DOUBLE CHECKING THE PLANE that was used to distribute pamphlets advertising the fourth annual Mardi Gras tonight at the Portuguese Hall, May Borel, decoration committee chairman, gives the prop a final once-over prior to take-off. Part of the entertainment planned for the costume ball will be the carnival booths operated by College organizations. Music will be provided by Ray Bullock's orchestra. Mr. William Jackson, Newman Club advisor, dropped pamphlets over the College area today.

NADINE LOZENSKY REIGNS AS '53 FRESHMAN SWEETHEART

Miss Nadine Lozensky, the "Freshman Sweetheart of 1953," and the five members of her attendants reigned over the fourth annual Freshman Sweetheart Ball last Friday night at Nelson Hall. The royal court was composed of the Misses May Borel, Carol Christian, Harriet Hubert, Joan Guyn and Shirley Hunt.

Chosen on the basis of comeliness and personality, the sweetheart received the honor as the result of a student body popular election held Friday morning in the Administration Building.

Master of Ceremonies Lee Marvel, frosh vice-president, presented Miss Lozensky with a bouquet of red roses from the freshman class, a pair of Airstep shoes and a matching bag from the Eureka and Arcata Hornbrook shoe stores, and a $5 gift certificate from Town & Country.

Each member of the court received a $5 gift certificate from one of these Arcata merchants: Brizards, Malm and Murray's, Gamble's Western Auto Supply, Kaydee Shop and Gene Martin's Music Store.

Miss Lozensky, a kindergarten-primary education major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Lozensky of Arcata. She is a graduate of Arcata High School.

Decorations for the dance followed the sweetheart motif with pink hearts scattered around the room. The archway through which the Sweetheart was presented was decorated with streamers and hearts.

Friday, Feb. 20, is the final day for making changes in programs of study.

Johnson Prexy

Arthur Johnson, freshman engineering major, was elected spring semester president of the Nelson Hall east wing at an election held the first week of the new semester. Ken Gipson was elected vice-president and Al Babich chosen secretary and treasurer. New fire chief is Bill Glover.

Initiating a new policy this semester, the dorm president and his bodyguard will occupy the upstairs infirmary room with its private facilities.

Art Exhibit of reproduction of landscapes from the HSC Art Department collection is located upstairs in the south hall.

SPEECH STUDENTS TO DIRECT PLAYS

Two student directors, enrolled in the speech 126 class, will direct two plays during the spring semester.

Miss Pat Pratt, a graduate drama student from the University of Washington, is preparing two Bernard Shaw comedies. These plays, which deal with marital difficulties, are, "Over-ruled" and a comic satire called "How He Lied to Her Husband." These one-act plays will be presented early in the spring although Miss Pratt has not set the date for tryouts.

Chuck Coon, a sophomore from Eureka, plans to do a Stanley Richard production, "Mood Piece." This play, a psychological drama, centers about a maladjusted girl and is expected to be received with enthusiasm by drama minded students.

ASB Council Urges Health Unit Removal

Approval and recommendation of the transfer of the Health Unit from the second floor of the Student Union Building to the adjacent building, located directly north (present maintenance building), was stated in a letter sent to the Humboldt Foundation Housing Committee this morning by the Executive Student Council.

The move will be possible as soon as the maintenance department is established in its new headquarters below the biological sciences building.

Following is a brief resume of the reasons the Council feel necessitate the move: (1) More

Faculty King, Queen To Rule Festivities

"Come To The Mardi Gras," the song that hints of gay carnival time, and a colorful pageantry of costume varieties, will be echoed tonight, February 13, at the Portuguese Hall, Arcata.

This annual event, an inspiration from New Orleans, is always a colorful event of frolicking "hooptie doo" festivities.

Games of chance, booths, and sports events will highlight the costume ball, sponsored by the HSC Newman Club, under the general chairmanship of Steve Kezely. Prizes will be awarded to students, male and female, who are attired in the outstanding costumes.

King and Queen to the Mardi Gras will be chosen from the College faculty as in years past.

The Mardi Gras when defined means "Fat Tuesday," and is of French or Latin origin. The purpose of Mardi Gras is to hold three days of festivities before lent or Ash Wednesday.

Mardi Gras was introduced into this country by the Latin races of the world, and has now been accepted by all races in this country as the high-mark of gayety at this time of the year. Wherever it is held it proves to be one of the most colorful events in America, so "Come To The Mardi Gras."

Committee members for the Mardi Gras under General Chairman Steve Kezely are: Jack Laughlin, publicity; May Borel, decorations; Larry Paynter, cleanup; Dick Early, booths; Bill Papke, tickets; Floyd Bettiga, posters; and Dolores Evangelisti, prizes.

Toads Stebbins takes over again as master of ceremonies.

Ray Bullock and his orchestra will provide dance music, and after the dance refreshments will be served.

FOUR STUDENTS IN ADVANCED standing have filed candidacy for masters of arts degrees to be awarded in June. Franklyn W. Dunlap and William Goetz are working on M. A.'s in Secondary Education. Harry Hofferbert and Muriel Yaley have elementary administration as their field of study for their degree.

Farris' journalistic background includes editor of the high school paper in Everett. He was a member of the Lumberjack and Sem-pervirens staff last semester and works part-time for the Eureka Newspapers. He received the "Mr. Hustle" award at the end of the football season.

Siemens Headed East To Interview New Faculty Applicants

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE—

Dr. Cornelius H. Siemens, president of Humboldt State College, left Tuesday on a two-week trip to the East Coast where he will interview applicants for sixteen faculty positions here next year. Eleven of these openings have been created by an expanded curriculum at the College for 1953-54, to include new two-year terminal courses in Forestry-Lumbering and Dairy-Agriculture.

During his stay in the East the president plans to visit several universities including Columbia University, University of New York, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, and the University of Maryland. Washington, D. C., will be his headquarters for interviewing prospective HSC instructors. Dr. Siemens will also attend the convention of the American Association of Administrators of Schools in Atlanta, Ga.

One of the more important positions to be filled is a full-time principal for the College Elementary School. At present, Dr. Henry Griffith is acting as part-time principal. Under a new plan he will be free to devote full-time to his education classes.

While in New York Dr. Siemens will attend a session of the United Nations general assembly.

Editor Appointment Before Council

Dale Farris, freshman student from Everett, Wash., has been recommended to fill the position of Lumberjack editor for the spring term following the resignation of Dan White.

Mr. J. N. McIntyre, publication advisor, sent a letter of recommendation to the student council this week asking for approval of the appointment.

See Sports For Details

By FRANK RYAN

They paused before the Coop to catch their breath. Looking back it seemed like a long way down the hill to the elementary school.

These three had wandered away from their playground below the College, and the experience had been rather exciting so far. They had no intention of returning just yet, for this new feeling of freedom was a tasty thing.

The hurry and scurry of the many large and unfamiliar people going in and out of the building brought a feeling of uneasiness to the three adventurers. The little girl suddenly yearned for the safety of the playground surrounded by the big wire fence, but she wouldn't... she couldn't admit it to her two companions... that would be a social disgrace. She sucked in her bottom lip and bit it sharply with her teeth.

One of the boys must have felt the same, too, for he nervously glanced around him, looking for a possible avenue of escape... just in case.

They stood there for a while, watching and waiting, but nothing happened, and they began to feel more confident. One of the youngsters even ventured close enough to the constantly opening door to peer inside. He was the brave one.

As with most children, repetition quickly results in boredom, and soon the trio felt the wanderlust creeping back into their souls.

Across the wide expanse of the parking lot loomed a large and majestic building, setting high on the hill. Before the magnificent affair lay an enormous flight of stairs, such as they had never seen before.

They carefully approached the steps, the closing distance steadily increasing the height of the huge doors at the top. Cautiously they maneuvered between the parked cars, picking their way so that they managed to avoid actually confronting one of those fast moving adults.

They stopped when they neared the bottom. It was a long way to the top, and they knew that their strength must be conserved. The brave one, obviously a leader, stepped forward and accurately surveyed the situation that stood before him and his comrades.

With an experienced eye he measured the distance upward and looked with great care for the easiest route of approach. After a time he nodded his head, knowingly, and smiled at his friends who had reached his side.

He pointed out what he thought was the best method of attack, and his two friends affirmed his decision. They set out across the last stretch of level ground, and had just reached the first step of the climb when it happened...

The little girl, her face twisted in agony, pressed her tiny hands to her ears, and released a high shriek. The two boys, startled by the first onslaught, staggered backward, their puzzled eyes searching... their mouths open with fright.

Almost as one the trio turned and fled down the hill. Past the Coop they sped, and on down the road. Without even a backward glance they disappeared over the horizon, the high-pitched vibrations still following after them.

For many weeks after that the three would sit in the sun near the school building at recess and relate their tale of adventure to an attentive crowd of schoolmates. The story varied with each telling, of course, but it never failed to impress the stay-at-homes, whose lives smelled of boredom and normalcy.

And sometimes, when the playground was quiet, the gathering of children could hear the faint ringing of the monster on the hill, daring... challenging. While within the walls of the big yellow building, an adult stops his work, leans back from his desk, and proudly listens to the $6000 vibrations electronically clanging out the hour's end.

Show ASB Cards For Lumberjack?

Do you think it is necessary that students show ASB cards to secure a copy of the Lumberjack?

Donna Reeves, Freshman — I think they should because the paper will gain by the extra money from student body cards.

Jim Arnot, Sophomore—I do. It is customary in any organization to have certain advantages. One of the advantages of student body cards as an organization is free distribution of the school paper.

Chuck Bleything, Junior—Sure. The Lumberjack staff needs the support of the student body.

Leland Barlow, Associate Professor of Music—I think that the Lumberjack, like all other student-sponsored activities, if they are worth enjoying are worth supporting by the purchase of a student body card.

Leigh Manley, Graduate Student —Yes, if the Lumberjack is an ASB supported project, then I believe it should be regulated by student body regulations.

Dr. Reginald White, Professor in English—No. I am already going less often to the Co-op because I am charged extra for my cup of tea every time I change my coat. I'm afraid I might stop reading the LUMBERJACK for the same reason.

I think it has been demonstrated that almost all students are in favor of student body cards; and there is no question in my mind that the student council will get a majority vote for compulsory cards if they will use methods that appeal to the self-respect and good sense of the students.

To give people free coffee, to irritate them by requiring them to show cards and use card-stacking propaganda devices, are not, in my opinion, the way to secure a thoughtful and public-spirited vote on any issue.

Norton Comments

By JOHN NORTON

Will Rogers once said, "I'm a member of no organized party—I'm a Democrat." It looked for a while like he would have been a member of the ONLY party, organized or not.

The Republicans have a surprise for big business when they count the loot at Fort Knox. No gold sacks behind the green backs.

They are talking about lowering taxes back in Washington. If they do, the tax on tea in England will have to be raised to keep the U. S. Treasury Department in business. A debt is a debt.

Harry said that Russia has no A-bomb. You remember Harry; he was the little man out shouting red herring while "Reds" in the State Department were juggling the files marked: TOP SECRET—Oak Ridge Project.

Adlai is making a trip around the world. He hasn't been able to slow down since the election. If he is still on the go in '56, Dewey will have competition.

In the newsreels Vice-President Nixon appears camera shy. He made his name on TV.

Like the King of England, Senator Taft (Mr. Republican) is now just a symbol. It is Joseph Martin, Republican Speaker of the House, who cracks the whip and has more obedient friends in Congress than Taft has Hoover buttons.

Where Were The Toys, Boys?

Although Humboldt State College is in its 40th year it can easily be said that we are in reality only upon the threshold of development. The rapidly expanding construction plan and the expanding curricular development are opening the way to a future of tremendous potential. Truly we are in our infancy.

BUT WHY ADVERTISE IT?

We have enough of a reputation for being a small-time college without promoting our adolescence with a noon-recess kiddie show. (The Cal Aggie ballplayers are still snickering up their sleeves.)

When a person receives his high school diploma he supposedly enters a phase of life for the most part devoid of adolescent behavior. Either HSC doesn't require a diploma for entrance or the present generation is undergoing a mental reversal.

It is a nice thing to cherish memories from the younger days but when a group of college students, encouraged and aided by upper division people who purportedly carry much responsibility at Humboldt, create an asinine spectacle with a demonstration such as held the interest of a number of tolerant on-lookers at the Intercollegiate Knights' initiation last Friday afternoon, it is carrying things a bit far.

Instead of holding initiations that pave the way for a negative reaction on the part of students (and editorial writers) why not turn the energy of the initiates into more constructive channels? Such is the current trend among initiating organizations on American college campuses. Why not utilize them with on-campus renovation work, ground cleanup, or even volunteer community and civic service projects?

SWINGING THE AXE

By MURL HARPHAM

Football Coach Phil Sarboe has announced that HSC will face tough gridiron competition next season in non-conference games. Oregon Tech is scheduled to play here September 19 to open the Jacks' season. The Jacks then travel to Tacoma, Wash., to play Pacific Lutheran on September 26.

Also scheduled is a game with Oregon College of Education, which in the last four years has beaten Oregon Tech, the team that handed the Jacks their only defeat last year. This game will be played here on October 24.

A game with Stanford Junior Varsity for November 11, Armistice Day, is now under conference. Also a game with Oregon State Frosh or with the Cal Ramblers is on the table and will be decided upon soon. A possible game with the U. of Hawaii is also in the conference stage.

The majority of students seem to agree that Humboldt State lacks social life. Now the argument by a few is that we should try to be a high scholastic school and that we don't need much social life. This, of course, is not true; look at some of the larger schools that don't even carry athletics, where a student must have a high average to get in. They have social life.

College athletes should be subsidized . . . Now by subsidization we don't mean an athlete should be paid or receive a new car for playing. But to an extent he should receive a cut in tuition or board and room, because in some schools athletes foot the bill. Do concerts and plays draw 5000 spectators? So if athletes are to play such a major role in a school's program, then they should receive, to an extent, some of the benefits.

It is pretty bad when a team has to depend on the referees to win a basketball game.

One thing that could be cleared up in the Far Western Conference is the home-town refereeing. Sure, we grant that it is nice to win, but there is a lot better feeling if you know you have done it yourself, without any outside help.

HSC travels away from home only to play five men and two striped-shirt robbers. When a team plays at HSC the visitors are the ones towards whom whistle-tooters direct the finger of fate, so it appears to this reporter, as well as Cal Aggies and Chico.

It could almost be said that the team which wins two games away from home will win the conference championship.

LUMBERJACKS TRIP CAL AGGIES TWICE; LEN POLLARD LEADS POINT-MAKERS

JACKS WIN TWO

The HSC 'Jack cagers added two more wins to their total as they walloped Camp Beale Air Force Base, 80-59 and 70-54, Monday and Tuesday. They have now won 12, lost 9.

The 'Jacks had little trouble turning back the flyers though they were without veteran Bob Dunaway most of the second game. Bob suffered a sprained ankle early in the first quarter.

Joe Myers led the scoring in both games while racking up a total of 28 points. George Ibarreta hit for 23 points in the two games and Len Pollard scored 21.

The Junior Varsity won both of their games also to run their win streak to 16 straight.

Wins No. 13 and 14 For Junior Jacks

The high-flying, undefeated Junior Varsity made it 13 and 14 straight by beating Bucksport 50-38 last week-end and Klamath Air Force Base 68-17. The first game saw the JV squad in trouble as the Bucksport team took a slim 12-9 lead and led till late in the second quarter when the jacks caught fire and surged ahead to hold a 28-18 advantage.

The scoring was pretty even in the third and final quarters as the Junior Varsity reserves took over the chores. MacViors was high for the evening and the losers with 19. Bob Parks led the winners with 16.

Dick Trone hit for 9 followed by Tim Corrigan with 8. New-comer Stan Simpson scored 7 while Psaras hit 5. Bob Eggers was held to 4, and another new-comer, Don Torrance, scored 2 to make up the JV's scoring.

In the Klamath Air Force game, every JV player hit the scoring column.

Ex-HSC Athlete New Coach Here

Many have been wanting to know who the new physical education instructor on the campus is. Here are a few interesting facts about him.

Francis "Franny" Givjns is well known to all of the residents of Humboldt County. After graduating from HSC in 1940, where he participated in football, basketball and track, he became head coach of Ferndale in 1940. He coached all sports until the spring of 1951 when he transferred to Fortuna as head football and track coach.

He left his position at Fortuna in February to become a P. E. instructor at HSC, succeeding E. L. Sturdivant.

Franny is 35, married and has four children. He and his wife have two boys and twin girls.

Humboldt State cagers took the lead again temporarily in the Conference standings by beating the Cal Aggies 71-59 and 72-58 in a two-game series last week-end. Chico State helped put the Jacks in the lead again by beating undefeated Southern Oregon twice in their two game series, 87-66 and 84-67.

However, the Red Raiders regained the oft changing lead by beating the Cal Aggies twice.

Other FWC cage scores this week:

SOCE 72, Cal Aggies 54.
SOCE 77, Cal Aggies 46.

The first game found the Jacks playing "heads up" ball as they took an early 19-11 first quarter lead and led the rest of the game. The Jacks held a 32-20 intermission margin only to have the Mustangs come back fired up to cut the lead at 45-40.

Joe Myers and Len Pollard were high for the winners with 17 points apiece. George Ibarreta hit for 13 and Glenn Wallace pumped in 9.

The second game saw the Aggies hampered by the loss of two top scorers, Rich Donnell and John Rowe.

The Jacks took the lead late in the first quarter and were never headed again throughout the rest of the game. HSC led 38-22 at the half and 56-35 at the third quarter mark. Guards Carl Reich and Bill Wetmore paced the Mustangs with 17 points apiece in the Aggies determined attempt.

Forward Wallace and Center Pollard scored 11 points apiece for the Jacks. Pollard had 28 for the two games.

Music Program by Schwabacher Meets With Approval

By JOAN FLOCKHART

James Schwabacher, San Francisco tenor, was enthusiastically received by his audience Sunday in the College Auditorium as he presented a widely varied program of English, German and French songs.

His Elizabethan folk song, "Greensleeves," by Vaughn Williams; his ballad, "Weep Ye No More Sad Fountains," by J. Dowland, and "The Eleven Limericks," by Wallace Berry, were particularly liked by the audience.

"Der Tambour," a German poem by Morike, and "Bleuet," a French song by Francis Poulenc, were also well received.

Mr. Schwabacher's stage presence, emotional appeal, and personality toward the audience elicited enthusiastic comment.

His piano accompanist, Edwin McDonnell, added considerably to the musical entertainment.

This recital was one of a series under the sponsorship of Mu Epsilon Psi, campus honorary music society.

Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatic organization, will hold its annual initiation Saturday, February 28, in the HSC auditorium. Following the program a dinner will be held in honor of the initiates.

Spring Sports Open March 1

Spring sports will open this year with the first baseball practice March 1. Phil Sarboe will be coaching the varsity baseball team for the third year. According to reports, several of the players are already limbering up their arms in preparation for the season. It is also expected that a considerable amount of new talent will be seen on the diamond.

Dr. Joseph Forbes, head of the Health and Physical Education department, stated that Coach Sarboe hopes to have as successful a season as he has had during the past two years. The Jacks ended the '52 season in second place in Far Western Conference standings.

Track will be coached by Birger Johnson with new talent expected to bolster HSC chances.

Season cage records to date for the Jacks is 12 wins and 10 losses, including FWC and practice games.

False Impression Given by Article

In the last issue of the Lumberjack an article appeared under the title "The World Will Know." Some of the facts in this story seemed greatly exaggerated, and in some instances to be outright lies.

The article was about a summer home near Redwood Creek, Calif., on State Highway No. 299. On this particular house there is a sign that reads:

"This is the house that Leslie Built." The article stated that Leslie built this home for his mother, but the truth of the matter is that Leslie built the house for his sister.

The article also implied that Leslie was a heavy indulger, but here the facts were greatly exaggerated. THE ARTICLE APPEARED SOLELY FOR AN ELEMENT OF HUMAN INTEREST, AND WAS NOT INTENDED TO BE OFFENSIVE IN ANY RESPECT.

A preoccupation among guests at the Mardi Gras each year is trying to figure out who the personalities were behind their masks. Can't tell the faculty from the students without a program.
