Miller States Position In Press Meeting On Local, State Issues

(Ed. Notes: Two Lumberjack representatives, Kay Morrison and Dave Maxon, were present at Congressman Clem Miller's press conference held Tuesday. The following article contains some of the highlights of that conference.)

Congressman Clement W. Miller, representing the north part of the state, went on record in favor of the Wilderness Bill and expressed optimism for further appropriations towards completion of the jetties of Humboldt Bay at a press conference held in the Eureka Planning Commission office at 4 p. m. Tuesday.

A question on the Wilderness Preservation Bill was brought up first and the legislator assured reporters that he was in favor of the bill as it now stands. This bill has been changed from its original form after its introduction in the last session of Congress and, as he pointed out, its opponents will find that their objections to the original have been met.

An appropriation of $400,000 from the Omnibus Rivers and Harbors Bill for improvements on the jetty is needed now as part of the entire $200 million job and although the budget is tight and in the Congressman's words "tough to crack," his hopes are high for its passage. The Corps of Engineers is investigating the feasibility of taking over the job, since the last private contractor went broke without finishing the job, jeopardizing the $250,000 worth of work already spent on it. Large contractors don't want the job and for value per dollar spent, he commented, the Engineers would do a good job.

Hal Wood, UPI Sports Reporter, To Address HSC Journalism Day

One of the nation's foremost sports reporters, Hal Wood of United Press International, will be the featured speaker at the annual Journalism Day on campus Saturday, April 11. Mr. Wood, Pacific Division sports editor for UPI, San Francisco, will address Humboldt State and high school journalism students at 2 p. m. in room 130, Music Building, on "The Importance of Sports in the Daily Newspaper."

His talks will highlight a full day of activities on campus, beginning at 9:30 a. m. when students register in the Coop. A newswriting contest also will be conducted for the high school students, with cash prizes to be awarded.

Journalism Day is sponsored annually by the college and the Eureka Newspapers, Inc. High school students from Humboldt, Del Norte, and Trinity counties have been invited. Humboldt State students interested in journalism as a vocation, whether currently enrolled in journalism classes or not, may participate by signing up in the News Service office, upstairs in the Coop, or with Dr. Milton Hollstein, publications adviser.

Family Tradition

Mr. Wood's family has been in the newspaper game 154 years, and he himself has been an active newspaperman for 30 years. His first job was as sports editor of the Twin Falls, Idaho, Times-News. He moved from there to the San Diego Union, then to the San Diego Tribune, joining United Press in 1943.

He has covered every big sports story in the west since joining UPI. His assignments have included every Rose Bowl game since

London, HSC Pair To Compete In International Debate Monday

The fourth International Debate on the HSC campus will be held next Monday at 8 p. m. in the HSC auditorium.

Representing the University of London will be E. C. Dalrymple-Alford, born in Calcutta and vice-president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, and Frederick William Crawford, who is a doctor of engineering.

Home Economists To Meet Here

The Home Economics Club on campus will sponsor the Bay Area Home Economists meeting tomorrow from 10 a. m. to noon in the Art-Home Economics Building.

Guest speaker will be Ruth Crawford, home extension agent for the University of California Farm and Home Service in this area. The title of Miss Crawford's talk will be, "Home Economics on the East Coast." It will include slides of the places she visited on her recent trip back East. Among these slides will be shots of the work being done in the Good Housekeeping kitchens and clothing construction methods in J. C. Penney Co.

Attending this district meeting will be all graduate home economists in the area.

Both of these men are teachers in London. They have just finished a tour of the mid-western states, and they will visit the University of California at Berkeley, Los Angeles, and Santa Barbara, and San Jose and San Diego State Colleges.

HSC will be represented by Don Peterson, student body president and a previous winner of the Speech I Contest, and Ed Spencer, Pi Kappa Delta president and captain of the debate squad.

Signs of the time department: The Administration building will undergo a change of name this summer. When administrative offices are moved to a new building across from Nelson Hall, the "Ad Building" will take on the name "Founder's Hall." The name was chosen to commemorate citizens who aided in HSC's growth. A plaque, bearing the name of persons who have worked for Humboldt State, will be hung in the building. A group of students, under the direction of Dr. Hyman Palais, professor of history, is considering names to be entered on the plaque. This is the third name change for the oldest — and for many years the only building on campus — which was originally known as "Main Building." After the administrative offices are moved the building will be used primarily for classes in humanities and as an audio-visual department. Classes in Founder's Hall" ... anyone?

A grant of $1000 has been awarded to John D. Cherry, HSC senior, by the National Wildlife Federation for continued study in game management. Cherry was one of 33 students, from a field of 174 to be selected by the Federation's Conservation Education committee. The grants will be used for study during the 1959-1960 academic year.

Journalism day is scheduled for April 11. So, if you are interested in journalism, whether currently enrolled in journalism classes or not, you are invited to attend the program. Professional newsmen give the "inside scoop" and a film will be shown. A luncheon will be held. If you plan to attend sign up in the News Service office.

Spring ... and the silly season. This year spring has brought a new college pastime with it. Stuffing telephone booths with college students that it, has turned into an international contest. Colleges from as far away as Africa are trying to set records. So far the record is held by Lambda Chi Alpha frat of Oklahoma City University. There was a total of 33 LCA members squeezed into a booth measuring 32 cubic feet ... giving students just enough space to breathe? This surpassed the old record of 32 set by Modesto Junior College (California). The OCU students had hoped to place a call to the California junior college informing them of the feat. However, they could not get the receiver off the hook due to the fact they were crammed so tightly around the telephone. One rule for the contest ... only a part of the body must be inside the booth for the whole person to be counted. Oh well, at least it provides more exercise for a weary student than the frog jumping race which will be held at the University of Toledo on April 24. This contest is advertised as the "world championship" frog race ... and where are HSC's delegates?

Deadline Next Week For Campus Contest

Friday, April 10, has been set as the deadline for entering of designs for Humboldt State College's Flag and School Seal. Students, faculty, and members of the community are invited to submit designs.

Designs are to be submitted to Mr. Max Butler, associate professor of art. Prizes of $25 merchandise orders will be given for the best design of each flag and seal.

Judges for the contest will be three faculty members, President Cornelius H. Siemens, and one student from the Associated Student Body at large.

Used to be that come spring ... a young man's fancy turned to thoughts of girls ... you know what I mean ... used to be when I was a kid we would think about the chicks. All the cats would wander down on the drag (street to you, man) and eyeball the skirts.

Editor's Mailbox

Dear Editor:

I, for one, am getting fed up with the shallow, muddy, leftist liberalism exhibited in debate over the loyalty oath provisions of the Defense Education Act.

C. E. Brodie's remarks published in the March 20 Lumberjack are a case in point. He argues rightly that the college faculty and administration was presumptuous in assuming it had any control or responsibility over funds entrusted to its administration, but he failed to note that if the faculty and administration did assume responsibility for the implications of a federal act, this would be the first step toward local and state control of the public schools. We all know where that leads.

Furthermore, while the statement that a refusal to comply with majority will in the loyalty oath case is prima facie evidence that the social contract has been violated, if not outright treason, Brodie does not go far enough. It's obvious that the social contract must be renewed at least daily, because any individual may change his mind after a given lecture.

Let us assure our liberty by beginning each class with a mass recital of the loyalty oath. This is perfectly consistent with the idea that no student should receive instruction at state expense until he proves himself worthy and loyal to the state.

I agree that any student who shows such independence of mind as to refuse should be relieved of his citizenship, but I emphatically deny that he should be commended for it, or "given transportation outside the boundaries of this country."

Brodie here shows the effects of modern educational brain-washing. We all know that the Free World is engaged in mortal struggle with the Slave World of Communism. And we all know that there is no middle ground. To exile traitors who refuse to comply simply adds one more unit to the un-American forces. Let's exterminate the opposition once and for all. There must be a few gas ovens left over from Buchenwald and Dachau to accomplish our purpose.

Remember it was Thomas Paine who said, "Those who expect to reap the blessings of freedom must, like men, undergo the fatigues of supporting it."

McManus New Head Of Psychology Club

Mike McManus, senior from Eureka, was elected president of the Psychology Club at a recent meeting. McManus will be assisted by Paul Conner, vice president; Beverly Batten, secretary; Mike Hill, treasurer; and Don Shupe, ICS Representative.

Approximately 50 students majoring and minoring in psychology belong to the club, which assisted in the recent Psychology Visitation Day. The club has also submitted a constitution to the Executive Council for approval.

Nowadays though, the habits of the cats have changed. What I mean is that the profs are ruining our psychosomatic makeup. They are way out man ... what I mean, see ya later. Every night it's hit the page, what I mean ... book it up.

It's gonna drive all us normal cats to a crackup ... Man, these folk have no feelings for mental stability ... what I mean, man, is that it's inbred ... In spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of dames. Can't they understand. I just can't dig their lack of feelings ... ought to have a "Young Man's Fancy Week." We could curtail all homework and tests, and turn out to dig the crazy spring garb. But no! Got to hit the books. Seems like spring is the time when they pile it on. Gives us cats no time to stabilize our emotions. What I mean, see ya later, dad ... I just can't stand the gaff.

Remember a pal of mine back at old C. U. Was pretty stable cat through the winter ... would slip down for a brew between classes, usually managed to book it up twice a week and got along fine. But, spring rolled around ... and being normally male his fancy turned. About this time it happened ... all of the intellectuals on campus got together in their monthly faculty meeting and hatched their annual plot to wreck our stability. About April ... it broke ... papers, tests, homework, activities ... Well, this was the living end ... my old buddy was really out to lunch. Booked it up so much his eyes couldn't take the strain ... had to wear colored glasses and missed everything ... poor guy cracked up ... what I mean he went way out. That was the year all the chicks wore Bikinis to class and he didn't find out until five months later.

Sa stand by cats ... it's about to begin. But don't forget your stability ... be wise, be smart, but above all be stable ... what I mean ... rock solid, and don't forget to eyeball. Mmmmm, there goes an interesting shaped umbrella now.

THE CARE AND FEEDING OF ROOM-MATES

Room-mates are not only heaps of fun, but they are also very educational, for the proper study of mankind is man, and there is no better way to learn the dreams and drives of another man than to share a room with him.

This being the case, it is wise not to keep the same room-mate too long, because the more room-mates you have, the more you will know about the dreams and drives of your fellow man. So try to change room-mates as often as you can. A recent study made by Sigafos of Princeton shows that the best interval for changing room-mates is every four hours.

How do you choose a room-mate? Most counselors agree that the most important thing to look for in room-mates is that they be people of regular habits. This, I say, is arrant nonsense. What if one of their regular habits happens to be beating a Chinese gong from midnight to dawn? Or growing cultures in your tooth glass? Or reciting the Articles of War?

Regular habits, my foot! The most important quality in a room-mate is that he should be exactly your size. Otherwise you will have to have his clothes altered to fit you, which can be a considerable nuisance. In fact, it is sometimes flatly impossible. I recollect one time I roomed with a man named Osage Tremblatt who was just under seven feet tall and weighed nearly four hundred pounds. There wasn't a blessed thing I could use in his entire wardrobe—until one night when I was invited to a masquerade party. I cut one leg off a pair of Tremblatt's trousers, jumped into it, sewed up both ends, and went to the party as a bolster. I took second prize. First prize went to a girl named Antenna Radnitz who poured molasses over her head and went as a candied apple.

But I digress. Let us turn back to the qualities that make desirable room-mates. Not the least of these is the cigarettes they smoke. When we bum cigarettes, do we want them to be shoddy and nondescript? Certainly not! We want them to be distinguished, gently reared, zestful and singy. And what cigarette is distinguished, gently reared, zestful and singy? Why, Philip Morris, of corris! Any further questions?

To go on. In selecting a room-mate, find someone who will wear well, whom you'd like to keep as a permanent friend. Many of history's great friendships first started in college. Are you aware, for example, of the remarkable fact that Johnson and Boswell were room-mates at Oxford in 1712? What makes this fact so remarkable is that in 1712 Johnson was only three years old and Boswell had not yet been born. But, of course, children matured earlier in those days. Take Mozart, who wrote his first symphony at four. Or Titian, who painted his first masterpiece at five. Or Hanso Felbgung, who was in many ways the most remarkable of all; he was appointed chief of the Copenhagen police department at the age of six!

It must be admitted, however, that he did badly. Criminals roamed the city, robbing and looting at will. They knew little Hanso would never pursue them—he was not allowed to cross the street.

If you are allowed to cross the street, tie yourself to a tobaccoist and stock up on Philip Morris, outstanding among non-filter cigarettes, or Marlboro, the filter cigarette with better "makin's." Pick your pleasure.

omy of school construction was answered with the observation that this is the responsibility of the people of the State concerned.

Representative Miller is in favor of Senate Bill No. 75, the Bill-board Control legislation affecting the proposed Federal aid highways. The government, he says, certainly has the right to require advertising controls on the highways it subsidizes. The legislator went further, saying that he would back a stiff election control law dealing with campaign advertising, if one is drafted. Representative Miller's own Marin County features a strong Billboard control system.

Local support for school construction, as projected to 1970 by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce cannot hope to support school building needs on the present tax base system, he stated, adding that partial remedy will be found by greater utilization of existing facilities and more efficiency of the teacher force but the unsaid fact remains that Federal aid to education is here to stay.

Mr. Miller has faith in Speaker Sam Rayburn's pledge that major legislation, such as Federal School financing will not be bottled up in the Rules Committee.

The Kennedy Bill with its support of domestic industries adversely affected by low tariffs has the firm support of the legislator. He maintains that this is much cheaper than supporting Japan, for example, if the tariffs on various imports are put high enough to keep out her products.

Delta Sig Pledges Kidnap Actives

The Delta Sigma Phi pledge class made its traditional sneak last Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Several of the pledges, including Jack Mays, Jim McCloskey, John Hartley, Ross Stromberg, and Dennis Cleveland, secretly caught several actives and held them captive for 24 hours. After the capture the kidnap party and their prisoners joined the rest of the pledge class, Bill Guimond, Jack Hill, Tom Hedges, Fred Morse, and Gary Simpson.

After keeping the prisoners until Thursday afternoon, the pledges made a dramatic and victorious return to campus. The reward for making a successful sneak was a turn-about-day in which the pledges took the role of actives, and the actives returned to their pledge days.

The Lookout

By BARBARA DODD

Dr. Kenneth O. Emery, S. C. oceanographer, is spending the Southern California, Daily Trojan next six months studying sediments of the Dead Sea, the world's saltiest lake. He will make his research headquarters at the Israel Geological Survey in Jerusalem.

Science is not sure just how salt from the sea is left on the bottom or on shore, and Dr. Emery seeks to uncover this information.

"Cores drilled from the bottom of the Dead Sea are expected to measure for the last 10,000 years, and since few animals are able to live in the 26 per cent salt content of the water, the lake's bottom is virtually undisturbed. Salt deposited there by rainstorms undoubtedly lies in layers," says Dr. Emery.

The S. C. geology professor will also look for evidence of ancient salt manufacturing plants along the shore. Aerial photographs have shown ancient dikes beneath the surface of the sea which were used centuries ago to speed evaporation of water and recover of salt. Dr. Emery will try to find these old dikes and also ancient harbors which might have been used by ships on the Dead Sea.

Southern California, Daily Trojan

REDWOOD LOGGING INDUSTRY VITAL IN HUMBOLDT HISTORY

BY GARY E. MUNSEY

The story of the development of the redwood lumber industry on the Northern California coast forms an interesting chapter in the history of this state. The California redwood, or coast redwood (Sequoia sempervirens), is found nowhere in the world except along the California coast. It is second of size only to the giant sequoia of the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

The early-day Mexicans regarded the North coast of California of little value, due to its lack of grazing land. The start of lumbering in the redwood region may be attributed, in great part at least, to the California gold rush of the mid-nineteenth century. The opening of mines in Trinity County and later in Del Norte County brought the redwoods into prominence. Men who were disappointed in their search for gold, entered the redwood lumbering industry to make a living.

One such early day logger stated, "There is more value in the redwoods in the county of Humboldt alone than all the gold found in all the mines of all the counties of California since 1848 to the present time." History shows that this prediction was not far wrong.

So rapid was this influx of gold seekers into the lumber industry, that by 1853 Humboldt County alone had a population of over 800 settlers who derived their living from lumbering.

The first mill in the redwood region was built in Santa Cruz prior to 1849 by Captain Stephen Smith. This mill supplied lumber to San Francisco and the Bay Area. Their was little real excitement over lumbering, however, until the gold rush occurred. Some of these early miners-turned loggers, later became prominent men in the logging industry.

The first sawmill in the northern belt of the redwoods was built in the fall of 1850 on Humboldt Bay. This mill was able to saw only 600 feet of wood a day and eventually proved to be unsuccessful. However, more successful mills were to follow. These early mills used steam driven gang, upright, and circular saws. Perhaps two of the most memorable lumber pioneers were William Carson and John Dolbeer, who formed the company of Dolbeer and Carson, a company which is still operating.

In the later part of the 1850's, many small mills were erected. However, due to the fact that their operators were for the most part from the fir and pine regions, the mills were of small capacity and therefore inadequate to handle the giant redwood logs. The use of steam in the mills brought many fires. The sawdust accumulation of the mills made a dangerous fire hazard, and it was not uncommon for a mill to burn down and be rebuilt two or three times.

A Hard Life

The strong, happy-go-lucky lumberjacks, who felled the forest giants, had a very unpleasant job at best. They worked hard long hours in all kinds of weather, with the demon of death often ready to take them by surprise. They endured the drudgeries of work for the money, usually $50 a week plus board. It was indeed a hard life for sturdy men.

Logging in the early days of the redwood region usually was continued for about nine months out of the year. The logs were cut in summer and then with the rising winter streams, were floated down to the mills. If the rivers rose sharply, the logs often came hurtling down the rampaging waters, taking bridges and other objects in the path of the tumbling logs.

Much of the early day logging was done on Government land with little regard to ownership of timber.

The tree fellers usually worked in pairs with saws and axes, standing on spring boards driven into the giant trees. When the fellers had brought the giant trees to the ground, the foliage was burned off of the tree, and then the logs were bucked into the desired length, transported to the rivers by oxen and floated to the mills for sawing. This method of logging proved to be extremely wasteful. It is estimated that approximately 80 per cent of the tree was wasted due to breakage in falling, and to waste in sawing the logs. Part of this waste may be attributed to the fact that the majority of the operators did not at first realize the value of the redwood trees. In fact they often cut pine in preference to the redwood trees. This attitude changed markedly, of course, when the market for redwood lumber was improved.

Increase In Mills

During the period from 1861 to 1880, 17 new mills were built in the redwood region. In addition to growth in number, new innovations in mill work came into being. At the Dolly Varden mill in Arcata, the first band saw was installed in 1874.

Although the sturdy ox was the mainstay of transportation in early logging, the logging railroad began to make its appearance in Humboldt county around 1874. Other new techniques in logging began to formulate with the invention of the mechanical donkey engine. The "Donkey" was used to hoist logs up the steep hillsides by use of cables. These highlead shows or cable logging methods, were very destructive to the forest, as were most of the logging techniques of the early loggers. Despite these new mechanized aids to logging, the oxen teams were still used as late as 1890.

With the increase in the redwood market, the early companies tended to acquire as much timber area as possible. Many of the transcontinental railroads owned vast amounts of virgin timber, granted to them on right of way lands.

Market Increases

It is estimated that by 1890, a little more than 9 per cent of the available redwood timber had already been cut.

After the turn of the century, the market for redwood greatly increased. The market has, in fact, continued to grow with few exceptions, to the present time, when the logging is carried out by the constant howl of a chain saw, the logs are skidded by the giant treaded tractors to the landings where they are loaded on trucks to be swiftly taken to the mills to be made into usable products for people throughout the world. A far cry from the early days, when the "bull puncher" swore at his oxen as they skidded the giant logs to the river, the sturdy lumberjacks strained their muscles against the giant redwoods, swinging axes glinted in the sun and the cry of "timber" echoed through the forests, as another giant fell with a deafening roar.

Basic Comparisons Found In Two Of World's Major Religions

(Ed. Note: This is the second in a series of articles on comparative religions by Hushidor (Hugh) Motlagh, HSC student from Tehran, Iran.)

By HUSHIDOR (Hugh) MOTLAGH

It is after the darkness and silence of the night that the sun makes its appearance. In like manner whenever the spiritual life of men has become degenerate and their morals corrupt, a Divine Revealer arises to teach His gospel of righteousness and truth and to illumine the darkened minds and souls of the people.

HUSHIDOR MOTLAGH

Mohammad, the founder of Islam, appeared about 1300 years ago in the peninsula of Arabia among the most savage people who have ever lived. A philosopher has stated that the barbarians of Africa were as much civilized as Plato, compared to the Arabians of the sixth century.

It was shame at that time for an Arabian woman to give birth to a daughter. How often would a girl be buried alive by the hand of her own cruel parent!

Women, on the other hand, had no protection whatsoever. They would be kidnapped or even gambled on as property and were treated as slaves. It was for this reason that Mohammad approved of polygamy, in order to reduce the number of unmarried women who were not being protected.

"Mecca, center of worship for the pagans boasted no less than 350 idols, including effigies of Abraham, Moses, and Jesus." Some of these idols were made of dates and nuts. These sweet gods were, once in a while, swallowed by their hungry creators.

The Singleness of God

It was among such a nation that Mohammad alone, without a single human being capable of teaching, of guiding, or fully understanding him, proclaimed the singleness of God. He said: "Verily they on whom you call beside God could by no means create a fly though they were all assembled for that purpose; nay, were a fly to carry aught from them, they could not take it away from it. Weak of understanding are the worshippers of these false deities and the worshipped ones themselves are destitute of all power, but the true diety is God, who is more powerful than every powerful being. . . ."

Identical Teachings

The spiritual teachings of Islam are identical with those of Christianity as well as other great religions. The following are some of the moral teachings of Islam quoted from the Koran, the Mohammadan Bible.

"There is no piety in turning your faces toward the east or the west (lip service) but he is pious who believeth in God, and the last day, and the angels, and the Scriptures, and the prophets; who for the love of God distributeth his wealth to his kindred, and to the orphans, and the needy, and the wayfarer, and those who ask, and for ransoming; who observeth prayer, and payeth the legal alms, and who is of those who are faithful to their engagement when they have engaged in them, and patient under ills and hardships, and in time of trouble; these are they who are just, and these are they who fear the Lord." P. 356.

"Promote peace among men. . ."

"And speak that which is good to men," "A kind speech and forgiveness is better than alms followed by injury." "The servants of the merciful are those who walk meekly upon the earth." "If a person forgives, he shall receive his reward for it from God." "Verily we are Gods", and to Him shall we return."

Discipline Sought

In the Koran, the principle of reward and punishment has been emphasized to a great extent, in order to reinforce good action. "Fear the day wherein ye shall return to God: then shall every soul be rewarded according to its desert, and none shall have injustice done to him."

Drinking and gambling were so prevalent and so loved by the

Low Bids Submitted For New Cafeteria

Low bids totalling $508,377 for construction of a new cafeteria on campus have been submitted to the State Public Works department. The cafeteria is designed to accommodate 500 persons with provisions for a future additional unit to accommodate another 500.

Low bids submitted were: general work, MacDonald, Young and Nelson, Inc., Oakland, $268,000; heating, Brizard Construction Co., Eureka, $52,800; plumbing, Ed Peterson, Inc., Sonoma, $32,397; electrical work, Brizard Construc-

Arabs, as the best means for enjoyment and pastime, that Mohammad prohibited both of them.

"They ask thee concerning wine and games of chance. Say: (God is commanding) In both is great sin, and advantage also, to men; but their sin is greater than their advantage."

The Golden Rule

Though some of the social teachings of Islam are different from those of Christianity as well as other great religions, but the same Golden Rules are to be found in all the Faiths. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," was the essence of the Christs' teachings. Mohammad taught the same principle when he said: "Do good, for God loveth those who do good."

Baseball Nine Completes Successful Trip

'JACKS DOWN GATORS, DONS, 'CATS, HORNETS, MUSTANGS

By RON KUNSTAL

The Humboldt State Lumberjack varsity baseball team returned home last week to complete the most respectful Easter tour in recent years with an impressive 6-3 mark. The trip was marked by the tremendous hitting of the Jacks which produced 79 hits in the nine-game slate.

Opening up against the defending Far Western Conference champions, the Sacramento State Hornets, the Jacks went for 11 innings and 3 1/2 hours to notch a well earned 8-7 win. Bill Drabble replaced starter Alva Kinney on the mound in the seventh and went on to get the nod. The hitting of the game was led by third baseman Carl Carlson who went three for six at the plate and whose single drove in the winning run in the top of the 11th to score second sacker Ike Peterson.

The win was highlighted by a four run fourth inning in which Carlson opened with a triple, followed by walks to centerfielder Dennis Pontoni and first baseman Ron Reynolds to load the bases. A miscue enabled shortstop Bill Matson to get life and score Carlson from third. Pitcher Kinney blasted a single, and leftfielder Ken Matias sacrificed to score the runs to go ahead 6-3. Sacramento picked up two runs to trail the Jacks by a lone tally. The Green and Gold tallied one run in the eighth to make it 7-5. A Hornet rally knotted the game at 7-7 to send it into extra innings.

Peterson led off the 11th with a sharp sigle, proceeded to steal second, and romped home on Carlson's bingle. Drabble blanked the Hornets in the last half of the inning to preserve the victory.

Jacks Lose

In the seven inning nightcap the Jacks ran into trouble as they were handed a 7-4 setback with Drabble taking the loss. The Hornets scored fast by tallying four runs in the first on two walks, an error and a triple. They also added three more in the third for a 7-0 lead.

The Jacks came alive in the sixth, but scratch singles by Pontoni, Peterson, catcher LeRoy Orozco, and Carlson to load bases with none out resulted in only one run. The Jacks again loaded the bases in the seventh and tallied three times as outfielder Joe Beeson and Drabble walked, followed by a three bag blast by Pontoni who then scored on Peterson's single.

Moving on to Davis where they were entertained by the California Aggies, the Lumberjacks took both ends of a doubleheader by scores of 6-4 and 5-3.

In the opener the Jacks were led by the four for four hitting of leadoff man Joe Beeson. Beeson's hitting included a two-run triple in the sixth which brought the Jacks from behind. The Arcatans struck fast as they went ahead 2-0 in the first on a single by Beeson, a double by Matias, and a follow-up single by Peterson. Tying it up in the second the Aggies took a 4-2 lead in the fifth on three hits.

In the sixth the Jacks erased the lead with three runs on walks to Pontoni and Gary Mauney, followed by Beeson's triple and three straight walks to Matias, Orozco and Peterson. Pontoni hammered a homer over the left field fence in the seventh to add insurance runs. In scoring the victory pitcher Mauney allowed nine hits and had two for three at the plate for himself.

Carlson Stars

The second game was all but iced in the fourth inning as Carlson blasted a three run homerun after Pontoni was safe on an error and Peterson walked. Outfielder Bill Perry, catcher Fred Lundblade, ad pitcher Jack Maze connected for consecutive singles to produce the fourth tally of the inning. The Aggies got back a few runs as they tallied two in the last of the fourth. Perry got on base by an error and scored when Maze whacked a double to cinch his 5-3 win. At this point in the first four games the Lumberjack squad had teed off for 39 hits.

Travelling on to the bay area the Jacks played in a nine inning tussle by the San Francisco State Gators. Pitcher Alva Kinney had a good day as he allowed only four scattered hits while striking out seven. The hitting was sparked by Peterson's three run homer in the fourth and Kinney's triple.

The Jacks opened the first with two runs when Beeson walked, followed by singles by Matias, Carlson and Orozco. The Gators got one back in their half of the inning on a pair of fielder's choice grounders and a passed ball. The Jacks tallied two more in the second on two walks and a pair of passed balls. The Gators knotted it up at 4-4 in the third with two walks, an error and a double.

In the fourth Kinney and Pontoni drew walks at which time Peterson exploded a blast that went to the 495 foot sign in the corner of centerfield making the score 7-4. In the fifth the Bay Arcans scored one run on an error, a single and a fielder's choice. A three-bagger by Kinney and a passed ball gave the Jacks an 8-5 lead in the sixth. They sewed it up in the eighth with three runs on Beeson's double, and singles by Matias and Pontoni, and Carlson's two run double. Kinney shut out the Gators over the final four innings. The Jacks blasted 12 hits to make it 51 in five games with the moundsmen accounting for a 10-15 mark.

Beat Dons

Tangling with a non-conference school, the University of San Francisco Dons, the Jacks belted them by a 6-4 score. Drabble notched the win by giving up six scattered hits while striking out 12, eight of which came in the last six innings. Pacing the batsmen were Orozco who nailed a double and a triple in three trips and Reynolds who had a single, double and two run homer to break them out of slumps. Pontoni also added a circuit clout to the Jack scoreboard.

The Dons jumped to a lead in the first inning on an error and a double. They added three more in the third to rack up a 4-0 lead by tagging Drabble for five straight hits including a double. After having had success in the first three innings he experienced the difficulty in the fourth but changed his tactics to silence the Dons the rest of the way.

The Jacks drew blood in the top of the fourth when Carlson walked and went around on Orozco's triple. They added a pair in the sixth on Reynold's towering home run which cleared the centerfield wall at the 397 foot mark and was still rising. In the top of the seventh the Jacks went ahead with two runs on Pontoni's blast over the same barrier, an error which gave life to Carlson, Orozco's walk and Reynold's double which just missed by inches clearing the fence. In the ninth Orozco doubled and scored on Reynold's single to add insurance runs.

Split With Chico

From the bay area the team moved north to Chico where they split a doubleheader by scores of 9-5 and 8-1 over the rival Chico State Wildcats. In the opener which was a losing effort by a 9-5 margin the Jacks started real slow after Chico had built up a 9-0 lead. Chico opened the first on three singles for two runs. They added two in second and exploded for five in the fourth on four singles and a home run.

In the fifth inning the Jacks scored one run on a walk, fielder's choice and a passed ball. In the sixth they scored two on Pontoni's single, and walks by Orozco and Reynolds followed by Perry's two-run single. The final run was scored when Pontoni singled and scored on Carlson's double. Suffering the loss for the Jacks was Gary Mauney.

In the second game which was won by Humboldt on a 8-1 score, pitcher Maze pitched a six-hitter and had a shutout going for the first four innings. Maze himself broke a scoreless duel in the top of the third when he singled and scored on Drabble's homerun that rolled 500 feet. He almost scored before the ball could be fielded. The Jacks added one in the sixth on walks to Matias and Pontoni, followed by Peterson's single.

In the seventh the Jacks unloaded for five big tallies on Perry's single, Orozco's triple, Maze's walk, singles by Beeson and Drabble, Pontoni's fielder's choice, Peterson's second single and Carlson's sacrifice. Chico's lone tally in the fifth came on two singles and a fielder's choice.

The 16 hits in the two days upped the total to 72 for the road trip. The pitching staff continued to blast as they were 15 for 28.

Go Extra Innings

For the final game of the trip the Jacks played the University of California in a 12 inning 5-4 losing cause. The Jacks rallied for two runs in the top of the ninth to take a 4-3 lead only to have Cal knot it at four all and send it into extra innings.

Beeson continued his hitting rampage as he opened with a single, stole second and scored on Peterson's single to put Humboldt ahead 1-0. Cal tied it at 1-1 in the third on a hit batsman, a sacrifice, and a single. In the fourth the Bears went ahead 2-1 on a single and triple. In the sixth Carlson drew a walk and scored on Reynold's two bagger to tie the score. The Bears came back with a tally in the eighth on a walk, sacrifice, fielder's choice, and an error.

The Jacks roared back in the top of the ninth with two runs on a single by Kinney, followed by a single by Drabble who then stole second. Pontoni unloaded a single which drove in the two runs. With two out in the ninth a walk and an attempted pickoff set up the scoring tally which was scored on a two strike, one-ball single.

A single in the 12th, an advance to second on a fielder's choice and by a wild throw in the Jack infield, the Bears scored the deciding run.

The Jacks collected 79 hits for the nine game trip. They also contributed 10 doubles, six triples, and six homers on the trip. The final statistics for hitting by the pitching crew was 17 hits in 34 times at bat for an amazing .500. Won-loss records for the pitchers showed Maze with 2-0, Kinney with 1-0, Drabble 2-2, and Mauney 1-1.

The lagoons up the coast will be opening for the spring trout season tomorrow. Clam Beach and Freshwater Lagoons will provide trout fishing while Big and Stone Lagoons will also have plenty of fresh run steelhead. Although the bars across the mouths of the outlets are closed, the fish hold in the lower stretches of the lagoons for some time. The limit is three fish and the season will remain open year 'round.

A second forester has been hired during the Easter holidays but at press time no further details were available.

The new bench in the Wildlife Building is certainly a fitting compliment to the wood mural on the stairwell. Massive and simple, its strategic location will be appreciated by students waiting for classes.

Junior Jacks In Second Lose To Eureka High

The Junior Jacks met their second straight loss at the hands of the Eureka High Loggers in a game played last Thursday. The Eurekans put together a five-run rally in the sixth inning to overcome HSC 7-5.

It was Wayne Cussins on the mound for the Junior Jacks until the fifth inning when he twisted his knee and was relieved by Charlie Jones who was tagged with the loss. The HSC nine had a 5-2 lead at the time.

Jones was unable to find control and assisted by a number of walks, an error and a hit the Eurekans made five runs to take their victory.

'No Swimming' At New HSC Pool

Last Monday, the first day back after Easter vacation, "No Swimming" signs went up around the pool.

Something in the pumping apparatus had gone haywire and a new part had to be purchased. However, the new part was available Wednesday and swimming classes resumed Thursday.

'JACK CINDER TEAM TAKE WINS, BREAK 2 RECORDS

Humboldt State's track forces scored three impressive wins in their first two outings of the 1959 season. The Lumberjack thinclads broke two school standards, beat Chico State, San Francisco State and Cal Aggies in dual meet competition and tied Cal Aggies in a three-way meet with San Francisco Gators.

At Chico, Vester Flanagan reset the javelin record with a throw of 184' 7 3/4", eclipsing the old record set by Hank Cooper in 1956. The Jack broke the old mark by more than four feet.

The following week, Bill Hook came up with a 49' 6" heave in the 16 pound shot to better one of the oldest HSC marks. He broke a record set by Cid Cohen in 1947. It was 47' 2". The toss broke the conference record by over four inches, although it will not count because FWC marks must be set at the championship meet.

Other top performers included Jim Christiansen and Bill Crichton in the high jump each taking a first, Jim Barker, who is throwing the javelin for the first time, Kieth Weidkamp in the 220 and 440 and Frank Alden in the sprints. All of the competitors are first year men as is Hook.

Meanwhile coach Bob Doornink has given the team a week off in hopes that Manuel Vasquez, Roger Biffle and Marshall Stevens may recover from pulled muscles.

The next competitive effort will be Saturday, April 11, at Redwood Bowl when the Jacks face Cal Aggies in a dual meet.

HSC Will Play Four Games In Weekend Series

The Lumberjack baseball nine returns to the home field this weekend as they face two opponents in two doubleheaders to be played on Saturday and Sunday.

Tomorrow they meet the Oregon Tech Owls in a two game affair and on Sunday they face Southern Oregon College in a similar meeting. Both games start at 1 p. m. and are non-conference.

HSC Names 1958-59 All-Opponent Team

Humboldt State's basketball team recently named an all-opponent team consisting of 14 players. The Jack Cagers named the following to the 1958-59 "mythical team."

Bill Johnston, who scored 28 points against the Humboldters in the NAIA playoffs, of Whittier, Chuck Mobley of Far Western Conference fame of Sacramento State, Tom Meschery, outstanding sophomore star at St. Mary's, Frank Burgess, high scoring Gonzaga guard and Bill Von Weyhe, former All-American at Rhode Island, who played for the San Francisco Presidio were the first team.

The second unit consisted of Bill Aires and Jim Caranica of SF, Charley Jordan of Gonzaga, Dick Sigary of St. Mary's and John Winters who broke the Portland State scoring record.

Others named were Wade Wall of Chico State, Bill Roseman of Cal Aggies, LeRoy Doss of St. Mary's and Paul Hendricks of Westmont.

Tree Planting Carried Out By Young Foresters

BY OTIS SKAGGS

During last month, 4,000 tree seedlings were planted by 78 forestry club students under the supervision of George Burchett, Arcata High forestry instructor and Otis Skaggs, HSC Conservation Education major. The High School club was observing Conservation Week with this reforestation project on a heavily logged area near Korb.

The Redwood Region Conservation Council donated the trees so the students could acquire first hand experience in the maintenance of a watershed. The species planted were Douglas fir, Monterey pine, and Bishop pine. The fir is a magnificent forest tree that has been known to grow 250 feet high and may reach eight feet in diameter. The Monterey pine may reach 115 feet and the Bishop pine usually matures at a height of 40 to 80 feet.

The fir seedlings were planted lower in the canyon to prevent wind damage while the pines were planted higher as an experiment to test their value in this area as cover to prevent erosion. Another question to be determined is that of the usefulness of the pines as a source of wood pulp.

Prior to the day's planting, the second year students surveyed the area and put up guide lines. Before starting on the organized mayhem against the hillside, the first-year forestry students were grouped into 13 five-man crews with one second year student supervising each crew. The supervision was required because the second year students had forgotten to allow for a few individuals not having acquired a short leg for going parallel to the hillside, and they had a rough time keeping the rows straight.

During the trip the students learned to identify several different species of plants, one of which several won't forget very quickly. This plant, known as "Breaking-outus ichii" is also called Poison Oak. As my pappy once said, "Experience is the best teacher." Even with the horseplay that accompanies an all-day field trip away from school, with classes excused, the boys worked hard and showed considerable interest in their work. A good survival factor is expected on this planted area.

WAA FEATURES

For the next month the WAA is featuring swimming as the recreation event. Due to difficulty with the heating system of the pool there was a change of plans and volleyball was the sport participated in Monday evening.

Four To Attend Debate Tourney

As a result of the try-outs held two weeks ago, Larry Hines, Larry Moogerman, Tom McGowan and Tony Karachale will attend the Great Far Western Tournament at the University of Nevada next Thursday through Saturday.

The meet is a combination of a debate tournament which includes individual events and student congress. McGowan and Karachale will enter oratory speaking, and Hines and Moogerman will enter extemporaneous speaking. McGowan and Hines will represent HSC in the congress. Prof. Milton Dobkin will accompany the group.

Field Trips Part Of Class Study

Paul Menges, assistant professor of business administration, feels that field trips add a very important part to a class. Prof. Menges has incorporated this into many of his classes here at Humboldt State. Three of his classes, BA 111, Office Management, BA 120, Business Organization and Management, and BA 127, Small Business Management, have engaged in a number of case studies of business problems.

In the Office Management course, the class toured one of the area's most advanced offices, that of Humboldt Land and Title Company. Another semester project of the class will be an office analysis. Each student will analyze a local office, noting the methods, procedures, and general characteristics of each.

The Business Organization and Management class has made two trips already this semester and two more are planned. The first study trip was of the Lazio Fish Company of Eureka where the class studied plant layout. The next trip was to Arcata Plywood, Inc., where the design of manufacturing processes and industrial equipment was studied. The two trips that are planned will study material handling and time and motion study.

Spring Field Trip Covers State As Wildlife Students Observe

The spring field trip of wildlife students began Monday, March 23 at 7 a.m. for a week's tour of the state. Its purpose was to visit and observe various facilities in the Wildlife Management field and meet the people who run them. This annual event has a long heritage in the Wildlife Department and is important because it can lead to permanent positions with the agencies visited. The educational opportunities presented in the week's explorations were varied enough to suit each member's taste.

Led by John DeWitt, associate professor of fisheries, eleven students and Drs. Erwin Beilfuss and Charles Yocom saw the Redding office of the California Department of Fish and Game and the Lewiston Damsite on Monday. Bunks were provided at the California Division of Forestry station in Redding. The next day featured the Darrah Springs Fish Hatchery and the Tehama Deer Management Area with the night's quartering being in Red Bluff.

Busy Schedule

Wednesday's itinerary spotlighted the Grey Lodge Waterfowl Refuge near Gridley with the night spent there. Thursday was scheduled with trips to Folsom Dam, the Nimbus Hatchery and the California Fish and Game Laboratory in Sacramento. Friday saw the group back in Arcata after a stop at the Cedar Creek Hatchery.

The weather cooperated the whole time, with the Arcata misadventure staying here and not following the tour.

An interesting development in the Fish and Game policies was explained by Jim Gilman, a Game Manager for Region I of the Department of Fish and Game. Since it has been realized that public relations cannot be accomplished completely through the 'front office', field employees will be devoting one-fourth of their time to public relations. This time will be spent talking to sportsmen and farmers and from the very nature of the job, will require a broad background. Not only will the deer specialist have to know his field, but also something of forestry and the problems of maintaining good fish populations in the watershed. A spot of interest was a large fish hatchery being built at the Lewiston Damsite by the Bureau of Reclamation, U. S. Department of the Interior. This spot could be a fine place for some important research into the problems of migratory fish management.

A monument to progress was seen at the Nimbus and Darrah Springs Hatcheries, where $400,000 worth of refrigeration facilities are lying idle from the switch from fresh meat to dehydrated fish food.

The students also learned that game management is 90 per cent being a farmer.

One of the highlights of the trip was a turkey dinner for the group at the home of David Ogden in Sacramento, a wildlife Management student here.

Bids Now Open For Club Food Booths At Lumberjack Days

Bids for service clubs' food booths, to be set up during Lumberjack Days, are now available, according to Cathy Cornwell, student chairman. Any club on campus interested in having a booth may submit a bid to Miss Cornwell or Glendyne Baldwin. Deadline for submitting the bids will be Friday, April 17. All profits made off the food booths go to the clubs.

The food booths will be set up in the area between the Men's and Women's Gym. Suggested food booths are hot dogs and potato chips, soft drinks, cake and coffee, candy, peanuts, and popcorn. The food will be sold around noon on Saturday, prior to the HSC-Sacramento baseball game.
