HUMBOLDT STATE COLLEGE

Vol. XXXV

ARCATA, CALIF., FRI., DEC. 1, 1961

NO. 12

CAGERS OPEN
AT HOME MONDAY,
TUESDAY NIGHT

Activities Program Surveyed

Do you feel the present activities program meets the needs and interests of HSC students? All HSC students will be asked to answer this question on an activities survey to be placed in student boxes Mon., Dec. 4.

The survey is to determine what activities students are participating in and how the program can be improved. Every student is asked to answer the questions quite frankly and return the surveys to the ballot box placed in the student mail room.

Students will be asked what departmental, social, service, and religious clubs they are members of; what offices they have held; what committees they have served on; what sports they have played; and what activities they have participated in and attended.

Kate Buchanan, Dean of Activities, and Art Dalanes, Activities Adviser, have emphasized the necessity of all students answering the questions on the survey frankly so a complete evaluation of HSC activities can be made.

Enterprises OK Snack-Bar In Campus Center

Lumberjack Enterprises has earmarked $1,996 for the installation of a snack-bar in the Campus Activities Center.

The snack-bar will be an extension of the Cafeteria and will be managed by Robert Olds, Cafeteria manager. Olds says that the snack-bar is still "in the pre-planning stage."

Plans for the bar call for a pizza oven, sandwiches, coffee and soft drinks. The equipment for the facilities has already been selected and set aside for purchase.

Olds points out that the bar will have to pay its own way. It is not realized, the equipment will be moved into the Cafeteria and used there.

Tentative time schedule for the bar is from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., and from 7 p.m. until 10:30.

The room where the pool tables are located is being thought of as a dining room for the snack-bar. The equipment located in the room now will be relocated to another area in the building.

Lynn Ricker Named To Executive Spot

Lynn Ricker was appointed by student body president Bill Turner to replace the vacant position of the associated student body executive secretary left by Helen Wilson at a two hour executive council meeting Tuesday.

Miss Wilson, who turned in her resignation effective Nov. 29 of this year, was forced to leave her position because of personal problems forcing her to drop from college.

The council accepted, with regret, Miss Wilson's resignation and unanimously approved Miss Ricker, a Gold Key member.

In other business, the Board of Finance recommended that the original $900 that was allocated last year for this year's budget and cut, be given to the Lumberjack to improve its financial status.

Student body treasurer Dick Griffith said the student body funds were in good shape after football and that no great problems would arise out of the allotment.

After a short discussion, the council passed the Board's recommendation for the $900.

Upon Dewey Riscioni's statements, the council approved to distribute the Humboldt State College magazine, the Hilltopper, free of charge to the student body.

Riscioni, business manager for the Hilltopper told the council that with the $400 gained from the advertising and $175 allotted from the student body, the staff had a surplus of $40. He said this would enable the delivery of the Hilltopper, late this semester, to be given free of charge to associated body members instead of the usual 25 cent fee.

The council also approved the insertion of the college literary magazine, the Toyon, in the Lumberjack so more students will be able to receive it.

Representative-at-Large, Hugh Clark replaced Dave Crane as chairman of the constitution revision committee. Clark said he was forming a larger committee and hoped to have a "rough form" for the council to look at around Christmas.

Crane was forced to give up his chairmanship because of holding down the chairmanship of the Leadership Conference and not having enough time to handle both jobs.

The Mercy Bowl drive, under the coordination of Clark and rep-at-large Pam Schoenbeck will continue for a few more days on campus.

Miss Schoenbeck told the council the total amount hasn't been tabulated as yet but that she hoped for a final figure in the near future.

Upon the request of Turner, the council appropriated $40 as a total amount of money to help start a Gallery of past student body presidents.

The money will pay for pictures and frames of the last 25 student body presidents. The purpose of the gallery given by Turner was to help create the Campus Activities Center and give the visiting alumni something to remember at Humboldt during their college years.

Turner also read to the council a letter he received from the student body president at Chico State College. The letter concerned the stolen letters and Chico State banner by Humboldt State students at the Humboldt State vs. Chico State football game recently.

The letter also revealed that two of the three Humboldt State football parkas that Chico State students stole from Humboldt were being returned and that if the other one couldn't be found, Humboldt would be reimbursed in cash payment.

In return, Clark asked for their letters and banner. Vice president Don Daniels said the banner was in a safe storage place and would be returned upon settlement of the parkas but that he, as well as the other council members did not know the whereabouts of the letters.

Jack Moore, activities commissioner, requested approval of Rick Stromberg as the 1962 Homecoming chairman and Carlotta Anderson as chairman of the 1962 Dad's Day. After some discussion on how the persons were appointed, the council approved both selections.

Bill Turner, associated student body president, stated that "a discount is fine, but if anyone should get it, the students should."

A student must pay his way through school while the faculty members are getting paid."

Until Nov. 1, faculty members were receiving a 10 percent discount on all items in the book store. They now pay the same prices as the student.

Because of the petition, a committee has been appointed by President Siemens to study policies regarding faculty discounts.

Mrs. Carolyn Falkenberg is chairman of the committee.

This election took place at the request of Chancellor Gallagher and the Board of Trustees who asked that faculties of state colleges send their Academic Senate Chairmen plus one elected representative to a meeting in Fresno on Dec. 7.

Professor Dobkin, Academic Senate Chairman, will attend the Dec. 7 meeting with President Siemens and Professor Telonicher.

This meeting is to discuss a tentative draft of rules being considered by the Board of Trustees regarding promotion and tenure for state college faculty members.

All college employees have received a copy of the proposed rules. This draft along with the report of the Academic Senate's tenure and promotion policy committee will be discussed at a meeting on Thursday Nov. 30 at 4 p.m.

'The Good Woman Of Setzuan' Opens December 8 In Sequoia Theater; Second Production Of Season

Fraternity Granted Rezoning

A 30 day wait is the only thing that separates the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity from its new house at Laurel Ave. The Tekes were granted their request by the Arcata Planning Commission on Nov. 15.

The body changed the classification from a residential area to an R-2 zone. This enables a fraternity house to be established.

Despite the fact that they have received an okay from the college, neighboring homeowners and other parties concerned, they still have to wait 30 days for anyone to voice their objections to the move. On Dec. 22, they will receive the final decision.

The house, formerly owned by Kirk Cooper, has three floors. The upper floor includes four bedrooms, bathroom and two storage closets. The middle floor consists of a living room, kitchen, dining room, another bedroom, washroom and a storage room. A veranda is also included. There is also a basement where a playroom and some storage closets are located.

According to Marc Lafeur, Tekes historian, the fraternity has many plans for further development of the house.

The primary objective is to provide more sleeping quarters. The house, at the present time, can accommodate approximately 20 men.

Dr. Griffith's Assembly Talk: 'Arab Countries'

"Arab Countries: Watch and Wait," will be the title of Dr. Harry Griffith's speech when he addresses an assembly on Monday at 2 p.m. in the Sequoia Theater.

Dr. Griffith, who has been on an educational grant in Jordan for the past two years, will speak on the character of the Arab; his modern outlook, his conflicts as the result of his sudden independence in a rapid moving world, and our need to assist him while we wait for him to catch up socially, economically and politically.

While in Jordan, Dr. Griffith served as consultant to the Administrator of Education of the Kingdom of Jordan. He also visited Syria, Lebanon and Egypt.

Dr. Griffith came to Humboldt State in 1939 as an athletic coach and has served as Chairman of the Health and Physical Education Department. He left during the war years and returned to serve as principal of the College Elementary School, Chairman of the Division of Education and Psychology and Dean of Students before his recent trip abroad.

Resolution Is Passed By HSC Professors

The Association of California State College Professors (A.C.S.C.P.) unanimously passed a resolution Oct. 19 calling for a reinstatement of faculty discounts at the College Book Store.

Faculty discounts were discontinued Nov. 1 by the Lumberjack Enterprises Executive Board.

The faculty petition calls for reinstatement of the discount on the grounds that long traditional rights should not be "removed arbitrarily and out of hand."

The resolution shows that it is traditional for faculty members to receive discounts in bookstores whether privately owned, cooperatively owned, or student controlled. Book publishers also give discounts to faculty members.

Because of the petition, a committee has been appointed by President Siemens to study policies regarding faculty discounts.

Mrs. Carolyn Falkenberg is chairman of the committee.

Bill Turner, associated student body president, stated that "a discount is fine, but if anyone should get it, the students should."

Student Forensics Team Members Place High In Inter-State Contest

Four Humboldt State students placed high in the Western Speech Tournament held at Fresno State over the vacation, according to Dr. Edward Steele, associate professor of speech.

Dr. Steele expressed satisfaction over the performances of John Rawlinson, Larry Hines, Linda Dungan and Marilyn Wilson who competed for Humboldt against 68 schools from 15 western states, including Alaska and Hawaii.

Rawlinson and Hines won three of five of their debates, with Rawlinson taking first in every round of the negative position debates.

Rawlinson went on to tie for sixth place in the senior men's finals of extemporaneous speaking.

Marilyn Wilson, a freshman from Eureka High, posted two seconds in two rounds of junior (lower division) women's oratory and second and fourth in three additional rounds.

TKE Sweetheart Ball To Be Held Tomorrow

The Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity will hold their annual Sweetheart Ball tomorrow night, at 8:30. The affair, to include dinner and dancing, as well as presentation of awards, will be held at the Bella Vista Inn. Sal Naggard and his band will provide the music.

The selection of the TKE Sweetheart will highlight the affair. There are three sophomore girls in contention for the honor: Neale Ann Barnes, Fortuna, an education major; Marilee Starkey, Arcata, an English major; and Judy Thompson, Arcata, a secretarial science major. The girl that is chosen will be crowned by last year's TKE Sweetheart, Delia Johnson.

Also included on the agenda will be the presentation of two scholastic awards. One member of Tau Kappa Epsilon will receive an award for the top scholastic average in the house. The second award will go to the member who has most improved himself scholastically in the last two semesters (Fall 1960-Spring 1961).

About 40 couples are expected to attend the affair. Rene Vit is chairman of the dance.

Art Exhibit With Christmas Theme at HSC

The Humboldt State art department has brought a Christmas exhibit to the campus featuring hand prints by two well-known San Francisco Bay Area artists, Emily Lou Packard and Byron Randall. Now living in Mendocino, the husband-wife team has exhibited extensively in Southern California.

These hand prints are examples of the oldest known printing technique. Inking of the prints resulted in the only printing methods of the Middle Ages. The medium has proved durable because of the interest in its singular beauty.

Prints by Randall are carved on mahogany plywood. The ink used has an oil base and is printed on Japanese Koshi and Kozu paper.

Miss Packard is showing prints carved in linoleum. Some of them are made with as many as nine colors. The color blocks are sometimes cut separately in order to be assembled in different ways. Oil-base inks were used as well as litho and letterpress. Undercolors are mixed with a transparent base to prevent the second coat from becoming shiny. The prints are run through a small hand press with a small bed.

The show is scheduled to run until Christmas, with a price list on the prints available at the shows in Sequoia Theater and the library.

Play Style Differs From Usual

By JIM SCHRUPP
Staff Writer

"The Good Woman of Setzuan," Sequoia Masque's second production of the season, will open next Friday night, Dec. 8, at 8:15 in Sequoia Theater.

This play, written by the famous and controversial Bertolt Brecht, should prove to involve one of the oddest and most interesting styles of production ever presented at Humboldt State. The style is known as "epic theater," and though it has penetrated the American stage very little, it has gained fame through "The Three Penny Opera" produced in New York in 1933.

The main difference between the "epic" theater and the "dramatic" theater is that the latter involves emotionalism rather than reason and thought as does the former. A better explanation can be provided by Harold Clurman in "The Achievement of Bertolt Brecht." Says Clurman: "He wants his audience, it is said, to recognize its place in society. He tries to induce in the spectator the attitude of an alert observer rather than that of a hypnotized person who seeks to be swept away by the show. He wants his public to use its critical judgment and ultimately its capacity to act, rather than to be drugged or overwhelmed by a suffused emotionalism which can have no effect on its thought patterns and social behavior."

Also in contrast to the "dramatic" theater is its method of having each scene independent of the next. Again quoting Clurman, "They are based on brief episodes of concentrated action—most of them almost complete in themselves—each of which makes a simple sharp point essential to the understanding of the play's idea as a whole."

Brecht, a Marxist, is the key figure in the development of "epic" drama as he devoted his career to this style of production in his theater in Germany, though, according to the Washington Post, his works have had more production in the Western world than in his native Germany or behind the Iron Curtain. In fact, the Post says his works have been banned in West Germany as were once the works of Thomas Mann, Sigmund Freud, Felix Mendelssohn, Franz Werfel, and Lion Feuchtwanger.

Says Clurman about Brecht: "In fine, Bertolt Brecht (1898-1956) is one of the outstanding figures of the contemporary theater and with equal certainty one of the twentieth century's most notable poets."

The basic plot involves three gods who descend to the earth in search of a good woman. They find such a woman in Shen Te, a prostitute. In return for her kindness, they give her enough money to start in some legitimate business, which she chooses to be a tobacco store. She immediately relays her goodness to her customers and in fact overdoes herself, becoming the target for all parasites as well as just the needy. Finding herself in financial trouble, she disguises herself as her cousin and runs a more heartless and profitable business. Later, Shui Ta is brought before a trial to answer for the absence of his cousin, Shen Te. The gods run the trial and sum up the dilemma of the human struggle: it is more pleasing to the gods to be kind, but only the mercenary prosper.

Cast in the major roles are Pat Flanagan as Shen Te and Shui Ta, Bob Graham as Wang the water-seller, Jim Cathey as Yang Sun, Lila Cooper as his mother, and Lila Evans as Mrs. Shin, a neighbor. The three gods are Floyd Nichols, Glenn Dreher, and Ward Holston.

The director of the play is Dr. Jerry Turner, assistant professor of speech and drama.

Humboldt State College Professors Voice Opinions On Controversial Book, 'Tropic of Cancer'

By BARBARA OBERDORF
Staff Writer

"Tropic of Cancer"—moral or immoral?

"Tropic of Cancer"—worthy or unworthy of public readership?"

These and many other questions have circulated the Humboldt State College campus since the recently experienced ban on selling the books in Humboldt County and many Bay Area counties.

To shine local light on the subject, Randolph Hudson, associate professor of English, was asked some questions about the controversial Henry Miller novel.

According to Hudson, "Miller maintains social values by showing ugly life as ugly. He gives accurate pictures of a very sort of life, showing how unpleasant and unattractive this type of existence is."

"Because he does this, I think 'Tropic of Cancer' is quite a moral book. In my opinion, the more honest the book is the less immoral it is."

Would readers be swayed by its content?

"The reader is not enticed by this type of life, he is repelled by it, he doesn't desire to imitate it. Books which give this kind of life a romantic attractiveness, make it seem more fun, are the ones which have an impact on the reader's behavior."

"The old Confidential and the Playboy, however, have a huge impact on the behavior of the reader. In 'Tropic of Cancer', Miller reinforces traditional values."

Should it be placed on the college bookshelves?

"It isn't my place to say whether or not it should be. But if a person is driven to read this book it's because he needs to know something he doesn't already know. If he is looking for straight answers and honesty, he will find it in Miller's book."

What about the Humboldt County ban?

"It is unfortunate that one person has such control over whether or not a book should be banned. He, like any similar official, isn't trained in this kind of job. The whole relationship between literature and morality is very complex and decisions on banning should not be made by a district attorney."

"The whole effect of the ban will just result in larger sales."

Misjudge Schools

Editors Note: The following is an article taken from the Nov. 15, 1961 issue of Los Angeles Collegian. It does not necessarily reflect the opinion of the Lumberjack.

Recently Americans have awakened to the fact that the Communist countries have been forging ahead in the production of scientists.

The public doesn't ask "why?" it merely condemns the schools' training programs.

Americans are using the schools as a scapegoat to cover their own shortsightedness; and it's about time the institutions rise up and put the blame where it really belongs, on the public.

If Americans want scientists, they must pay a price in terms of money and social esteem, as great or greater than they now pay athletes, movie stars and business executives.

Today Americans picture the scientist as an "odd" creature who spends his time in a dull, drab laboratory, while athletes and movie stars are glorified. It is no wonder children reject science, and strive for positions having social esteem.

Former President Eisenhower has added to the ridicule of intellectuals when he said, "Intellectuals are those who use a lot of words to explain what they don't understand."

A lot of high schools spend more on athletics than on science and mathematics. This exemplifies the values our society holds highest, since the schools are supported with public funds and are told how to spend them.

Our success or failure to meet the national need for intellectuals lays with our modes of communications and the public's willingness to support, with time and money, educational endeavors.

Newspaper publishers, radio and television stations, movie producers, and writers hold, perhaps, the greatest key with which to meet this problem. They must produce intellectual models after which our children can pattern their lives.

The schools can also help, by retorting when attacked, unjustly, for their shortcomings, because it is they who are responsible for keeping the intellectual fire burning in the United States.

Regional Spur
Representative
Here Tonight
Joan Dunham, regional representative for Spurs, will arrive at Humboldt State College this evening. While here, she will meet with Bill Turner, student body president; Joan Iverson, Associated Women Students president; Kate Buchanan, dean of activities; and the Spurs.
Miss Dunham's visit is to see how the local chapter operates, how the campus attitude toward Spurs is, and to help where possible.
To better acquaint her with HSC Spurs, Miss Buchanan has arranged a coffee hour for Miss Dunham and the officers of Spurs Saturday afternoon. Saturday evening Miss Dunham, a senior at Linfield College, will be entertained at an informal gathering at the home of Judy Maahs.

Professor Goes
To Conference
Jasper Sawatzky, assistant professor of business, will attend a conference of representatives of state colleges Dec. 7 and 8.
The conference, to be held in San Francisco, will seek to standardize the courses required of students becoming secondary business instructors. The business professors attending will discuss the courses now being offered and will recommend those to be required to a special committee appointed by the State Board of Education.

New Constitution Still Hot Issue

Heated discussion over a report by the constitution revision committee and a proposed organizational outline for a student union highlighted the Nov. 21 student council meeting.

The first flurry of verbal activity was touched off when Neal Thomsen, representing the constitution revision committee, told the council his committee was studying the possibility of creating a uni-cameral government at Humboldt.

He said the committee intended to present the constitution of Arizona State College as a model of uni-cameral organization to the council along with its proposals for a bi-cameral government.

Instant and largely negative reaction by council members followed the report. Most council members felt that the revision committee was exceeding its authority in considering a uni-cameral government when it had been designated to work out a bi-cameral government.

Representative-at-Large Barbara Thomas said, "Will someone please explain to me how anyone can possibly utilize the study of a uni-cameral government toward creation of a bi-cameral government?"

The council took no direct action on the situation other than a mild reprimand from council chairman Don Daniels who said, "The (revision) committee should keep it in mind that their function is to form a constitution around a bi-cameral government." He said the council would wait until the committee made its proposals before it made a decision.

The second major issue discussed was a proposed outline for creation of a student union, made by Activities Commissioner Jack Moore and Marcia Johnson.

As proposed, the student union would be a largely self-supporting organization divorced in authority from the rest of the student government.

The student union would organize and carry out numerous student body activities, according to Moore and Miss Johnson.

The proposed organization calls for a total of 25 members. The core of the union would be 13 members headed by the center activities commissioner. There would be eight standing activities committees; a dance committee, games, art, publicity, program, movies, hospitality and public relations committees.

The union would also consist of an advisory board of six members and a finance board of six members. Members of these two boards would be drawn from the alumni, faculty, administration and student body.

In a straw vote, the council approved the basic proposed structure of the student union, giving Moore and Miss Johnson authority to work out the details of its structure.

In other action, council defeated a proposal by Awards Commissioner Jim Curran to give lifetime passes to all Humboldt State athletic events to all graduating four-year lettermen in football. It was the feeling of the council that such action would reduce the prestige of the award which is now given only to hall-of-famers and the annual Dad-of-the-Year.

It was also believed by some that the award would also have to be given to participants in other sports and should be given to outstanding students in academic fields if the proposal were accepted.

The council set the date for fall election of reps-at-large for two weeks before finals.

Assemblies Commissioner Jack Frost reported that in the future Humboldt State would invite the Democratic and Republican parties to present two speakers per semester to the student body, and that the assemblies commission was considering appointing someone to establish and continue close contact with local newspapers and civic groups which often bring speakers into this area.

Languages Grow In Attendance; More Than 220

You can learn to speak Russian, German, French, and Spanish. Humboldt State offers four different foreign languages hosting approximately 220 students.

In 1949, the foreign language requirement was dropped from the state college curriculum, followed by a sharp drop in foreign language enrollment.

For instance, in 1953 the department recorded only 54 students in foreign languages. Five in beginning French and two in second-year French. Spanish was offered that year, but no one enrolled. German which was offered for the first time in 30 years, hosted 12 students, all of whom were science majors.

In the spring semester of 1954, eight students signed up for beginning Spanish, most of these students were wildlife majors.

In the fall of 1959, HSC became one of the few California state colleges to offer Russian, and in the spring of 1960 it added Italian, which later was dropped because of poor attendance.

In contrast with the 1953 low point of 19 students in two languages, Humboldt now points to enrollments of 65 in French; 75 in German, 35 in Russian, and 45 in Spanish.

The time has come for my mid-season "Lecture for Duck Hunters". The basis for this "lecture" stems from my belief that not all shotgun-equipped waterfowl killers operate in the manner in which they should be operating. Therefore, a short treatise on the waterfowler's rules of behavior.

The first thing that the duck hunter, or potential duck hunter, should do is learn to recognize a duck when he sees one. Obviously, the hunter should know his quarry. Obviously, some hunters don't.

Second, the duck hunter should learn to recognize the different types of ducks (gray ducks, butternuts, whistlers, bluebills, etc.). There is a sound reason for this rule, namely that some biologists somewhere way back East decided that an easy way for game managers to collect a little extra easy money would be to impose a fine for the killing of certain species of ducks. Easy money, because they knew that it was a complete impossibility for quite a few duck hunters to tell one duck from another. Therefore, duck hunters, even if you don't care one whit

The time has come for my mid-season "Lecture for Duck Hunters". The basis for this "lecture" stems from my belief that not all shotgun-equipped waterfowl killers operate in the manner in which they should be operating. Therefore, a short treatise on the waterfowler's rules of behavior.

The first thing that the duck hunter, or potential duck hunter, should do is learn to recognize a duck when he sees one. Obviously, the hunter should know his quarry. Obviously, some hunters don't.

Second, the duck hunter should learn to recognize the different types of ducks (gray ducks, butternuts, whistlers, bluebills, etc.). There is a sound reason for this rule, namely that some biologists somewhere way back East decided that an easy way for game managers to collect a little extra easy money would be to impose a fine for the killing of certain species of ducks. Easy money, because they knew that it was a complete impossibility for quite a few duck hunters to tell one duck from another. Therefore, duck hunters, even if you don't care one whit about whether the canvasback and redhead manage to survive, it is to the best interest of the waterfowl-er's rules of behavior.

Rule number three has more to do with hunter mortality than with duck welfare: keep your shots up in the air, and don't pepper the hunters on either side of you. This is rather hard on the hunters being sprayed with your shot, creates bad relations and, besides, you're shooting ducks, not hunters - Remember???

Rule four is the old skyscraper rule—if the bird is so high up that you can't see it, don't shoot it. (You might be shooting a red-head.)

Rule five is simple and to the point—don't shoot mergansers. We'll need every one of them if we're ever going to wipe out the salmon-steelhead populations on the North Coast!

New York's governor, Nelson D. Rockefeller made a visit to the University of Nevada in October. According to the university newspaper, Sagebrush, Rockefeller stopped off at the campus just before attending a legislators conference in Reno. His address to the students was given in front of the student union.

"HAPPINESS CAN'T BUY MONEY"
I have asked the makers of Marlboro—an enterprising and aggressive group of men; yet at the same time warm and lovable; though not without acumen, perspicacity, and drive; which does not, however, mask their essential great-heartedness; a quality evident to all who have ever enjoyed the beneficence of their wares; I refer, of course, to Marlboro Cigarettes, a smoke fashioned with such loving care and tipped with such an easy-drawing filter that these old eyes grow misty when I think upon it—I have asked, I say, the makers of Marlboro—that aggregate of shrewd but kindly tobaccoists, that cluster of hearty souls bound together by the profit motive and an unflagging determination to provide a cigarette forever flavorful and eternally pleasing—I have asked, I say, the makers of Marlboro whether I might use today's column to take up the controversial question: Should a coed share expenses on a date?
"Yes," said the makers simply. We all shook hands then and squeezed each other's shoulders and exchanged brave smiles, and if our eyes were a trifle moist, who can blame us?
To the topic then: Should a coed share expenses on a date? I think I can best answer the question by citing the following typical case:
Poseidon Nebenzal, a student at Oklahoma A and M, majoring in hides and tallow, fell wildly in love with Mary Ellen Flange, a flax weevil major at the same school. His love, he had Oh, foolish reaper! Why have you not told me before?

reason to believe from Mary Ellen's sidelong glances and maidenly blushes, was not entirely unrequited, and by and by he mustered up enough courage to ask her the all-important question: "Will you wear my 4-H pin?"
"Yes," she said simply. They shook hands then and squeezed each other's shoulders and exchanged brave smiles, and if their eyes were a trifle moist, who can blame them?
For a time things went swimmingly. Then a cloud appeared. Mary Ellen, it seems, was a rich girl and accustomed to costly pleasures. Poseidon was bone-poor and he quickly ran out of money. Unable to take Mary Ellen to the posh places she fancied and too proud to tell her the reason, he turned surly and full of melancholy. Soon their romance, so promising at the beginning, was headed for a breakup. But at the last moment, Poseidon managed to blurt out the truth.
"Oh, beloved agrarian!" cried Mary Ellen, grasping him close. "Oh, proud husbandman! Oh, foolish reaper! Why have you not told me before? I have plenty of money, and I will contribute according to my ability."
Poseidon, of course, protested, but she finally persuaded him of the wisdom of her course. From then on they split all expenses according to their incomes. Rather than embarrass Poseidon by handing him money in public, a joint bank account was set up to allow him to write checks. Into this account each week they faithfully deposited their respective allowances—35 cents from Poseidon; $2300 from Mary Ellen.
And it worked fine! They were happy—truly happy! And what's more, when they graduated they had a nice little nest egg—eight million dollars—with which to furnish a lovely apartment in Lubbock, Texas, where today they operate the local laundromat.
So you see? You too can salvage your failing romance if you will only adopt a healthy, sensible attitude toward money.

I have a profound conviction that the most important task of the foreign student coming to this country is to prepare himself for the problems he will face upon the immediate difficulties of adjustment to the United States and its educational and social system are transitory, even though they must be fully faced by the foreign student during his stay in the United States.

Many problems can suggest a strategy for life in the U.S.: a strategy of associating with Americans and adjusting to the American life, but not integrating into it; a strategy of temporarily alienating it all oneself from it. To understand Americans, a foreign student first of all must understand the American Love of what is known as "kidding".

There are synonyms for kidding, such as needling, riding, and so forth, ranging from the polite to the obscene, but in essence all mean in varying degrees making fun of a person or taking with a grain of salt anything he says.

It can be very vicious when done deliberately to embarrass or humiliate a person, but those instances are rare and the normal form of American kidding is nothing more than an attempt to make light of something that can become overly serious or maudlin.

Take the case of old friends meeting after several years. Continental Europeans or Orientals, with some exceptions, would probably embrace and say how they had missed each other. The American approach in matters of this kind is unique and should be understood by all foreigners. Let us assume that Tom and Ed who were old school mates have not seen each other for two years until they came face to face on the street. Initial greeting's loud and raucous. Then:

Tom: "You old so-and-so (substitute most insulting expression you can think of), where you been? Sent you up the river (jail) at last, eh?"

Ed: "No, they haven't caught me yet. I'm still robbing banks. How's your racket? Been swindling any old widows lately?" At this point any foreigner eavesdropping on this charming conversation is liable to conclude that the next act is going to be a violent one. Not a bit of it. After some more choice conversation liberally laced with words not usually heard in women's hair salons (humm I may be wrong there) the two old buddies repair to the nearest establishment available for coffee or something stronger.

You are safe from kidding if you don't take yourself too seriously. None of us is perfect, and it may hurt at times if someone pricks a particularly vulnerable spot; but the idea is to laugh it off. If you will do so, Americans will consider you a "regular guy", which is considered to be quite a compliment.

If some classmate of yours, after slight acquaintance, makes you the butt of some joke, don't dash off to your Prime Minister demanding that war be declared immediately. The world is in bad enough shape already without your contribution. He said it because he was beginning to like and accept you. This may be contradictory, but it is the American way. Your ways may be just as contradictory to him.

A great deal of this will not apply to the women students, for as far as I know women do not go in for kidding in the same way as men (supposedly).

However, I think it is true that the young American female is just as conscious as the male of "stuffed shirts"—meaning pompous individuals. I shall be careful not to give the impression that I disapprove of dating, or make up, or short dresses or other matters that may be alien to your way of life. If you must, go ahead, but be ready to receive a barrage about some things the American girl may consider strange about you.

Award Offered By Book Club

The Book-of-the-Month Club, the Women's National Book Association and the Saturday Review will sponsor an award for any college student collecting an outstanding personal library starting in 1962.

The award, a gift of one thousand dollars, will be given each year to the student collecting the best array of books of knowledge. No collection of less than 35 books will be considered.

The award is in memory of Amy Loveman, the late editor of the Saturday Review, a Book-of-the-Month Club judge and winner of the Constance Lindsay Skinner Award.

The award will be presented to senior students only and the nominations will be made by the chairman of Campus Library Award Committees.

Campus Planning Committee Meets For First Time

A Campus Planning Committee has been named at Humboldt State in accordance with a resolution set up by the California Board of Trustees.

The membership includes Dean Balabanis, Dean Lawrence Turner, professor Melvin Schuler, Frank Devery, Vernon DeMars (Consultant Architect), Frank Shesler, ex-officio (facilities planning office, Trustees), President C. H. Siemens, chairman. A consulting landscape architect is to be assigned to this committee by the Trustees next year.

DeMars was appointed by the Trustees. In addition to his work as a private architect, he is Professor of Architecture at the University of California. He designed the new student union complex on the Berkeley campus. He was named architect for the multi-million dollar project after winning first award in an open competition in design.

Fish Station, Tennis Courts Okayed for HSC

Trinidad has been chosen as the site for the new Humboldt State marine fisheries station and approval has been given for new HSC tennis courts, the state department of public works announced Monday in Sacramento.

The new tennis courts are to be constructed in the area east of the men's gym. There will be six courts, and hopes are that they will be completed by next fall. Construction should start in May. The marine fisheries station site has been approved at Trinidad but construction has not yet been okayed. Funding of the bill still has to be approved by the State Legislature. Construction may start in May, although it will not be completed until late Spring of 1963.

HSC Harriers Take Fifth In FWC Meet

Humboldt's Harrier team placed fifth in the Far Western Conference Cross-Country Championship meet with 125 points held Nov. 17 at the University of Nevada.

San Francisco State, dual meet FWC champs with an unblemished 5-0 record, won over the six team field with the low total of 24 points to carry home the FWC championship title for the second straight year.

Nevada's Ron Ley paced the host team to second place as he led the 37 man field from the halfway mark and nosed out the favorites at the tape, finishing the 3 mile "gold" course 3 minutes ahead of HSC's first man.

Another unknown, Craig Spilman grabbed second place for San Francisco, ahead of favored teammate Bill Morgan who crossed the finish line in fourth place.

Other pre-meet favorites, Doug Ketrone and Tim Jordan of Sacramento, placed third and ninth respectively.

University of Nevada placed second with 41 points, followed by Sacramento State with 50 points, Chico State with 91 points, Humboldt's 125 and the Cal Aggies last place 146 points.

College Speech Instructors Attend Meetings

Three concurrently held conventions for the exchange of ideas and information between college faculty members were attended by Humboldt State professors during Thanksgiving vacation, according to Dr. Edward Steele, associate professor of speech.

Dr. Steele and Milton Dobkin, chairman of the division of language arts, attended the Western Speech Association convention in Fresno.

Leah Grigsby, assistant professor of speech, participated in convention of the American Educational Theater Association, and Howard Streifford, instructor of speech, went to a meeting of the National Society for the Study of Communication, both held in Fresno.

Dr. Steele served as chairman of a panel on "Social Values in Public Address," and read a paper on the major premises of the American value system to Western Speech Association members.

Professor Dobkin was chairman of a panel discussion on "The Aristotelian Modes of Persuasion" at the same convention, according to Dr. Steele.

Art Professor's Paintings In National Shows

Humboldt State's Associate Professor of Art Max Butler has been accepted in two art shows recently. His entries, a drawing and a water color, will be shown in national traveling shows during 1962-63.

The water color will be shown in Pasadena Art Museum Nov. 21-Dec. 31 under the auspices of the California Water Color Society. The annual show will appear in DeYoung Museum in San Francisco and the Art Center of La Jolla before appearing nationally.

"Drawings U.S.A." will originate at the Saint Paul Gallery in Saint Paul, Minn. This is the first showing of the event, which is planned as a biannual showing. Judging this year's show were Jack Levine, a New York painter, Hyatt Mayor, Curator of Metropolitan Museum of Art and Millard Sheets, Los Angeles painter.

1800 entries were submitted for this exhibit, with 75 accepted. The show will be in Saint Paul from Nov. 16-Dec. 22 and then begin a full year's tour of the nation.

Hi Everybody:

Well, the turkey carcass is clean and the last of the turkey sandwiches devoured. Even the creamed turkey and hash are all gone. Next thing in line is the jolly little fat man and his bag of goodies.

Let's peak into my bag of goodies and see what's been happening on our happy little campus.

Bad news appears at the top of my little bag. The curse of the Delta Sigs has struck again. The victim for this week is Don Westlake. Don was in an auto accident over the Thanksgiving vacation but I'm thankful to say he's not too bad off. He's recovering fine.

Speaking of the Delta Sigs, I hear their president Al Snarski cooks a mean turkey. You'll make some girl very happy Al.

The month of December has a full schedule of festivities. There's the Snow Ball, the Delta Sig Carnation Ball, the TKE Sweetheart Ball to name a few. All these mean new dresses to the female type people. New dresses mean digging down into the old sock and shelling forth hard earned loot. Well gals, I have a wonderful idea for you, don't buy that dress, make it.

I came up with this brain storm while wandering through Daly's Yardage Department the other day. Their Holiday Fabrics are just out of this world. They have Brocades, Satins and Taffetas in every color for only $1.49 to $2.25 a yard. With a little originality, a little talent and these beautiful fabrics from Daly's you can be the belle of the ball and have some loot left for Christmas.

I imagine everyone noticed the lack of water before vacation. Poor Barbara Link, the first thing she did when she got on the plane to fly home was to brush her teeth.

The Cafeteria crew really felt the shortage. Dishes, dishes everywhere but how to get them clean.

Dave Crane received a beautiful birthday cake all the way from Guam. But some dirty rat ate a big piece out of the middle of it before Dave got to see. Happy Birthday Dave and to 7, I hope it made you sick.

January is wedding time for the TKE's. Congratulations to Bill Shreeves and Dorothy Elliott and Don Cherry and Charlotte Parsons.

We're going to have to change the name of Redwood Bowl again. How about Rain Land or Mud Bowl. The team had a new play I noticed. 22-64-Slide. If they were heading in the right direction Thanksgiving Day a good slide was worth about 55 yards.

The rooting section Thanksgiving Day was one of the most "Spirited" all season. I think there were more people carried out of the stands than off the field.

Enough about Thanksgiving. Christmas is the big thing now. If you're stumped about what to get that special someone, let Daly's help you! They have everything from Manicure Sets at 79c to big Baskets of Fruit at $17.95.

Congratulations to George Pardee our Popera King. Forestry did it again.

The IK have their banner back. It mysteriously reappeared in the same manner that it mysteriously disappeared.

I was in the dorm the other day and noticed all the bare feet. There's no need for this girls with the huge supply of slippers to be found at Daly's. They have every size, shape and color. There's Furry slippers, Feather slippers, Jeweled, Leather, Brocade, Gold and Corduroy slippers. There's a pair for every personality type from the practical to the beatnik. They run from $3.99 to $8.50. Buy a pair for yourself or as gifts for your friends. Down with cold feet forever.

Remember everyone, it's basketball season now. I'll see you all in the stands. Just think, no more sitting in the rain.

Bye Now
Mary Lou

Sagebrush Speaks On UN, HSC Game

by Deane Oates

With the coming of the rain, intercollegiate sports move indoors, but before we close out the football season, we have a few odds and ends to wrap up.

We have been watching the Sagebrush, University of Nevada student publication, with some interest since the Humboldt, Nevada game, and we finally got some results.

We quote from the Sagebrush:

"Movies of the Wolf Pack's battle against the Humboldt State Fifteen will be shown . . . The movies will not only show the Pack playing one of their finest games, but will verify the officials had calling that prevented Humboldt from being trounced."

The Sagebrush also quoted a Pack linesman, Jim Bronson. "These striped ostriches should have pulled their heads out of the sand. They missed a good game."

All very interesting, but we saw the movies too. We felt kinda bad about Humboldt getting penalized more than Nevada since we saw several infractions on the visitors that were not called.

Our vote for defensive lineman of the year goes to Dennis Grotting. For a guy who had to prove himself with only two years of football experience, a year in high school, and last season as a Lumberjack reserve, the big guard did a whale of a job for Phil Sarboe's chargers.

Humboldt fans will get their first look at the 1961 Lumberjack cagers Monday and Tuesday night when the Hilltoppers meet the San Francisco Presidio.

Franny Givins' netters open the 1961-62 season tonight and tomorrow against Southern Oregon College at Ashland. The Lumberjacks are not expected to fare too well with the lack of height problem, but the Green and Gold could get the season off to a roaring start with a two-game sweep.

Against the Presidio, the 'Jacks will face a much tougher club. Last year the SF team showed up with two All Americans, and HSC dropped two to the invaders.

However, Givins has changed his offense somewhat this season and the Lumberjacks may surprise everybody.

Hassman Prepares Team With Six Vet Wrestlers

The Humboldt State College wrestling team, with returning lettermen in six weight divisions, is currently working out for the 1961 season which opens next week.

The Lumberjack grapplers will be entering their third year of competition in the Far Western Conference. They were FWC champs in 1959 and finished on the bottom in 1960. Head coach Ralph Hassman rates this year's squad as slightly better than last year.

Hassman has the team working out three times a week spending two hours on weightlifting and three hours in running and conditioning.

HSC Cagers Open Season Tonight At Ashland

Lumberjack safeties Dennis Giuntini (26) and Jim Barker (top of pile) bring down a Whitworth back in the mud on Thanksgiving Day. Two other Pirates rush up to assist.

'Jacks Prove 8-2 Mark No Fluke with Stats

The Humboldt State Lumberjacks proved their 8-2 season mark was no fluke by completely dominating the statistics against their opponents for the 1961 season with Ed White and Frank Buda leading the Hilltoppers individually.

The 'Jacks rolled to 143 first downs to their opponents 128, and the Green and Gold gained 2704 to the oppositions 2164 in the team statistics.

In the scoring department, the 'Jacks pushed across 224 points with 32 touchdowns, 26 extra points and two field goals while the rivals got 113 points with 17 teedees, eight extra points and one field goal.

Ed White led the Lumberjack rushers with 677 yards in 146 carries for an average of 4.6 yards per carry. Frank Buda was second with 540 yards in 111 carries.

Buda led the scoring race with 11 six-pointers for 66 points while White and Rego Piva tied for second with 36 points apiece.

Monty Peekes was the top 'Jack passer with 32 completions in 61 attempts for 352 yards and two touchdowns while Roger Toft was second with 20 completions in 38 tries for 264 yards and one touchdown.

The Humboldt State basketball team minus height and experience opens the 1961-62 season tonight and tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. in Ashland, Ore. against Southern Oregon College.

The Lumberjacks return home Monday and Tuesday to meet San Francisco Presidio starting a four game home stand. Both games will start at 8:15 p.m.

Franny Givins has had his netters scrimmaging local town teams for the past week and was still undecided at press time as to his starting line up.

However, one sure starter is guard Ron Good. The high jumping sophomore is the key to the Lumberjack offense.

Givins has moved Good into a forward spot for his rebounding power on defense, but Good will play most of the offense at one of the three guard spots in this year's offense.

Good will also see some action at the post on offense, moving inside from the guard position.

Another good bet to start is Joe Taylor. The Del Norte High graduate likes the long jump shot, and he saw considerable action at the tale end of last season.

The third guard spot is a toss up between Pat O'Brien and Tom Hope. Both are from the Mother Lode area, and they have played on the Junior Jacks together.

Hope attended Modesto Junior College last year, but was at Humboldt for the 1959-60 season.

Givins is still looking for the right combination for the remaining two starting posts. Norman Moe and Jack Penrod head the field, but Ted Snapp, Dennis Bolinger and Mike Glimpsee have been looking good in the scrimmages.

Playing Both Evergreen Co-Champs in 5 Days Big Mistake - - Sarboe

"Our biggest mistake was playing both of the Evergreen Conference co-champions (Whitworth and Central Washington) within five days," said head Lumberjack coach Phil Sarboe after his team split with the two Washington teams.

Humboldt took the measure of Central Washington 24-14 and then were handed their second setback of the year 10-0 by the Whitworth Pirates in a Thanksgiving Day tussle.

Sarboe had words of praise for the Central Washington team saying, "They were a very fine team, our kids were really up for the game and played well. If we would have switched around and played them second they probably would have beaten us."

Sarboe went on to say that he wasn't satisfied that the Lumberjacks played their best game against Whitworth. "The boys were just tired from the Washington game and Whitworth had a real easy game the weekend before and they were really ready for us."

Although the Lumberjacks closed

ed out their season on a losing note they came through with their fourth straight successful campaign. Their record over the past four years has been 35-5-1. 7-1-1 in 1958, 9-1-0 in 1959, 11-1-0 in 1960 and 8-2 in 1961.

"We had another wonderful year," concluded Sarboe. "Even in losing I think the other teams will have to say we were tough to handle. The kids were real outstanding."

'Jack Cagers Split Pair

The Humboldt State basketball team split a pair of informal scrimmages with Watson & Mehan of the Eureka Adult League Monday and Tuesday nights in the Men's Gym.
