Runnerup 'Jacks Hope for Miracle

By NORM KAVA
Sports Editor

Assured of at least a tie for second place and with faint hopes of Far Western Conference cage crown still flickering, Humboldt State's hustling basketball team travels to Alameda State, tonight and first place San Francisco State, tomorrow night.

If the Lumberjacks get over Alameda and always dangerous Chico upsets SF State tonight, Humboldt State will have a chance at tying for the championship.

Coach Franny Givins' team, after its pair of wins last weekend over Nevada (74-61) and Sacramento State (37-31), has a 7-3 conference mark and an overall record of 13-9. So, this will be Humboldt State's first winning season in five years, regardless of the two Bay Area encounters.

Alameda, a team which employs a full-court zone press, has won two of its last three FWC games. The Pioneers are extremely tough to beat on their home court and seek revenge for a 15-point loss to HSC earlier this year.

The Pioneers are led by a 1961-62 All-FWC forward Darnell Mikel and sharpshooting guard Larry Lauritzen, who made the second all-conference squad. Lauritzen missed last week's SF State game due to a pulled leg muscle but is expected to play this weekend against HSC and Chico.

Other Alameda starters include Kendall Simmons, Art Keller and Gary Rodgers. Fast-moving guard Earl Busby also is likely to see plenty of action.

The class of the FWC, SF State (9-1), tries to repeat its 58-50 win over Humboldt tomorrow night, however it may be tougher this time. The Lumberjacks have won four straight, while the Gators have faltered a little bit.

Coach Paul Rundell has a well-balanced starting five, which includes two of the conference's top

Opening Spring Recital Sunday in Music Building

The Music Department will hold its first spring semester Student Recital Sunday evening in the Music Building Concert Room at 8:15 p.m.

The group of student musicians will include three pianists, three singers, a trumpeter and a quartet of clarinets, presenting a varied group of musical selections chosen largely from the classical and romantic periods.

The performers, all music majors or minors, are: pianists Michael Lagen, playing three Chopin Mazurkas; Marilyn Blake, who will play Debussy's "Le Cathedral Englobé" and "Prelude in B-flat Minor" by Shostakovich; and Gary Coon, playing the "Allegro" from Mozart's Sonata No. 15 in D major.

Soprano Gale Wilcox, accompanied by Sara Hallin, will sing "Hark, How Still" by Faanz and an aria from Veracini's opera "Rosalinda"; Ken Thruston, baritone, accompanied by Mark Goedicke, sings Handel's "Where'er You Walk" and "In The Country" by Haydn; Anne Pierson, soprano, accompanied by Donna Draut, will present "Mi Chiamano Mimi" from Puccini's "La Bohème".

James Oleott will present a group of selections for solo trumpet and the program will conclude with the French Suite for four B-flat clarinets, to be played by Carole Cress, Joan Byker, Norman Stoveland and Music Department assistant, Jerry Moore. The public is invited to the recital.

Council Defeats Pay Cut

The Student Council defeated a motion to reduce the ASB portion of Graduate Manager Howard Goodwin's salary in its meeting Tuesday night.

Representative-at-Large Glen Dreher's motion went down to a 9-1 vote, with one abstention. The motion called for the ASB half of Goodwin's salary to be cut in half, in effect a one-quarter reduction in his overall pay.

Dreher asked that a committee be set up to study the situation, but such a group was not established.

A committee to investigate the allocation of Sequoia Theater was appointed, and includes Pat Plesas, Bill Wagner, Carl Wolf and Jack Moore.

Another committee will study the two proposed constitutions and report on them next week. Dreher, head of the group, read a statement from John Rawlinson asking that his proposed document be considered without alteration.

Treasurer Bill Wagner reported that the Highwaymen grossed $1,099 at HSC.

Next Tuesday's meeting will be at the home of President Cornelius Siemens.

Forester's Ball Slated Tonight

The Forestry club will hold its annual Forester's Ball tonight in the women's gym. This will be the first of the informal dances sponsored by the club. The Melodiers will be featured and will play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

A prize of $10 will be given to the person guessing the number of pine seeds in a jar at the door.

Dress will be casual or regular school clothes. Prices are 50 cents stag and 75 cents drag.

Conservation Unlimited Celebrates Special Week

Spring Box List Posted in CAC

Every student carrying six or more units should be sure to check his student box in the mail room of the CAC. The spring semester box numbers have been posted including those of students who registered late. Since this is the only way the administration has of contacting each student on campus a $2 fine can be imposed upon students failing to keep an administrative appointment placed in the student box. If your name does not appear you are asked to contact Phyllis Givens in room 215 of the administration building.

Conservation Unlimited is celebrating the Fourteenth Annual National Conservation Week March 4-9 with displays on campus and will top the week off with a banquet at Eureka Inn on Saturday, March 9 at 7:30.

The club is sponsoring a color movie open to the student body on Friday at 11 a.m. in the Wildlife Auditorium.

The 14th Annual Conservation Banquet will feature Jim Yoakum, Wildlife Manager for Nevada's Bureau of Land Management, as guest speaker with Dr. Peter Black as master of ceremonies. A dance will follow the dinner.

The $3.75 tickets can be obtained from C.U. club members or the division of Natural Resources office in the Forestry Building, according to club president Brian Waters.

'Skate Boarders' Michelle Pritchett and Val Rideout display their form.

'Board Skating' Makes Sudden Revival at HSC

"Board skating" is "in" at Humboldt State College.

The novel sport, which failed to gain popularity and suffered a quick death when it was introduced here three years ago, is experiencing a sudden and enthusiastic revival. It has attracted a growing number of students of both sexes, and has resulted in one broken leg, several complaints about its noisy nature, and the unofficial endorsement of at least one faculty member.

The broken leg was sustained by a girl devotee whose identity the Health Center has declined to reveal.

The complaints have originated from instructors whose late afternoon classes are still in session when the daily madness begins, and from long-suffering campus neighbors who registered displeasure after a skating session continued unabated until 3 a.m.

The endorsement came from a professor unaware of either the broken leg or the complaints. "It looks like fun," he said, wistfully. "But only," he added quickly, brushing his gray hair off his forehead, "only for the young." He has suggested that the participants establish a time-and-distance record and challenge other colleges to beat it.

Wheeled Surf Board

A board skate is a board to which skate wheels are attached fore and aft to create what one enthusiast describes as "a sort of wheeled surf board for land travel." Although the boards are identical to the "belly boards" on which small boys of thirty years ago lay face downward for a thrilling nose-to-pavement ride, modern college-age technique requires an upright position.

Study In Guadalajara, Mexico

The Guadalajara Summer School, a fully accredited University of Arizona program, conducted in cooperation with professors from Stanford University, University of California, and Guadalajara, will offer July 1 to August 11, art, folklore, geography, history, language and literature courses. Tuition, board and room is $240. Write Prof. Juan B. Rael, P. O. Box 7227, Stanford, Calif.

"You stand on the board, one foot in front of the other," explains Val Rideout, Redwood Hall resident from San Bernardino who is an accomplished practitioner of the art, "and by using body English, guide yourself in the direction you wish to go." Some board skaters, he says, prefer to ride their boards sideways, feet at right angles to the axis of the board.

Beginners practice their maneuvers south of the dorms, while those who have graduated from novice class prefer the concrete path originating at the Music Building and ending on Sequoia Avenue, just opposite the new library. Experts attempt the "downhill slalom course" beginning at the cafeteria and ending at the College Elementary School. Most such attempts, however, end at the right-angle turn from Plaza into Sequoia where many crack-ups have occurred.

Walking Boards

One expert is Skip Roberts, Redwood Hall, whose specialty is "walking." Most skating boards are about a foot long; a walking board must be longer. That on which Roberts displays his ability to walk nonchalantly about while in rapid transit is 2½ feet long.

Among the most active board skaters, in addition to Rideout, Roberts, and some girl hobbling about the campus with her leg in a cast, are Dave Cramer, Doug Morrow, Ralph Marsh, Robbie Wigand, John Wooley, Gordie Cox and Ted Ballard, all of Redwood Hall, and Michelle Pritchett, Chardelle Cooper, Betty Philpott, Shirley Summers, and Teena Hurd, Sunset Hall.

HSC Curriculum Center Now Official Depository

Humboldt State College's Curriculum Materials Center has been named one of 18 libraries in the state to be designated as an official Depository.

As such, the Center will receive two copies of all important curriculum materials developed in the state (some 300 titles a year), as well as all phases of teacher-helps.

Dr. Lloyd N. Garrison, of the Humboldt County Public Schools office and a member of the State Curriculum and Publications steering Committee, is credited with major influence in obtaining the location here.

HSC's Depository will serve Humboldt, Mendocino and Del Norte counties. Trinity county patrons may elect to be served either by Humboldt or Chico State Colleges.

Nine other state colleges were named as Depositories, others of the 18 are county school departments, the California State Department of Education and the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Dorm Elects

Linda Pinion has been elected president of Sunset Hall, the women's dormitory. The other officers selected were: Joan Stone, vice president; Kathy Goldsbrough, secretary; Carmen Edwards, treasurer; Diane Campbell, fire marshal; Dale Stewart, historian; Jane Spaid, ICS representative; and Judy Gardan, AWS representative.

Applications for Student Teaching Due Next Month

Applications for student teaching this fall at both the secondary and elementary school levels must be completed and returned to the Teacher Education office by March 18.

After the application and approval sheets are in the Teacher Education office, students will be notified of a tentative student assignment or denial of applications.

There is a new schedule for applying for the secondary level of student teaching. When students pick up the application forms they must sign up for the program. Mr. Patrick H. McGlynn, Coordinator of Secondary Education, will answer any questions concerning the applications.

"Student teaching at the elementary level is a bit different than at the secondary level," said Mrs. Eleanor Kellenberger, Coordinator of Elementary Education. "Students participating in the program will receive the appointment to the College Elementary, McKinleyville or Arcata schools and will work a full day, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and will attend PTA meetings, teacher conferences and parent conferences."

Appointments will be made by Mrs. Kellenberger and the administration of the district: Mr. Lee Hawkins of Arcata, Dr. W. Raliegh of the College Elementary School and Mr. Jim Carvel of McKinleyville.

Student teachers at the elementary level will also participate in the Y camp project at Redway during the fall and spring semester.

Children at the 6th grade level for Arcata Elementary and at the 6-7-8th grades from CES attend the camp where they learn art, crafts, swim and study science and participate in projects.

High Schoolers In Confab Here

Approximately 275 local high school students attended the annual leadership conference held on campus last Friday, according to Mr. James Cunningham, faculty advisor.

The students from the Humboldt-Del Norte districts spent the day attending lectures, discussions, and touring the campus.

The conference is for the benefit of students to discuss mutual problems and possible solutions to these problems.

Sequoia Masque gambled when it chose to present Sophocles' "Oedipus The King" after a successful run of the modern "Look Homeward, Angel"—and they won.

The production, as evidenced by the Saturday night performance, is a great success. It continues this weekend.

This writer was admittedly skeptical about public acceptance of the ancient Greek tragedy which is completely different, in style and form, from the relatively modern plays on the Sequoia Masque roster.

There were many difficulties involved in producing a work of this sort. The audience might understandably have been confused by the use of the Greek chorus, a group of actors indirectly involved in the plot who serve as narrators and commentators of the action. Instead, the chorus was readily accepted.

The traditional lack of violent action in the tragedies presented another problem. The long dialogues with little corresponding stage action offered ample opportunity for ensuing boredom. This, however, was not the case. A talented cast, led by Bill Roberts as Oedipus, gave life to what could have been a monotonous evening.

Roberts' performance can be best described with one word—magnificent. His Oedipus was powerful, every inch the tragic king. His acting was strong from the beginning, gained in stature as the play progressed.

Oedipus was strongly supported by Bob Graham as the temple priest. Graham made the priest (a role quite unfamiliar to modern audiences) quite believable, while maintaining an aura of mysticism appropriate in a Greek tragedy.

Oedipus' queen, Jocasta, was unconvincingly portrayed by Gloria Osborne. At times she captured the feeling of the troubled, fearful queen, but then was unable to maintain the spirit. Her "off and on" portrayal weakened the role considerably.

As her brother Creon, Michael Murphy was devoid of any emotion whatsoever. His acting was painfully stilted—so unlike the colorful character he was supposed to be portraying.

One of the more outstanding supporting roles was that of the blind, old prophet Tiresias played by Frank Ross. His performance in the first act—the important conversation with Oedipus—was one of the high spots of the evening.

Pitcairn's Island Pocket Books C-457 (35c)
Heritage of the Bounty by Harry Shapiro Anchor N23 ($1.25)

Mutiny on the Bounty seems to be one of those books everyone has heard about but no one has read. It's a shame too, because it happens to be about the best sea story written in this century. Now, to coincide with the release of the movie version, Pocket Books has brought out the three novels that make up the Bounty trilogy.

In 1789, H.M.S. Bounty, sailing in the south Pacific, was taken over by a rebellious crew led by their first mate, Fletcher Christian, and aimed at their tyrannical captain, William Bligh. Mutiny tells of the events that led up to the mutiny, as well as the mutiny itself.

Men Against the Sea relates how Captain Bligh and eighteen loyal men were set adrift in an open boat by the mutineers and were forced to make their way 3600 miles across the south Pacific to land.

To escape justice, Christian and his men set sail from Tahiti in that same year with eighteen Polynesian men and women. Their establishment of a colony on one of the Pacific Islands is related in Pitcairn's Island. This is perhaps the most colorful story of all; a story of bloodshed and lust.

By all means get one or all of these books, you'll enjoy reading them.

For the more scientifically minded, Heritage of the Bounty examines the effects of race mixture and inter-breeding, and also traces the intermingling of British and Tahitian factors in forming an Anglo-Polynesian culture on Pitcairn.

These books are available at the Bookstore. The Bounty trilogy is also available at the library.

Mid-May Start For $385,000 Construction

Working drawings for a $385,000 corporation yard building for Humboldt State have been approved by the State Board of Trustees and construction should begin in mid-May, according to Dr. Lawrence Turner, HSC Executive Dean.

The board and batten building, planned to contain 21,900 feet of floor space, will be constructed in the triangle bounded by College Blvd., 14th St., and B St., across from the Trinity Hospital.

"We won a long and hard-fought battle on this one," Dr. Turner stated in releasing the information, "when we finally convinced the authorities that in this climate, inside storage is absolutely essential."

The new corporation yard complex, in addition to providing inside storage for pipe, conduit, electric cable, paint, and tools, will also include carpenter, electric, plumbing, paint and automotive repair shops, the campus heating plant, a store room for campus supplies such as paper and cleaning materials, a custodian's office, and a headquarters and lathe house for the campus groundsman crew.

Additionally, the building will be a garage for all campus wheeled vehicles as well as provide inside storage for the State Motor Pool cars for which Humboldt State is an area headquarters.

50th Anniversary Money Short

"We're in somewhat the same position as a family on a hamburger budget which feels a need to provide steak when the rich and influential relatives come to visit."

In these words, Dr. William Ladd, Assistant to the President, epitomized the financial problems facing Humboldt State's Fiftieth Anniversary Committee, of which he is general chairman. "While we have obtained some funds," he explained, "our best and most economical approach, and that we shall use whenever possible, is to utilize regular college events, publications, and programs but to give them a Fiftieth Anniversary orientation."

Dr. Ladd cited the Library Dedication scheduled for April 4 as an example. "We'd be having the dedication anyway," he said, "so we can add a few frills and use the occasion as the official opening of our Anniversary year."

All Contributions

Total funds already allocated came entirely from contributions and are well under $4,000, Dr. Ladd said, and include the following: $1,160 from the Associated Student Body, $1,000 from Lumberjack Enterprises, Inc., and $1,250 which is a personal contribution from the individual members of the Humboldt State Advisory Board. "We may get an extra $250 from the Humboldt State College Foundation," Dr. Ladd added.

A portion of this tentative budget was earmarked by the contributors for specific purposes, Dr. Ladd explained, pointing out that nearly half of the ASB contribution is intended to augment the regular Sempervirens budget, and that the Advisory Board contribution had been allocated for the official banquet, May 8, and for additional news space in a special tabloid edition of The Eureka Newspapers.

The tabloid, Dr. Ladd said, will be published at the newspaper's expense and will have an 80% advertising, 20% news ratio. "We shall use $500 for the purchase of advertising space which we will fill with additional news," Dr. Ladd said.

Won't Ask Locals

Dr. Ladd emphatically rejected the suggestion that the Committee might be planning to ask local organizations or businesses for contributions. "Definitely not," he said. "Local people already make contributions for various college purposes. We're not going to ask them any more."

The Committee is composed of ten faculty or administration members, the Humboldt State Student Body President, and the President of the Alumni Association.

"We can use only one criterion in the allocation of funds for the Fiftieth Anniversary Year," Dr. Ladd stated, "and that is what, in our considered judgement will most effectively contribute to the welfare and best interests of the college."

Hilltopper Magazine will continue its prize contest for short fiction in the Spring semester and inaugurate an additional contest for a prize-winning photo feature on a similar basis, first semester editor, Hobert Shultz announced Friday.

The deadline for both contests will be just before mid-term. They will be open to Humboldt State students and past students, including the Extension Division.

Judges in the photo contest will be Professor Tom Knight of the Art Department and members of the magazine staff to be specified later. Subject matter is not restricted to student life, but prize winners will be chosen in part on the basis of the feature's interest to the magazine's readers. The contest will aim to select a series of photographs of high aesthetic quality and human interest organized on a single theme.

The prize, Shultz announced, is mainly in the publication, though a ten-dollar award will be made to the winner to defray the cost of film, printing and enlarging. Features are limited to black and white photography.

More details of the contest will be announced later, according to Shultz.

Golfers Open Season

'Jacks To Host Chico

The Humboldt State College golf team opens its 1963 season tomorrow against Chico State's linksmen at the Bayside Golf Course.

The match will be the first home match against a Far Western Conference opponent.

Humboldt finished sixth in the FWC last year but with four returning lettermen coach Ford Hess feels the team "should be considerably stronger this year."

Leading the squad are veterans Don Harling, a two-year letterman, Dick Visser, a two-year letterman from two years ago, and Ron Modafferri and Jeff Ziegler, a pair of sophomore monogram winners.

Others on the squad are promising freshmen Brad Bishop, Dick Orr and Curt Cooper.

Hess did not decide upon his first five until yesterday when the group completed qualifying rounds. Harling and Ziegler led the first round of the 18-hole qualifying with 78 and 79 respectively.

The 'Jacks compete in a six-game schedule this year, all pointing towards the FWC finals May 10 and 11 at Chico State.

It will approach the "Eighth Wonder of the World," but don't count the Lumberjacks out of getting that much-desired tie for first in the Far Western Conference basketball race. Of course, Humboldt must beat both Alameda and SF State and then get some cooperation tonight from Chico against the Gators.

The Wildcats were slaughtered by San Francisco, 80-53 when the two teams met at Chico, so on the surface things appear bleak. However, Chico came to life last weekend and blasted Sacramento by 17 points and Nevada by 13. The 'Cats are 5-5 in conference competition and still harbor hopes of tying HSC for second place.

Chico's all-conference candidate, center Wes Walsvick, came up with two superlative performances and here's hoping he has just one more left in him. Walsvick, who also gave the Lumberjacks plenty of trouble, scored 44 points and grabbed 49 rebounds for a nice weekend's work.

Punky Rogers continues to hit his free throws in FWC play at a fantastic clip. Rogers garnered 10 of 11 tries last weekend and has now made 49 out of 54. It doesn't take much difficulty in figuring this to be over 90 per cent!

Wendell Hayes has fallen behind Walsvick in the torrid race to lead the conference in rebounds. Hayes has picked off 117 rebounds in 10 games, which is two behind the leading total. Jack center Larry Krupka is in third place not far back of the leaders with 113.

Coach Franny Givins' squad is also tops in team defense, having allowed a mere 53.5 points per game and team rebounding. San Francisco is dominating both team and individual scoring thanks to Brad Duggan and Mike Carson.

Humboldt State has compiled the finest season record among all the quintets in the FWC. The Green and Gold is 13-9 on the season compared to Alameda and San Francisco, who are both 12-11.

A good showing in the Bay Area by the Lumberjacks could bring them a bid to the NAIA Western Regionals. The Far Western Conference cage champion is obligated to appear in small college NCAA tournament and by all odds this will be SF State. Humboldt, Sacramento and Chico are all members of both the NCAA and NAIA and the 'Jacks with two more victories could pile up a rather impressive season record.

Looks like coach Ced Kinzer will have a pretty solid baseball team. The only real question is how a relatively young pitching staff will hold up. Veteran chuckers Larry Taylor and Tom Leitz both looked good in their 1963 debuts as did sophomore Jay Dickinson.

Kinzer will get quite a bit of help when basketball season ends from infielders Ted Snapp, Gary Owens and Jim Bonomini. Snapp was first string second baseman at the tail-end of last year, while Owens and Bonomini are a pair of highly-touted freshmen from St. Bernards.

Ten 4-man teams start on Monday what will be Humboldt State's first attempt at an intramural bowling program. This is really a good deal for all prospective bowlers since the price is right ($1 for three games plus shoes) and so is the incentive (trophy to the winning squad).

By the way, there are still openings for two more teams. So, contact Redwood Lanes if you're interested. Bowling is from 3-5 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Crowds at Humboldt State basketball games were very encouraging over the last half of the season. That is the way it should always be. And while we are on this subject we feel congratulations should go to song queens Pat Graves, Nancy Mendes, Andy Roccaforte and Marilee Starkey for a job well done. Even when the band didn't show up, which was frequent, they were always on hand to create some much-needed enthusiasm. Let's hope this becomes a tradition at HSC.

'Jacks Divide With College All-Stars

The Humboldt State Lumberjacks play the Shasta Knights in a home and home encounter this weekend after opening the 1963 baseball season by splitting a pair with the College All-Stars winning the opener 8-2 and dropping the second 6-5.

Larry Taylor chalked up the win for the 'Jacks although going only three innings. He gave up two hits while hurling shutout ball and was relieved by Tom Leitz who pitched the next three innings while Jay Dickinson went the final three.

Humboldt built up an early 2-0 lead on single tallies in the second and third innings and put the frosting on the cake with four runs in the fifth. The All-Stars scored lone runs in the sixth and eighth innings.

Centerfielder Dave Minor collected two hits including a double and a 340-foot homerun to pace the Lumberjack batters. Gary Mayes, Ralph Mayo, Monty Feekes and Scott Clow hit singles while Dan Cook and Joe Taylor got doubles.

The All-Stars came back with 14 hits in the Sunday encounter to dump the 'Jacks who used four pitchers in the loss. Coach Ced Kinzer gave all of his mound corps some action with Mike Thurber taking the loss. The All-Stars scored two runs in the third as Bud Freeman singled, Steve Cottrell got life on a bobbled sacrifice, Wayne Hartman bunted but was cut down trying to steal second and Bob Bonomini followed with a double.

Humboldt came right back with four runs in the bottom of the third as Cottrell gave up three walks while Joe Taylor, Dave Minor and Roger Toft collected singles. The deadlock was broken in the seventh by a 350-foot homerun by former Humboldt Dennis Pontoni. The 'Jacks came back in the ninth with two men on but were unable to drive a tally across.

Dave Minor again led the batters by getting a pair of hits including a double, his second of the series. Other 'Jacks hitting safely included Joe Taylor, Tom DiMercurio, Roger Toft, Frank West, Scott Clow and Dan Cook.

The All-Stars were paced by second sacker Bud Freeman who incidentally is the manager for the Lumberjacks. Freeman collected three hits in four times at bat driving in two runs.

Coach Kinzer has named Larry Taylor, (1-0), to pitch the opener with Shasta while Tom Leitz will head the mound duty in the nightcap. The Redding tilt will start at 1 p.m. as will the All-Star game.

There are several traditional all-college functions for which from four to eight chaperones are required, including the Homecoming Dance, the Sno-Ball, the Sweetheart Ball, the Spring Prom, the Sophomore Hop, and the Lumberjacks Days dance. At smaller group events, the sponsor and one couple are considered adequate chaperonage.

on Sunday at the college field. Kinzer has named no starter for the All-Star game, but again will rotate his mound corps.

'Jacks Travel to Alameda, Frisco State

JJs Sweep Pair, Play In Bay Area

The Humboldt State College Junior Jacks ran their season record to 13-5 while closing out their home season with a pair of victories.

The jayvees who romped to a 56-37 win over Fort Bragg High Friday and nipped Britt Lumber of the Eureka Adult League 53-51 Saturday, travel to the Bay Area this weekend to meet the San Francisco State and Alameda junior varsity quintets.

Ken Kline pumped in 19 points to pace the Junior Jacks to their win over Fort Bragg to avenge an earlier upset loss to the Timberwolves.

In Saturday's encounter, the Lumbermen, hungry for a win to avenge a 52-40 loss, held a seven-point lead with seven minutes left to play but couldn't hold onto it.

Gary Owens canned two points with 2:58 left in the game and Jim Bonomini added a field goal with 30 seconds left to go to ice the win for Humboldt.

The Junior Jacks came out on top of a rugged, seasaw first half to post a 29-28 lead at the intermission.

Britt Lumber opened the second half with a blazing fast break which netted them a 40-33 lead five minutes into the half.

The visitors continued to hold the lead and held a 49-42 lead with seven minutes left to go.

Lynn Lourenco hit a pair of field goals to knot the score at 49-49 with 4:13 left in the game.

Jim Lyons then hit a long jumper to give Britt a 51-50 lead and set the stage for Owens' game winning jumper.

Kline once again paced the Junior Jacks, this time with 13. Lourenco and Owens each hit 10.

Mason Milton and Button Mintey tanked 11 apiece and Tom Lee added 10 for the Lumbermen.

The probable starting lineup for the San Francisco and Alameda games will include forwards Roger Barisdale and Lynn Lourenco, center Ken Kline and guards Gary Owens and Jim Bonomini.

Others who will see action are, Harold Ellis, Bruce Nelson, Mike Thumber, Marion Chandler and Jim Cosentino.

Wendell Hayes (with ball), the Far Western Conference's leading rebounder, comes down with another one against Sacramento State last weekend. Humboldt State went on to win 37-31 and clinch at least a tie for second place in the FWC.

Hagerstrand Preparing For Post-Season Meet

By RON KUNSTAL
Sports Writer

Three-time Far Western Conference 177-pound wrestling champion Al Hagerstrand is preparing for the biggest challenge of his mat career—a national title—competing in the NCAA-PCI College tournament at Fresno on March 8 and 9.

Hagerstrand, who closed out a brilliant four year college campaign, gained the right to the regionals by successfully garded Ed Appleman of Oregon Tech.

Dave Rockwell, a first semester freshman from Pleasant Hill, pulled the upset of the meet when he nabbed two wins to earn the 147 pound championship. Rockwell, a North State champion a few years back was wrestling 12 pounds over his weight in the conference matches.

Humboldt finished in third spot with 19 points following the Cal Aggies who had 22 points. Conference champion Chico State recorded 30 points while last place San Francisco State nabbed seven.

Humboldt managed only two wins in the afternoon encounters, but picked up in the evening slate to win five consolation titles plus the two individual championships.

Joe De Freitas was pinned in his initial match with Bob Taylor, neither of the wrestlers having points. Taylor went on to win the championship while De Freitas nipped Joe Chan of San Francisco 4-3 to win the consolation title. Veteran 130-pounder Howard Covington suffered an opening round loss to eventual champion Mike Simpson of Chico State but came players in Brad Duggan (6'4" forward) and Mike Carson (5'9" guard). Duggan has averaged over 18 points a game and leads the Gators in rebounding. Carson also is hitting 18 points a game and leads SF's tenacious man-to-man press.

Other San Francisco starters are guard Bill Nocetti (6'), forward Jim Cunningham (6'3") and center Tom Cleary (6'7"). Nocetti scored 21 points in the Gator's previous victory over HSC.

Humboldt banks its hopes on the high-scoring front line of Wendell Hayes, Punky Rogers and Larry Krupka. All three men have averaged in double figures throughout the season.

'Jacks Win Two

Sacramento's weaving offense and its tough zone combined with cold shooting on both sides resulted in one of the lowest scoring games ever played by a Humboldt State basketball team. The Lumberjacks managed to come out on top by a 37-31 count despite hitting only 25 per cent from the field. The Hornets shot a frigid 22 per cent.

Turning point of the tight game came midway through the second half when Sacramento center Ron Rohrer was called for a technical foul after disputing a foul call. Punky Rogers then proceeded to drop in three straight free throws and put the locals ahead to stay.

Hayes led the 'Jacks in scoring with 14 points, followed by Rogers with 10. Larry Krupka was held to five markers, but turned in an excellent defensive game, blocking numerous shots and grabbing ten rebounds.

Guard Tom Hope put a blanket on Sacramento's usually high-scoring John Dille and held him to three points. Dille failed to notch a field goal during the contest. Meanwhile, Hayes collared the highly-regarded Rohrer and stopped him with eight points.

Humboldt won the battle of the back in the evening to beat Larry Michele of the Cal Aggies 4-0.

Freshman 137-pounder Larry Nowakowski opened against former Humboldt Keith Thrailkill and lost an 8-3 decision. Thrailkill later went on to win his second FWC championship. Nowakowski pinned Lowell Cheek of the Gators in the nightcap to win consolation honors.

Rockwell opened with a 3-1 decision over Jim Simmons of San Francisco and finished with a 5-4 decision over Bill Lenson of Chico. Lenson was top seeded in the 147-pound division. Don Lewis dropped both matches in the 157-pound class, losing a 5-2 decision to Larry Hendrickson of the Gators and a 7-1 consolation match to Ken Harris of Chico.

In the 167-pound division Pete Nasmyth was pinned in the opening match with Chico's Stan Benson but came back to pin Larry Doyle of the Aggies. Hagerstrand scored a 13-1 decision over Ray Rochelle of Chico and later pinned Cal Aggies' Stuart Rhodes in the second round. Heavyweight Dennis Grotting, who replaced ineligible Ron Treat, lost a 4-2 decision to eventual champion Larry Cook of Chico in the first match. Grotting had his man in a pinning combination at the end of the match. In the final match Grotting scored a 5-0 decision over Keith Rorrigin to break even for the meet.

boards, but only by a slight 36-34 margin. The Lumberjacks and Hornets rate 1-2 in FWC team rebounding.

Pack Outclassed

Humboldt taking full advantage of Bill Robinson's absence avenged a previous defeat to Nevada University by smashing the Wolf-pack, 74-61 before a capacity crowd of 1200 onlookers.

A brilliant all-around performance by Hayes led to the Reno five's downfall. Wendell scored 22 points, picked off 12 rebounds and set up many baskets with beautiful passes. Hayes also did a good job on top-scoring forward Stew Johnson, holding him to 12 points.

The 'Jacks blistered the nets at around 45 per cent as Krupka, Rogers and Hope all hit in double figures. Reserves Chuck York and Denny Baker also came up with some timely baskets.

Assemblymen Make An Attack On Higher Education

By Red Mitchell

Good morning. Today I would like to draw your attention away from the immediate confines of the hilltop campus. For—while we have been grousing over the price of milk and Howard Goodwin's salary, three good men and true in Sacramento have been busy concocting a legislative bombshell which would drastically change public higher education in California. It would hit you right in the pocketbook.

The gentlemen in question are the Messrs. Collier, Cusanovich, and Badham, members of the Assembly. The bill they have put in the hopper is A. B. 1155, titled Higher Instruction Costs. The purpose of the bill is to switch these costs from the general population to the individual student who receives the instruction.

The bill is written in the form of an addition to the Education Code, Division 16.5, commencing with Section 22750. It is in three parts. Article 1 deals with general provisions. Articles 2 and 3 are concerned with the University of California and the State Colleges respectively.

$3,000 Per Student

Under Article 3, every person who enrolls in a state college will have to sign a note in favor of the state, to cover the costs of his instruction. The cost has been conservatively estimated at $3,000 per student. Repayment of the note must begin one year after leaving school, and must be completed within 21 years. Just to make certain that no student cheats the state of its money by dying too soon, each student will have to purchase life insurance through the Director of Finance.

This policy, with the state named as beneficiary, will be for the amount of outstanding debt, plus accrued interest. Under this law, any person, regardless of age, would have capacity to sign such a note, and would be legally obligated to pay it off.

In Article 1, the authors admit that "the State as a whole" benefits from free higher education. They go on to point out, however, that students at such schools are especially benefited. A. B. 1155 creates a method whereby those persons who receive the benefits of a higher education can reimburse the state for funds expended in support of their education.

The authors of the proposed law seem to view all "benefits" as monetary ones. The rationale is "if they make more money because the state paid for their education, then they should pay us back."

Granted, statistics reveal that people with an education make more money than those without. A case can be made, though, for the position that says the value of education must be measured in terms other than monetary.

Marriage to Suffer?

No one would deny that a woman with an education is better equipped to manage a household and be an all around "good citizen" than her semi-literate counterpart. Yet, where is she to get the funds to make her payments to the state treasury? From her husband? Remember, he is struggling to meet HIS payments while feeding and clothing a growing family. (Actually this problem may not arise. After all, what young man is going to propose to a girl with a 20-year mortgage on her head.)

What about the young man who gives up a lucrative job as a skilled laborer to train for a career as a teacher or social worker? He is making less money than before, so how is the Director of Finance to make a pecuniary evaluation of the benefits he has received from higher education?

At bottom the issue presented by A. B. 1155 is one of redistribution of income. The question that must be answered is whether the proposed distribution under A. B. 1155 will benefit the general welfare of California as well as the present system. It will not.

Bill a Threat

This bill poses a real threat for the whole program of higher education in California. We would face a mass exodus of students. Who would sign a 20-year note for several thousand dollars when he could pay out-of-state tuition in Oregon or Nevada and come out ahead? Indeed, if you are to be forced to put yourself in hock, why not go all the way and enroll at one of the better private schools?

It is true that many state college graduates will go on to make a pile. The high incomes they will demand will create new tax revenues. The new homes they build will increase property tax monies. The list is endless. The point is that these graduates are paying for their education, and paying well.

A. B. 1155 is no less than an attack on free higher education, one of the most important factors in California's growth and development. We must maintain free education if the state colleges and California are to flourish.

BLOOM SERIOUS

Following a hiking accident near Crescent City three weeks ago, HSC Librarian Charles Bloom is still in serious condition in a Crescent City hospital.

Cards and letters may be sent to Bloom at Seaside Hospital, Crescent City, Calif.

Letters To The Editor

Editor:

HSC was fortunate to host The Highwaymen at a recent concert appearance. The foursome gave a fine performance to an appreciative audience but both audience and performers suffered two unnecessary handicaps—a poor public address system and a wobbly spotlight.

Now any entertainers worth their salt make the best of existing conditions, and The Highwaymen did just that; however, some speakers capable of reasonable music reproduction and a spotlight with a firm base mount might have made the show less unnerving for the performers and more enjoyable for the audience.

It is unlikely that either handicap will limit turnouts at future live engagements but some improvement in the matter does seem worth consideration.

Sincerely,

Dail L. Moffett

Editor:

In regard to the Highwaymen's appearance here at Humboldt I would like to know why the Sequoia Theater was not used for their performance.

In my opinion it is an embarrassment to our school, or should be, to ask performers to appear in the men's gymnasium. If the gymnasium was the only place available it would be understandable, but it is not.

Sequoia Theater was built for the benefit of the entire Student Body, so why isn't it used for the various Student Body needs such as the Highwaymen?

Sawdust, Gas, Trash in Pond

Student curiosity has been aroused concerning the constant emptying and refilling of the pond situated in front of Sequoia Theater.

William Johnson, chief of maintenance at HSC, stated that the water was changed because of the large amount of sawdust in the air which settles on the pool, and because people are throwing paper, apple cores and other trash items into the water.

Johnson also said that on several morning the maintenance crew has found a film of oil or gasoline on the surface. It appears that a few students take delight in pouring oil on the waters and lighting it.

While there is no way to avoid sawdust fallout, the maintenance crew would be grateful if students would refrain from using the pond as a waste basket or bon fire, Johnson said.

Our Role

— EDITORIAL —

A few of the stories published recently in the Lumberjack have stirred up quite a bit of discussion among leaders of student government. One such story was the report (2-15-63) of the Student Council's considering cutting its portion of the Graduate Manager's salary.

While we were engaged in a discussion of this story with one council member another member finally commented, "Oh well, he's not trying to be nice."

That councilwoman was entirely right. We aren't trying to be nice at all in reporting the news. We are trying to be accurate, objective and complete (as space permits).

What really rankles some council members is that since there was a tabled motion before the body to consider the cut, the council as a whole was said to be considering the action. This is the case, whether or not all members favor it. But to criticize us for reporting the facts is irrelevant. We should be criticized if we did not report them. And in no way have we taken a stand. A news story is not a "pro" or "con" device, at least not in the Lumberjack.

Plans Approved For HSC Marine Lab at Trinidad

The proposed $445,000 Trinidad Marine Biology laboratory is now moving ahead at full steam with the passing of proposition 1A, according to Dean Lawrence Turner.

The program was slowed down because of the lack of funds and the approval of the preliminary plans, which now have been approved by the State Board of Trustees.

Preliminary plans include a large receiving room flanked with aquaria, which range from flat concrete pan-type tanks for rearing such sea life as sea anemones, 10 - 15 gallon circular tanks for containing small sea animals, to a large 10-foot circular tank for large sea life.

The aquaria will be supplied with salt water from plastic pipes extending some 500 feet out into Trinidad Bay, in order to avoid drawing in sandy or debris-filled water found nearer shore.

A classroom laboratory for study and dissection of sea life and a chart room, humidity-sealed to prevent excessive moisture from warping charts, are also planned.
