly held near the end of the semester and you know what I'm talking about so I won't go much further into that.

As was pointed out there is a time and place for everything—even levis and plaid shirts. It doesn't take any more effort to put your hair up the night before than to put it up in the morning and wear it in a bandana all day. I think we were all guilty of some misdemeanor along this line but, on the whole, I think we're all looking a little better since we had that little discussion. Looks nice, doesn't it.

By the way, before I leave to go on my usual check-up tour—if any of you have any questions or suggestions as to what you'd like to have discussed in this column—write us a note, addressed to Ramona and leave it in the L. J. office and I'll try and do my best for you.

somewhere in the South Pacific with the Merchant Marine:

Just received a copy of the Lumberjack—really was worth its weight in gold to me. From the looks of the situation, I suggest you change the name plate to "Lumberjill"—although I see that Brett and Ralph are still there. Please accept the small donation that's enclosed in lieu of the student body card I used to buy.

Sincerely,
 Jack Bolger.

Frosh-Eye View Of Humboldt

By DON RAY

When we, the members of the incoming Freshman class, said farewell to high school days, we did so in a maze of pomp and pagentry. We were the "big shots" of the school, and being a Freshman seemed far from reality at the time. At Humboldt State College, however, we are faced with new circumstances—that of being "the lowly" once more.

College life, especially at Humboldt, has been a decided factor in the discard of such thoughts, however; we are not "the lowly" but rather the mountain climbers. We are climbing the mountain of new activities, advanced education, and wonderful fellowships. Humboldt State affords a marvelous opportunity in all three of these factors to the individual. Even in time of war, this college has maintained these standards, and we Freshmen are very happy.

We are, as yet, unsettled and slightly awed by college life, but we think that Humboldt State is a wonderful institution, and we look forward to many happy times here.

German-Born Student Writes On "My Christmas Vacation"

By Lee Wenzlick

(Ed's note: The following is a composition written by Miss Lee Wenzlick, a sophomore student at Humboldt. Miss Wenzlick was born and raised in Germany and came to America in 1929. We feel that this composition is worth printing because it is so inconsistent with Miss Wenzlick's opinion about her own inability with the language. Here it is.)

Christmas of 1944 I spent in Shively with my friends Ray and Mabel, their three children and grandmothers. Having their grandmothers was a great treat for the children, since one came all the way from Philadelphia and the other from near Lake Tahoe.

Crossing the Eel river which lies between the Redwood Highway and my friend's home in Shively, was a real achievement. This small stream had risen in the recent rainstorm to a raging torrent. The bridge across the river has no railing; on either side is a small board; that is all. The bridge was partially under water and it seemed as if the car might be carried downstream by the swift current. When I reached the other side my friends congratulated me; I explained that I had been frightened. Indeed, it was not until after the car ahead had crossed safely, that I was able to overcome my fear and follow.

This Christmas in the midst of the Redwoods with little children and my true friends, was one of the happiest and most peaceful I ever experienced.

The following day the river went down two inches. This time the crossing was made easily.

Because of our two week's vacation there was still time for a visit to McCloud. This tiny lumber town lies at the foot of Mount Shasta. As I approached McCloud, soft snowflakes began to flutter downward and in no time at all the ground was white. All that night and the following day the snow storm continued. When the snow had settled, I put on my skis and glided swiftly through the village to the golf course and beyond to the summit. In the midst of the overwhelming beauty of this spot there came to mind a poem I had once learned;

O the snow, the beautiful snow
Filling the sky and earth below;
Over the heads of the people
you meet

Dancing, flirting, skimming along.

Never have I seen McCloud so beautiful. Trees and houses were buried under masses of snow. On nearly every porch stood a gayly decorated Christmas tree; its many brightly colored lights twinkling in the twilight. One could well imagine himself in fairyland.

But sunrise the following day surpassed all this. From the large living room window in the hospital I watched the sun come up. The horizon was covered with thousands of fluffy white cloudlets which began to gleam in the brightest coral, contrasting with the deep blue overhead. This gorgeous color, reflecting on the snow-covered earth, cast a pinkish glow over the village. Perhaps this will be my last glimpse of McCloud. If so, I certainly saw it in its greatest beauty.

On January first, a glorious day, I started toward home. Before reaching the summit I put on chains to keep the car from skidding. It was a merry ride. I imagined myself in a sleigh. High on a windy hill by a tall weather-beaten sugar pine I stopped to drink in the bright winter sunshine. Beauty, beauty everywhere. Here and there a pine stretched out toward the valley; my eyes wandered across to the rocky mountain, Castle Craig. To the right loomed the mighty, Mt. Shasta, which Joaquin Miller, "the American poet of the Sierras" so aptly described: "Lonely as God and white as the winter's moonlight."

The twisted and gnarled trees at timberline stood firm in spite of the terrific wintry storms they have weathered. Others are stunted with branches only on the leeward side. From them we learn courage and persistence. They seem to cry out; "Have courage, keep on fighting, never give up."

And so by the lonely pine on the summit I made my New Year's Resolution for 1945:

Be like these trees!

Have courage;

Never give up.

Then I rode in silence for some miles through the glittering winter landscape toward the South.

It's great to be here... Have a Coca-Cola

...or helping a soldier feel at home

When he's back on furlough, three words, Have a Coke, bring a soldier's old life back to mind: his days after school or after work, with the gang and with his girl. Ice-cold Coca-Cola holds a friendly place in American life. It should have a place in your family icebox. Wherever Americans go, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of our friendly way of life.

Fisher's Article In Library

Dr. Raymond H. Fisher has presented the library with a copy of an article written by him for the Russian Review entitled "Mangazeia; A Boom Town of Seventeenth Century Siberia."

He writes: "The students can read the eleven pages of this reprint and get a pretty fair idea of what their professor labored over in three hundred pages of his book." The book referred to is "The Russian Fur Trade, 1500-1700," recently published by the University of California Press. This book was the result of his work for his Ph. D. degree at the University of California and may be seen in the college library.

Germany Gets Real Taste of War

There have been hundreds upon hundreds of scenes like this in war-torn countries over which the Germans have rode roughshod, but this one is different. This is Germany—the same Germany which has dealt death blows to every country in Europe—now having war brought to its own door, in the city of Saarlautern.

Many Students Write To French Aviation Cadets

Many language students at Humboldt are now corresponding with French Aviation Cadets training in the United States. The correspondence started when the members of the modern language classes sent Christmas greetings to the cadets. In some cases it was the only Christmas message that they received, for most of them have lost contact with their families in France.

Although most of the cadets are very young, many of them have been in concentration camps in Germany and other countries. They made their way to North Africa, with the help of the French underground, and enlisted there.

Many interesting facts about French life, especially about the school system and student life, has been written by the cadets. They have all heard so much about California, "where the sun always shines," and wish to visit it someday. The American hospitality has impressed them a great deal, for they have been entertained in many American homes.

Through this correspondence the students will be able to understand the French people better and will be able to use and improve their knowledge of the language.

There is nothing final about a mistake, except its being taken as final.
