JACKS OPEN BASKETBALL SEASON AWAY FROM HOME

By Don Nielsen

Basketball 1957-58 begins for the Humboldt State College Lumberjacks tonight as they travel to Ashland to take on the Southern Oregon Red Raiders in a non-conference clash as the Jacks launch an ambitious 25 game schedule.

Coach Franny Givins will take a 15-man travelling squad to Ashland for the two game series with the team that the Jacks beat twice last year 61-56 and 54-53 at Arcata.

The Jacks will return home Tuesday night when they play host to the Harlem Clowns in the first game to be played in the new gym.

The Red Raiders are similar to the Lumberjacks in that they also have a new gym, and the Humboldt squad will be the first to play in their new building.

The Raider squad has several returning veterans from last year's team, including the first and second leading scorers, Norm Oliva, who lead the team in scoring and rebounding, and Bill Hollingsworth, who gave the Jacks plenty of trouble last year are both back. Two freshmen, forward Gerald Rust and center Cliff Sutherland, both 6' 6" tall give the Raiders a decided height advantage.

However, Givins indicated that this lineup is strictly a guess at this time, and that several other players might break into the starting five by game time. These include center Grant Erhart, forwards Joe Handy, Warren Baker

Siemens Champ Of Golf Tourney

The truth of that saying that the busiest executives make the best golfers was proved recently when President Cornelius H. Siemens emerged champion of the annual Handicap Flight of the Bayside golf tournament.

He attained this honor by defeating Herb Peterson of Eureka two-up in the finals after he had taken 4-up in the semi-finals over Harry Zook. More than 30 golfers quilled for the tournament which consisted of five elimination matches played over a period of seven weeks. It was the first time Dr. Siemens had competed in the tournament.

The Scratch Flite was taken by repeat-winner Ed Kovacovich. Both winners will receive a trophy in the near future.

President Siemens' interest in golf also extends to the Rotary Club, where he is chairman of an interclub tournament involving Fortuna, Eureka and Arcata clubs.

An exhibit of outstanding news photographs compiled by the California Press Photographers Association has been on display this week in the Audio-Visual Gallery of the Library. The exhibit ends today.

Drama Festival Here Next Week

The founder and producing director of the Oregon Shakespearean Festival, Mr. Angus Bowmer, and the makeup director of the Festival, Mr. Richard Graham, will be present to contribute to the proceedings of the annual HSC Drama Festival to be held here next week.

On the first day of the Festival, Friday, Dec. 13, Mr. Bowmer and Mr. Graham will address a student body assembly at 11 a.m. in the main auditorium. They will also participate in a two-hour workshop on makeup on Saturday.

The second event of the Festival on Friday will be the evening performance of the current Humboldt production "The Rivals." On Saturday, there will be four one-act plays presented by various high schools in the CES auditorium. A panel discussion on producing classics in school will also be held on Saturday.

Former Registrar Receives Honor

Mrs. Myrtle McKittrick, former Humboldt State college registrar, was elected an honorable member of the Pacific Coast Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions officers.

Mrs. Mary Ann Smith recently returned from attending the conference in San Francisco met with other college registrars and admissions officers during the three-day business sessions held at the Hotel St. Francis and the University of San Francisco.

ANNUAL DANCE HIGHLIGHT OF HSC HOLIDAY SEASON

Humboldt State's holiday season will be highlighted this year by tomorrow night's eighth annual Sno Ball which has been acclaimed the finest dance of the college year.

Christmas cheer will prevail when the gala dance begins at 9 p. m. with the dance music of Jerry Moore and his orchestra.

Bids for the Sno Ball may be obtained free by student body card holders in the dean of students office. Non-holders must pay $1.25.

"The Tree" will be the focal point of the dance. Decorations will feature red and gold with white highlights against the green trees.

High point of the evening will be the coronation of the Sempervirens Sweetheart by President Cornelius H. Siemens. Hugh Monda, Sempervirens editor, will announce the Man and Woman of the Year and Senior Personalities.

Sempervirens Sweetheart, her identity yet a secret, was selected by Norman Rockwell, well-known American artist. Candidates were Gayle Baker, Donna Heckman, Mary Lou Barnes, Marilyn Wright, Ila Harris and Chlorita Furnish.

The receiving line will include Dr. and Mrs. Siemens; Dale Callihan, ASB president; Dr. and Mrs. Milton Hollstein; Janice Gulliver and Rolph Hellberg, co-chairmen for the Sno Ball.

STARLIGHTING IS SUNDAY EVENING

Starlighting ceremonies sponsored by the Spurs, a sophomore women's service organization, will be held Sunday at 7 p. m. in front of the Administration building.

After tryouts among the Spurs, Mary West has been selected to read "The Little Angel" and Judy McDonald will be the Mistress of Ceremonies. Reverend Links of the Eureka First Methodist Church will be the minister at the ceremonies. The college choir and group of CES children will sing Christmas Carols during the ceremony.

Maylon Johnson is the general chairman of Starlighting, with Judy McDonald as assistant chairman.

Dalianes Named To ASB Office

Art Dalianes, a junior psychology major from Eureka, has been appointed representative-at-large in the student council.

Dalianes' appointment came about when Don Peterson, the former representative-at-large, resigned his post to assume the responsibilities of Assemblies Commissioner.

Dalianes as representative-at-large serves as the representative of the student body as a whole.

Dalianes has served in office before as ICS representative of the sophomore class and was student body president of Eureka High School his senior year. Dalianes attended San Francisco State for one year but returned to Humboldt the second semester of his sophomore year.

Art Faculty Has Stafford Exhibit

An exhibit of work done by the HSC art faculty is currently being shown at the Stafford Inn, three miles south of Scotia. The showing will continue for the duration of the month.

Exhibitors and their respective works are Glenn Berry, drawings; Reese Bullen, pottery; Max Butler, water color and drawings; Leendert Kamelgarn, oils; Tom Knight, water color and Melvin Schuler, oil and drawings.

'Rivals' Shows 'Intensive' Rehearsal Pays Off; 2nd Performance Tonight

Results of intensive rehearsal paid off last evening when the Humboldt Players' production of "The Rivals" opened at the college auditorium.

Directed by Dr. W. L. Turner, the cast obviously enjoyed their roles, as the members romped through their respective characterizations. Needless to say, there were certain roles which were played with apparently more gusto than others, but this, undoubtedly, was due to necessary contrast in characters. All in all, it may be said that "The Rivals" is a delightful evening's entertainment of a light and stylized comedy, a comedy of manners, men and morals. Current time for the second performance is 8:15 p.m. tonight.

Perhaps one of the most evident contrasts in characters occurs in the father-son scenes with the vociferous Sir Anthony Absolute (Herb McLellan), who, despite his emphatic intentions to remain calm, cool and collected, manages to jump up and down in a frenzy and his son, Captain Jack Absolute (Wally Sinclair), who, despite all entreaties and provoking situations, does remain calm, cool and collected; a nice bit of contrast.

When it comes to comparison, however, Sir Anthony meets his match for sensitivity and reaction in the person of one Mrs. Malaprop (Pat Hammond), who responds to disquieting situations (at least to her they're disquieting) with all the words at her command . . . and some which are not quite so easily commanded. The role of Mrs. Malaprop is such as to lend itself well to the full extent of an actress' capabilities of expression. The role has long been a plum and it is easy to see why.

Sir Lucius

The luck o' the Irish would have it that Sir Lucius O'Trigger (Earl H. "Hal" Lewis) was another opening night favorite of the audience with his brogue so thick and realistic that he might well have just stepped from the Auld Sod.

The saucy "Miss Simplicity," who really isn't that at all, the servant girl, Lucy (Claudine West), has a charming surface naivete, which, as the play developed, isn't naivete but a certain manipulation of human frailties.

Dick's Dungeon

'It Didn't Exactly Squish'

By Dick Wassmouth

My good friend Casper Staghorn and I were strolling along observing the finer points of the campus the other day. In fact one of the finer points was walking just ahead of us. She didn't even know she was being examined by the scrutinizing eyes of two of the best analysts on campus.

Staghorn whistled (If you have ever heard a leaky hose on a three-dollar vacuum cleaner, you know what it sounded like). The object in question turned around but when she caught a glimpse of what was behind her, she just kept right on turning and went on her way.

Now I'm not saying that poor Old Stagg is ugly, its just that most people aren't used to seeing faces like his without the bars of a cage between them.

We left this cultural pursuit of Knowledge (I don't know what her first name is) and headed for the Coop. We were no more than halfway across the parking lot when a great big bug came running out from between two cars and headed right at me. Now I didn't panic or anything, I just did what any normal, young, red-blooded, American bug-hater would have done. I stepped on it.

It sure had a hard shell but I stomped and tromped until the thing was an oily pulp. It didn't exactly squish, but just sort of layed there like dead — you dig? It didn't wiggle any legs at me — in fact it didn't even move.

I would have walked on by and never given it a second thought, except that it kept making a noise that sounded like a car horn blowing. When I found out what was making a noise like a car horn blowing I cut loose with guffaws laughter. Heh, Heh, — IT WAS a car horn blowing. The funny part was that it was coming from the big, busted bug. I turned to Old Stagg with a funny look on my face (funnier than usual that is) but he was examining the bug.

"Man you goofed," he said, "That's no bug you stepped on, that's one of those new foreign cars. A real little one. I think it's a Mark XXVIII, KL79B-452SD, Missshenschmaggen. I bent down close to get a good look at it and could hear a voice. "Gee Dad, it WAS a Missshenschmaggen!! Help-ah, help-ah." It sounded as though it was coming from the pile of stuff in front of me.

I turned to Old Stagg and said, "Listen man, there's someone in there. We'd better give him a hand getting out."

"Forsooth Dad," he said, "we'll never get him out here, we'll fall in at the Entomology Lab where-at we can have the proper tools to do the carving on this mechanized insect."

So saying, he picked up the remains of the Mark XXVIII, etc., (Continued on Page 4)

Intercollegiate Knights

The IKs recently held a spaghetti feed at the home of the Honorable Duke, Frank Zak. An informal business meeting took place along with the dinner. One of the largest turnouts of members and pledges was experienced for the year.

Although the occasion took place on a school night all members were able to make it back on campus the next morning save one. It must be noted however, that the one exception went down in the true IK spirit — flat on his back.

The formal initiation will take place Friday, Dec. 13, at Stafford Inn. All IK graduates are urged to attend. They should contact John Marcuz for reservations. The informal initiation will take place on campus the preceding week.

Press Club

The Press Club of HSC has just been reactivated and reorganized. It meets every Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in room 205 upstairs in the Coop. The meetings carry over into the noon hour and all those who are connected with any phase of journalism at HSC or just interested in it are urged to drop in.

The newly elected officers are president, Dick Wassmouth; vice president, Janis Williams; secretary-treasurer, Linda Dolf; ICS representatives, Don Harris and Tom Fay.

Tri Sigma

The Tri Sigma Nursing Club has recently been organized at HSC. Composed of about twelve members, those elected to office were: president, Sue Marlow; vice president, Glenda McLain; secretary, Launi Hollen; publicity chairman and historian; Anita Sbrana. The club's adviser is Mrs. Griffith.

Open to all students interested in nursing, the club meets every first and third Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Health Cottage. Tri Sigma was active on campus two years ago. At present it is working on a Christmas project.

All members are awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Spahn, the director of the Nursing School at Fresno State who will assume similar duties here at HSC.

Spur News

With Starlighting plans now completed, the Spurs can begin planning events for the near future. One of the events planned is a Christmas cake sale. The sale will take place the last week of school before Christmas vacation. The Spurs are still selling season tickets to the HSC plays. The price is $2.75. Anyone interested in purchasing a season ticket can contact any Spur member. Janet French was general chairman of the Spurs who ushered and sold programs at the HSC-HAF game. Assisting her was Pat Miller. Pat was chairman of the Spurs for the HSC-Sacramento game. Margie Guthridge was her assistant for that game.

A meeting has been planned for the evening of Dec. 16, at the home of Barbara Paul. A business meeting will be held then, followed by refreshments. Marta Flak is in charge of purchasing Christmas cards to be sent by the Spurs.

Many of the student and faculty wives came in oriental costume, adding an even more festive atmosphere to the decor. A reading, skit and talk on the "Warrior" of Japan was enjoyed by all.

Refreshments of shrimp-and-crab puff, cookies, tea and coffee also carried out the theme. Chairmen and their committees responsible for the evening's program were: decorations, Mrs. John Dell, with Mesdames Frank Adams, Clyde Carter, John Lorenzana, George Ibarreta, Dewell Byrd, Richard Foster, Robert Hughs and Alan McGie; entertainment, Mrs. Roy Christianson, Mesdames Jack Woody, Alan McGie, Edward Grannis, Curtis Bolton, Paul Shields, Kenneth Scott, Bill Pogue, Robert Hughs, Kenneth Higgs, George Painter and Jerry Paul; refreshments, Mrs. David McLean, Mesdames Jerry Long, Kenneth Scott, Jerry Moore, Mack McVey, Clyde Carter and Owen Kirkland.

At the Dec. 5 meeting held in the Green and Gold room, a speech was heard by Mr. Richard Wilson of Eureka's Florist on "Floral Arrangements and Center Pieces" with holiday decorations in mind.

Choir

The HSC Choir has a busy agenda for Christmas. They will sing for the Starlighting Sunday evening, Dec. 8, at 7 p.m., on the steps of the Administration Building. On Dec. 9, the Madrigal Singers will sing for the Eureka Rotary Club's annual Christmas party at the Eureka Inn. They will perform a group of French and English Carols.

The Madrigal Singers are a small vocal chamber ensemble. The type of singing dates back to the 16th century Elizabethan period. The term Madrigal is presently used for groups singing folks music, contemporary music and several other forms.

On Dec. 12, the Madrigal Singers will entertain at the Hammond California Redwood Co. an-

Frosh To Decorate Christmas Tree

The Freshman class of Humboldt State will sponsor and decorate a Christmas tree for the holiday season, it was recently announced by John Payne, freshman ICS representative.

The idea of the tree was first suggested to Payne through ICS and he consulted with members and advisers of the freshman class, all of whom thought the idea was an excellent one.

Payne then appointed Nylah Ebersole, Linda Dolf and Gary Chilton chairmen of decorating the tree.

The tree chosen by the group

Mrs. Everett Is Council Member

Mrs. Helen Everett, college librarian, has been appointed a member of the Advisory Council of the University of California School of Librarianship for a three-year term, Jan. 1, 1958 to Dec. 31, 1960.

The Advisory Council, composed of nine librarians representing leading libraries of different types in California, was established several years ago by President Robert Sproul and Chancellor Clark Kerr of the University, to serve as a channel of information to and from the School of Librarianship. The Council helps to interpret the School's program to the state; to interpret professional needs of libraries in the state to the School; and to consider present and proposed policy and aims of the School. The Council usually meets twice a year in Berkeley.

Mrs. Everett is an alumnus of the University of California's School of Librarianship, having completed her first graduate library work there in 1931 and her Master's degree in librarianship in 1939.

Children's Art Displayed In HSC Art Gallery Receives Adult Values

Apparently having missed the title announcing the show, two visitors were viewing the current exhibit in the HSC Art Gallery: "Hail I could have done as well as this! I wonder who painted them?" And after reading the identification card, more softly she said: "Oh, Kindergarten!" Now she could view them with detachment and unthreatened superiority. She was older and had matured beyond such dribbling in paint.

Children's art is not adult art. Obviously the child does not possess the emotional and intellectual maturity to deal with adult values. But this show is not being presented primarily to show what some children are doing; it is on display because it is felt that there are qualities in these paintings which are instructive and worthy of adult consideration.

At the turn of the century artists were rebelling against the sterility of academic art which had reduced the moribund Renaissance principles to sterile imitation of nature and had lost contact with the materials of the artist, his paint and canvas and stone. They began to appreciate the honesty with which children and the primitive cultures used their materials. Paint or wood or stone is not used by the less sophisticated to imitate, but to symbolize, yet keeping the qualities of the materials.

Imitation or re-creation of an object is not art. Creativity is the synthesizing of experience into new forms. And the child has the faculty for symbolizing which is suppressed as he grows older. Generally by the time the student gets to college he does not want to create, he wants to imitate. His ability to fantasize truth is dead and he's lost the subconscious logic of his own emotions and dreams.

Watching a child draw symbols on a piece of paper, his whole attention centered on the world he is creating, is awesome. He's free to evoke limitless symbols. Compare it to the adult who sits in front of a piece of paper and says "What shall I draw?" Is he dead? No, just afraid.

The show on view in the gallery is particularly strong in the intuitive use of color and design. This exhibit has much to say to the student of art who is willing to read what is in front of him.

WHAT TO DO TILL THE PSYCHIATRIST COMES

Once upon a time at the University of Virginia there was a coed named, oddly enough, Virginia University who was handsome and kindly and intelligent and ingeniously constructed and majoring in psychology. Virginia went steady with a young man on campus named, oddly enough, Oddly Enough who was supple and fair and lithe and animated and majoring in phys ed.

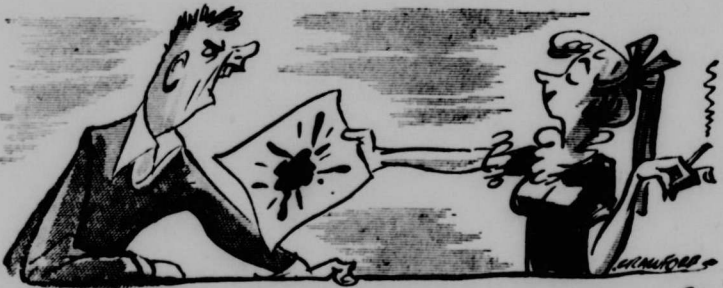

Virginia and Oddly enjoyed a romance that was as idyllic as a summer day, as placid as a millpond. Never did they fight—never, never, never!—because Virginia, who was majoring in psychology, did not believe in fighting. "Fighting," she often said, "settles nothing. The scientific way is to look calmly for the cause of the friction."

So whenever she and Oddly were on the verge of a quarrel, she used to whip out a series of ink blot tests and they would discover the true underlying cause of their dispute and deal with it in an enlightened, dispassionate manner. Then, the irritant removed, their romance would resume its tranquil, serene, unruffled course.

After six months of this sedate liaison, Oddly was so bored he could spit. He loved Virginia well enough, but he also believed that people in love ought to fight now and then. "It opens the pores," he said. "And besides, it's so much fun making up afterwards."

But Virginia would not be provoked into a quarrel. One night Oddly tried very hard. "Hey," he said to her, "your hair looks like a bat's nest and your ears look like last year's turnips and your face looks like a pan of worms and as for your head, I've seen better heads on newel posts."

"My goodness, we're hostile tonight!" said Virginia cheerfully and whipped 120 Rorschach cards out of her reticule. "Come," she said, "let us examine your psychic apparatus."

Oddly tried again. "Who makes your clothes?" he sneered. "Bethlehem Steel?"

"Hmm," said Virginia thoughtfully and lit a cigarette. "This sounds like an anxiety neurosis with totemism, anagogic trauma, and a belt in the back."

"I hate you," said Oddly. "I hate your looks and your clothes and your toenails and your relatives and the cigarettes you smoke."

"Now, hold on, buster!" cried Virginia, her eyes crackling, her color mounting, her nostrils aflame. "Just keep a civil tongue in your stupid head when you talk about Marlboro! Nobody's knocking that filter, that flavor, that flip-top box while there's breath in my body! It's a great cigarette, it's a doozy, it's a dilly, it's a bear—and anybody who says a word against it gets this."

By "this" Virginia meant a series of combinations to the head and liver, which she now delivered to Oddly and turned on her heel and stormed away.

Oddly brought her down with a flying tackle. "I love you," he said.

"And Marlboro?" said she.

"And Marlboro," said he.

And they kissed and plaited love knots in one another's hair and were married at Whitsun and smoked happily ever after.

And you too, gentle readers, will smoke happily ever after, once you try Marlboro, the cigarette that gives you such a lot to like—including, we earnestly hope, this column.

Hilltopper, Campus Feature Magazine, To Make Its Appearance Dec. 16

Brimming with pictures and feature articles, the year's first issue of Hilltopper magazine will be sold on campus Monday, Dec. 16, according to Sid Fauerbach, editor.

A feature magazine modeled on the best of the general-interest magazines, Hilltopper will be printed on "slick" paper and will have both a professional look and professional tone.

Hilltopper was originated last spring as a journalism laboratory project and sold out at 25 cents a copy. The 25 cent price will be retained this year despite increased production costs, Fauerbach said. He pointed out that Hilltopper is not subsidized. Production cost is about 50 cents a magazine, with advertising revenue making up the difference between sale price and cost.

Fauerbach said the staff had solicited material from several fields of interest. All articles, photography and layout have been done by students. Writers represent several majors.

Consistent with the magazine's policy of presenting controversial subjects in an objective manner, the fall issue will include a debate on the probable consequences here of fraternities, a new factor in HSC life. Writing on the pro side of the question is Tony Vasquez, junior journalism major, and on the con side is Dave Cherry, senior wildlife major.

Among many other articles will be a basketball preview by Don Harris, sports editor of the Lumberjack, a description of sports fishing by Dave Maxon, president of Conservation Unlimited, and a view of life in Humboldt Village as seen by Dick Wassmuth, one of its inhabitants.

U. S. Public Health Service Awards Prof. DeWitt $2000 Research Grant

John W. DeWitt, associate professor of fisheries, has been awarded a $2000 research grant from the U. S. Public Health Service.

The grant will apply on a study project now under way to determine the effects of water pollution on aquatic insects important as fish food.

Most of the work will be done by Prof. De Witt in the HSC laboratory with a special closed circulation apparatus. The term of the project will extend until Sept. 30, 1958, and the work is designed to shed some light on what might happen to aquatic insects under conditions of pollution in a stream.

The physiology work in the laboratory will be correlated with data gathered in the field from polluted streams.

Prof. De Witt returned to the HSC campus this fall after a two-year's leave of absence spent under a two-year teaching fellowship in the Department of Fish and Game Management of Oregon State College. He first joined the HSC faculty in 1949 to undertake the development of the fisheries program which was begun that year.

During his two years at Oregon State, Prof. De Witt, in working toward his doctorate, carried out research into the effects of stream pollution on the aquatic life, with special emphasis on pollution by pulp mill waste products. This work was done under the supervision of one of the nation's foremost pollution experts,

Dr. Peter Dondoroff of the U.S. Public Health Service.

His present study project is a continuation of work done last year.

Prof. De Witt will be assisted in his experiments by two fisheries students, Wayne Salmon, Santa Cruz, and Kenneth Cuneo, San Anselmo.

During the past year Prof. De Witt has been appointed chairman of the Committee on Research, Disease and Feed of the U.S. National Board of Trout Farm Association and has been made a member of the editorial board of the "U.S. Trout News."

Russ Char, HSC 'Aspiring Businessman,' Is Creator Of Christmas Cards

Russ Char, aspiring businessman-on-campus, was being interviewed about his current venture, "Char-acters", when it was discovered that there is an interesting 'story behind the story'.

Russ is a native of Honolulu, Hawaii, and has lived almost all

Russ is a native of Honolulu, Hawaii, and has lived almost all his life in the Hawaiian Islands. He graduated from Punahou High School in Honolulu in 1953. He did spend his junior year in the states, though, at the New Mexico Military Institute. He must have liked the U.S. because he entered Claremont Mens College in Southern California after high school graduation as a Fine Arts major.

The story of "Char-acters" begins at this point. Russ enlisted in the Army and became the chief illustrator for a psychological warfare unit.

"A funny thing sometimes happens in the Army. I had four men under me, one with a Master's degree in Fine Arts, one with a Master's degree in Commercial Art, a graduate of an Art Institute, and one who had completed two years at an art institute. So frequently in the Army you find yourself in charge of men who know more about the specific field than you do. However, we all benefitted. We criticized each other's work and made suggestions. All I had to do was simply make assignments."

Often Russ went to the studio and worked on different projects for his own amusement. The first "Char-acter" was Russ own Christmas card. "Necessity is the mother of invention," and Russ implied that this was true of his Christmas card last year. Later, friends advised him to sell the design to a large card company, but he decided not to, because by not doing so, he "could gain a little knowledge of the printing, selling and advertising processes and have a little fun with the idea as well."

Russ met Dr. C. H. Siemens, president of HSC, while Dr. Siemens was lecturing in Oregon, and during conversation with him discovered he could enter HSC in the fall semester instead of waiting until spring, which he might have had to do had he applied for entrance to another school.

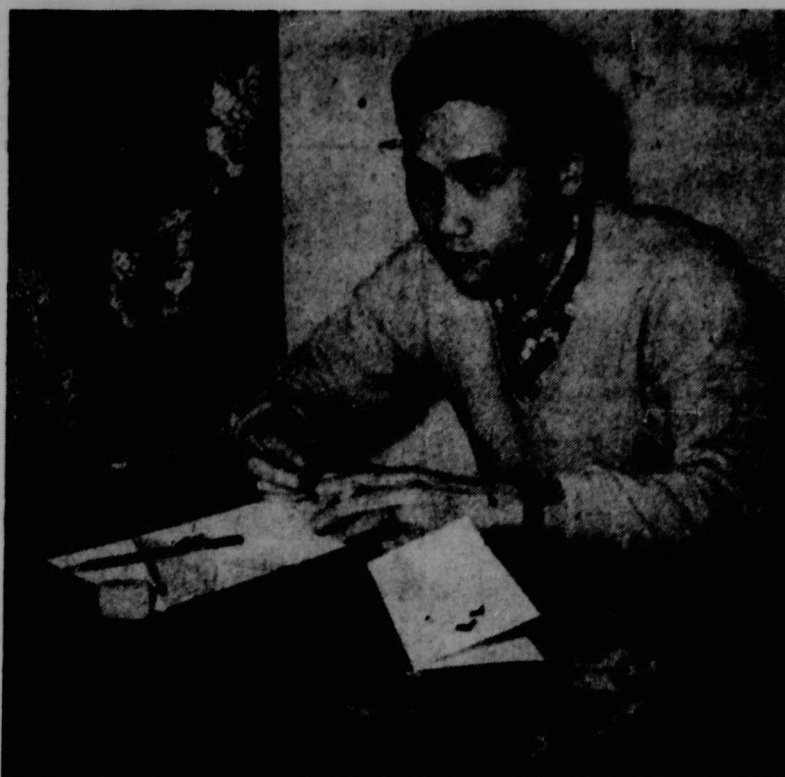

This year there are two "Char-acter" designs which have been made up first as ink-line drawings, then photographed, engraved by a chemical process, and printed by offset printing press. The price of "Char-acters" is 25 cents each, or $5 for 25 cards. Russ may be reached at Nelson Hall, east wing first floor telephone, or through his box, No. 207.

Pi Kappa Pledges To Be Initiated

Eight pledges will be initiated into the honorary forensics society, Pi Kappa Delta, next Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the Green and Gold Room.

The new members will be Ed Spencer, Larry West, Wallace Sinclair, Gary Brennan, Jon Tonge, Larry Beebe, Carol Torrence and Marni Brede. Dr. Edward Steele, assistant professor of speech, will become an honorary member. All of the initiates will become members of the Order of Fraternity. Wallace Sinclair and Larry Beebe will enter the Order of Oratory, while the other pledges will enter the Orders of Oratory and Debate.

Installing officers in the annual initiation will be Jim Shaver, president, John Mayfield, vice president, and Evelyn Legier, secretary.

Russ Char works at creating one of his "Char-acters," an original Christmas card design now being sold on campus. The first "Char-acter" was created as a personal "necessity" and now has been turned into a business.

These two "Char-acter" designs, first made up as ink line drawings and finally printed by an offset process, are selling for 25 cents each or 25 for $5. Russ Char, enterprising campus businessman, is the creator.

Senior Football Dinner Thursday

The annual Senior Football Dinner will be held next Thursday evening for those members of the grid team who have used up all their eligibility.

The six honorees are quarterbacks Warren Baker and Jack Menzia, fullback Ralph Mayo, end Dave Thomas, tackle Jerry Bartlett and guard Jim Ennis.

Pepperdine Debate Is 'Improvement'

"A marked improvement over the Sacramento State debate," was the observation of forensics adviser Milton Dobkin, following last week's meet at Pepperdine College at Los Angeles.

The single team in the upper division received no honors during the meet. In the lower division, the top HSC team was that of Karl Harber and Doug Kane, who won three out of four rounds of debate. After tabulation of points, this team placed 17th among the more than 100 debate teams participating.

Two persons from Humboldt reached the semi-finals in individual events. Both of them were in the lower division. Ed Spencer entered the semi-finals in extemporaneous speaking and Don Price reached them in the impromptu speaking event.

The next event of the forensics calendar is the Pentathlon to be held Jan. 10 and 11 here.

Jacks Take Third Place In FWC

Mayes, Barnum Lead Humboldt To 27-19 Thriller Over Sacramento State Hornets In Redwood Bowl

Humboldt State's Lumberjacks ended their Far Western Conference season victoriously last week with a thrilling 27-19 win over the Sacramento State Hornets.

The Jacks were paced by the running of halfbacks Marion Mayes and Earl Barnum, who scored a pair of touchdowns apiece, and thus gained a first division finish and third place in the FWC for the 1957 season.

Mayes, who took top running honors for the game, scored on a 39 yard pass play from quarterback Warren Baker in the first quarter to give the Jacks a 7-0 lead, and then scored the touchdown to put it on ice for the Humboldters.

Incidentally, Mayes left the game early in the third period with an injury to his left knee, but came back into the game in the final minutes.

Barnum, who turned in an excellent offensive game, brought the fans to their feet, when he returned a Hornet punt 65 yards to the end zone, with the aid of a key block from end Dave Thomas.

Mayes Stars

The first score set up by Dick Donley, who intercepted quarterback Fred Scott's pass on the HSC 48. Two plays later, Baker hit Mayes on a screen pass on the 30, and the fleet-footed halfback wasted little time going the remaining distance to the goal line. Bob Renwick kicked the PAT and it was 7-0.

Sacramento took the kickoff and quickly moved to their first score. Starting from their own 38, the Hornets took only seven plays to go the distance. Scott passed to end Dan Chamberlain for the final 27 yards. The extra point attempt from placement by Scott was no good and the Jacks lead 7-6 at the end of the first quarter.

It was halfway through the second quarter when reserve signal caller Tom Zunino punted to Barnum, who, going full speed when he caught the ball, went through two defenders and, with Thomas giving him the necessary block, went into the end zone untouched. Renwick's kick was again good and it was 14-6.

Sacramento was unable to move after the kickoff and was forced to punt. With the aid of a clipping penalty, the Hornets pushed the Jacks back to their own three. On second down, Baker's pitchout went wild and it was recovered by guard Ray Sareeram for a Hornet touchdown.

After the Hornets had stopped the Jacks on the Sacramento 18, Sacramento started a drive of their own, going to the air for gains of 45 and 25 yards. These two completions were the only ones of the second half and they were put to gether for 70 of the 82 yards in the scoring drive. The second pass gave the Hornets a first down on the Jack three and it took them only two plays to make it, with Zunino going over from the one. Zunino added the extra point and Sacramento lead 19-14.

Jacks Go Ahead

Early in the fourth quarter Zunino got a poor pass from center on an attempted punt and elected to run, but was stopped short on the Hornet 36. Five plays later Baker hit Bill Hicks on a tackle eligible pass. A 15 yard personal foul penalty then gave the Jacks a first down on the three. On third down Barnum went over from a foot out and the Jacks lead 20-19 when Renwick's kick was wide.

Late in the final period the Hornets were threatening again when tackle Dick Cahill recovered a Sacramento fumble on the HSC 24. However, Humboldt was thrown back to their own three by a penalty. McAninch quick kicked on third down and a Hornet back was signaling for a fair catch when another Hornet backed under the ball and was hit on the helmet by the pigskin. When the live ball was recovered, it was Jack guard Roy Escarcego who had it and the Jacks had a first down on the Hornet 33.

After two plays had gotten nine yards, Mayes cut off right tackle and sped by the defenders for 24 yards and the clinching touchdown.

Baker reported for practice this week for the first time after the finish of football season last week and is coming along well, however, he probably will not see too much action for the first few games.

Tom Schubert, a forward letterman, has been suffering from a bad back for the past few weeks and has been limited in his workouts with the squad.

Tonight's game will mark the beginning of a gruelling 25 game schedule for the Lumberjacks. Next week they travel to Parkland, Washington, to play Pacific Lutheran College. This team finished third in the NAIA national finals in Kansas City last year and is reputed to be even stronger this season, with two men who were chosen to the NAIA all star team back.

Local fans will get a good chance to see the basketball team this year with the new gym and all; also the Jacks play 12 consecutive home games with the exception of the Far Western Conference Tourney at Sacramento, beginning with the Central Washington games Dec. 18 and 19 until the Jan 31 and Feb. 1 games against San Francisco State.

HAMILTON FIELD DEFEATS SPIRITED JUNIOR JACKS

The powerful, All-American laden Hamilton Air Force Base Defenders showed the Junior Jacks a powerpacked offense and a rock wall defense Friday, Nov. 22, and handed the Humboldters a 48-13 tromping.

The defenders, many of whom are property of professional teams, were played on even ground for ten minutes of the opening period and for the entire third quarter. The Air Force team's second unit was well matched for the fired-up Junior Jacks, who were playing the last game of the 1957 season.

A bad pass from center on an attempted punt gave Hamilton a first down on the HSC six, and fullback Eric Kuykendall went over from there in the next play for the first score.

Quarterback Pepper Rodgers, formerly of Georgia Tech, engineered the Defenders next drive, which got them the six points in 11 plays and going 64 yards.

Rodgers passed to end Terry DeBay for 48 yards to get the next score, and it was 19-0.

Fred Whitmire came off the Junior Jack bench to hit three receivers in a row to get the first Humboldt score. A 64 yarder to Manuel Vasquez got the touchdown.

One more touchdown and a safety gave the Defenders a 28-6 halftime edge.

In the third quarter, Hamilton played their second unit, and the Jacks played them on even terms, with neither team scoring.

Hamilton scored twice in the final period with Rodgers at the helm, to make it 41-6 before the Junior Jacks hit the scoreboard again. It was Whitmire to Vasquez again, this time for 62 yards. Bob Renwick kicked the extra point and it was 41-13.

The last Hamilton TD came on a 10 yard pass play from Rodgers to Ron Bane after Rodgers had set it up with a 45 yard aerial to halfback Ron Cook.

Both teams used the air lanes for most of their yardage, as the Defenders and Junior Jacks both attempted 29 passes and completed 14. Hamilton got 297 yards out of their completions and Humboldt 213 yards through the air.

Barnum, Mayes And Baker Top Grid Statistics

Halfbacks Earl Barnum and Marion Mayes led the 1957 Lumberjacks grid squad in rushing, and quarterback Warren Baker led the team in passing, according to statistics released recently by NAIA student statistician Jack Evans.

Mayes had the highest rushing average, with 512 yards gained in 85 plays for a 6.0 yard average. Barnum gained the most yards, 612, in 109 carries, an average of 5.6 yards per carry.

Baker, who got off to a slow start, came on strong in the last few games and finished the campaign with 83 completions out of 161 attempts, for a total of 1150 yards and a 115 yard average per game.

Barnum also led the scoring with 42 points. Fullback Chuck McAninch was second in the scoring department with 34 points, four touchdowns and 10 conversions.

End Dave Thomas caught 15 aeriels for 280 yards and three touchdowns for an average of 42 yards per game, for the leading pass catcher.

As a team, the Jacks scored 180 points to the opponents 185, in winning 4 and losing 6 games. Humboldt gained a total of 3135 yards in the ten games, 1694 rushing and 1441 in the air. All Lumberjacks opponents amassed a total of 2608 yards, 1864 rushing and 744 passing.

PIONEERS TAKE THRILLER OVER HSC

SOMETHING

By TOM FAY

Well, football is officially over on the HSC campus and the sound of tennis shoes and bouncing basketballs filled both gymnasiums as the varsity and the Junior Jacks prepare for games this weekend.

The Varsity hits the road to Ashland tonight to meet the SOC Red Raiders. The J. V.'s will be in Shasta tonight and tomorrow night playing the Shasta J. V. Knights. Next Tuesday Humboldt makes its first home appearance in its new gym against the Harlem Clowns in an exhibition game. The Clowns usually put on a good show and provide lots of laughs - makes the game worthwhile.

Football Coach Phil Sarboe received a telegram from Hamilton Air Force Base this week - "Congratulations on your victory Saturday (over Sacramento State.) Thanks for the hospitality. (signed) Hamilton Football Team. Hamilton beat the Junior Jacks 48-13.

Incidentally, over one prediction of the year came through - There was no snow and Humboldt walloped the Hornets from Sacramento State, 27-19.

The Sacramento State team and coaching staff lodged a complaint against the officiating of this game, and it will be discussed by league officials on this campus this weekend.

The J. V. Basketballers got a bug last week. No, no, not a flu bug - a beard bug. They cultivated their hair crop until it grew obnoxious in the eyes of Coach Henry Cooper, and he told them to knock it off, literally. They're baby-faced again.

The Jacks went down to defeat in the last game of the football season on Thanksgiving Day by only 4 points, at the hands of Lewis and Clark college. It was a strictly offensive battle all the way, a good game to watch and satisfied 3500 fans who turned out to watch it on a balmy afternoon.

Warren Baker, Humboldt's ace passing quarterback, was ranked seventh among small college passers before the Lewis and Clark game. Final statistics will be out soon.

The work of the grounds keeper is never done - less than a week after the end of football season the HSC maintenance staff was busy seeding, and rolling the Redwood Bowl field in preparation for the 1958 season, still some nine months away.

Note to disappointed duck hunters - If you think you're a good shot but haven't had a chance to prove it because the ducks wouldn't come around, try shooting jack snipe. The season opened Sunday, and if you really want a challenge, go down to the Arcata Bottom, find an unposted field and tramp across it until a small brown bird explodes, zig-zags in front of you about 47 times and is gone before you get your gun to your shoulder. Then be ready next time, and after about ten unsuccessful shots you may get one.

The limit is eight and they are fine eating, although small.

Junior Jacks To Meet Shasta JC Five In Redding

Humboldt's Junior Jack hoopers continue their young season this weekend at Redding, when they meet the Shasta JC in a two game series Friday and Saturday nights.

Last weekend the Junior Jacks dumped Fort Bragg 36-17 at Fort Bragg and hope to fare as well this weekend. High scorer last week was Mike Seymore with 10 points while Jerry Buda contributed six markers to the Jack cause.

Coach Hank Cooper reports that his team is rather young and inexperienced but will win its share of the games. With the loss of Jerry Hathaway to the varsity, the center post is not as strong as last season, however, the team is very strong at the forward positions, said Cooper.

Last year the JV squad defeated Shasta four times, however, this year Cooper is expecting a little rougher time from

FWC Will Hold Weekend League Meeting At HSC

Humboldt State College will host the meeting of the Far Western Conference athletic officials today and tomorrow in their annual conference.

Starting at 9 a.m. this morning and running through tomorrow afternoon, the meeting will take up problems in conference athletic competition.

One of the major projects will be drawing up of the schedules for the spring sports of baseball, track, golf and tennis.

This is the first time in six years that the Far Western Conference meeting has been held at HSC, as the league schools take turns in hosting the affair.

Selections and announcement of the All Far Western Conference 1957 football team will be made tomorrow.

Expected to occupy a great deal of the time is the discussion of officiating at the conference football games.

Brant season opens this Sunday, December 8, with a limit of three birds. Scullers in the bay report good concentrations of Brant, along with numerous Canvasbacks. The boys who can put out big spreads of deeks experienced wonderful shooting this past week.

Wilson Snipe are shootable this month, limit eight birds. Check a Peterson "Field Guide to the Western Birds" for positive identification before you go out. No mistakes allowed.

Steelheading should be excellent in the Eel and Mad Rivers, with the rivers clear, the time propitious. However, the fish are not cooperating. Probably afraid to enter the rivers because of the carnage among their elders last season. The Smith has been producing salmon in tidewater and small steelhead upstream, but the water is a little too clear. Salmon have been working in and out of the mouth for the past few weeks. Possibly the recent light rains will encourage the fish to enter and start their way upstream.

A proposed Duck Stamp increase to $3 will likely bring howls from many sportsmen, and they have a right to howl. As originally set up, funds from Duck Stamp sales were suppose

Jacks Drop 31-27 Decision In Season Finale To Lewis And Clark In Heart-Stopping Finish

Although Humboldt State's Lumberjacks went down to defeat, 31-27, at the hands of the Lewis and Clark Pioneers in the season finale none of the 3500 Thanksgiving Day fans present were disappointed as they were treated to the most thrilling gridiron contest of the year.

Strictly an offensive battle, the game was a see-saw scrap that saw the lead change hands before the Pioneers finally came out on top. And even then Humboldt staged a last second rally that had the 3500 fans on their feet as the final gun sounded.

Trailing by 11 points with less than three minutes left the Jacks got a touchdown, kicked off and held Lewis and Clark. With a minute and a half left Humboldt took over on its own nine after a punt.

Senior quarterback Jack Menzia hit Darol Foster with a pass on the Humboldt 40 and Foster rambled to the Pioneer 19 before being brought down. With 24 seconds left Menzia faded back and shot a pass intended for Dave Thomas in the left corner of the end zone. Thomas was well covered by a Lewis and Clark man and, although both touched the ball, neither was able to keep possession of the pigskin and it fell to the ground.

With five seconds left Humboldt ran the same play and came within a cat's whisker of pulling it out as Thomas, winding up a brilliant two year career for the Jacks, made a desperation jump and got a hold of the ball but was unable to come down with it as the final gun sounded.

Thus ended a rather disappointing year for the Jack gridgers that saw them end with a 4-6 mark. Six seniors, Menzia, Thomas, quarterback Warren Baker, tackle Jerry Bartlett, guard Jim Ennis, and fullback Ralph Mayo, ended their college football careers in the game.

Lewis and Clark marched down the field to their first score after taking the opening kickoff. They went 75 yards on nine plays with fullback Larry Groves going over from one yard out.

But Humboldt took the lead two minutes later when halfback Marion Mayes, the game's outstanding runner, plunged over from two yards away to cap a 80 yard six-play drive. Mayes led the advance with a 58 yard romp on the first play of the series. Bob Renwick booted the extra point to make it 7-6.

Later in the first quarter HSC made it 14-6 on a 15 yard pass from fullback Chuck McAninch to Baker. Again Mayes played a major role in the drive, ripping off a 40 yard run in the five-play series.

Lewis and Clark scored their second tally early in the second quarter when halfback Ken Stodd rammed it over from three yards out to climax a drive.

The Pioneers recovered a Jack fumble with about two minutes left in the half and took a 19-14 intermission lead with 15 seconds left in the second stanza on a 21 yard pass from quarterback Royce McDaniel to halfback Dave Jeans.

Humboldt moved in front 20-19 when they marched the second half kickoff back 53 yards in ten plays with fullback Mayo carrying it over from two yards out.

But late in the third period the Pioneers went ahead to stay when McDaniel engineered a 62-yard 12-play drive in which he himself went the last three. And they iced it midway through the last quarter when they recovered a Humboldt fumble and went 58 yards on a dozen plays. Again McDaniel scored, this time from four yards out.

Humboldt came right back, using ten plays to go 75 yards. Mayes scored it on a two yard plunge. When Renwick kicked the extra point there was 2:55 left in the game with the score 31-27.

Cal Tjader's Jazz And Latin Group To Give Performance Here Dec. 16

Cal Tjader and his jazz and Latin group will be at Humboldt State College Dec. 16. The concert will commence at 8 p. m. in the new men's gymnasium. Admission will be $1 for students with activity cards and $1.50 will be charged for general admission. High school cards will be honored.

CAL. TJADER

The jazz concert is being sponsored by the Associated Student Body in cooperation with the Humboldt Jazz Society. It is the second in a series of jazz concerts. Pete Jolly and his jazz group consisting of Jack Montrose, Sonny Criss, Donna Fuller and his rhythm group entertained the local jazz enthusiasts last year.

Cal Tjader is an alumnus of the original Dave Brubeck Octet and played vibes with George Shearing for two years before going on his own.

Recently Tjader packed the crowds into Ciro's in Hollywood for two straight weeks. This was unique in the light that Ciro's had never had jazz entertainment before in the history of the establishment.

More recently Tjader finished a highly successful stand at the London House in Chicago. This is reputed to be the hottest jazz point in the United States. And then to bring Tjader completely up to date he is just returning from a two week engagement at the Birdland in New York.

Thus far Tjader has recorded seven or more long play and extended play albums. These include his latin numbers "Mambo with Tjader," "Ritmo Caliente," "Tjader Plays Mambo," "The Cal Tjader Quintet," and "Latin Kick." The other jazz records are "Tjader Plays Jazz" and the "Cal Tjader Quartet."

New Ideas

The personnel of the group is in a constant flux of changes as Tjader is constantly experimenting with new ideas. The group which Tjader will bring up to Humboldt State consists of Tjader on vibes, Vince Guaraldi on the piano, Eugene Wright on bass, Al Torre on drums and timbales and Louis Kant on congas.

Cal Tjader may be associated with the Club Blackhawk in San Francisco as this is where he made his great hit on the west coast. In addition to this he made a recording entitled "Jazz at the Blackhawk."

Jazz Tour

Tjader, who has played many college dates, is soon to start on another jazz tour. This time he shall travel with Norman Granz and his Jazz a la Carte group. This group will include Dave Brubeck, Ella Fitzgerald, Gerry Mulligan and other jazz men.

Jazz a la Carte is touring all up and down the coast. The main cities they will hit are Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Portland and Seattle.

'Rivals'

young anguished lover caught up in the torments of indecision and inaction, finally finds his true love, Julia, (Jean Huckfeldt) an even-tempered and conscience-bound girl.

Miss Lydia Languish (Margaret Douglas) offers fine contrast to her guardian, Mrs. Malaprop, and is "the girl" for Captain Jack.

The role, however, which seems the most convincing in its portrayal is that of Bob Acres (Bill Livingston). Livingston appears to really enjoy his role, playing it to the hilt, bringing the part alive. Bob Acres is really Bob Acres, seeming, in fact, a true personality.

Overdrawn Example

"The Rivals," though, is, of course, an overdrawn example of manners and human follies; one would not expect to meet these characters on the street. They are, rather, personifications of qualities which are found in most persons, and in some, more so than in others, and when exaggerated and stylized become comic and enjoyable.

Two of the "rivals" in the persons of Wally Sinclair as Capt. Jack and Hal Lewis as Sir Lucious O'Trigger duel in the play of the same name now being presented on the HSC stage. Herb McLellan as Sir Anthony Absolute looks on. The second performance of "The Rivals" is tonight at 8 p. m.

Tickets for performances to-night and tomorrow night, and also next Friday and Saturday evenings, may be obtained during afternoons in the Language Arts office, at one dollar for adults and 50 cents for students and children. Activity card holders will be admitted free. —JCF
