ELABORATE PROGRAM FOR FOUNDERS DAY AT HUMBOLDT STATE

GUESTS AT EVENING PROGRAM ARE VIERLING KERSEY, MAYOR SWEASY, AND A. J. HAMILTON

A full program is planned for Founder's Day tomorrow, which is the twentieth anniversary of the opening of Humboldt State Teachers College.

Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction and director of education, accompanied by members of the state board of education, will arrive by train tomorrow morning. The party will be met by faculty members and brought at once to the college where they will be served breakfast.

At 10 o'clock the visitors will be guests at the student body assembly, where they will be welcomed by James Hemphill, president of the student body. After the assembly, the visitors will be shown over the buildings and campus by a student committee appointed by President Hemphill.

At noon the men in the party will be guests at the Arcata Rotary Club meeting and the women members at a luncheon. Board members probably will confer with President Arthur S. Gist of the college, and Superintendent Kersey in the afternoon.

At 6 p. m. there will be an informal dinner in the College Commons. Reservations for this dinner, which is open to the public as well as to students and faculty, must be in the hands of Miss Sarah Davies, secretary to President Gist before noon today (Thursday).

The formal program will be held in the gymnasium beginning at 8 p. m., with J. J. Krohn of Arcata, president of the college improvement association, presiding.

Mayor Frank Sweasey of Eureka, will tell of the early days of the college, President Arthur S. Gist of Humboldt, will talk on the future of the college, and Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, will talk on "Education and National Recovery." President A. J. Hamilton of Chico State Teachers College, representing the state teachers colleges, will bring greetings. The A Cappella Choir under the leadership of Edmund Jeffers, will sing several numbers.

Following the program, the student body is giving a dance in honor of the occasion. President James Hemphill of the student body, has invited all those attending the program to remain for the dance.

Choir to Sing At Scotia Church

The Humboldt A Cappella Choir will sing six religious numbers at the Scotia Community Church on Sunday morning services, April 15. The program will be practically the same as the one at the First Presbyterian Church last month.

Harold Morehouse is pastor of the Scotia church.

Committee Head for Senior Service Named

Elva Quarnheim is chairman of the committee which is making arrangements for the Baccalaureate Services for the 1934 Senior class, according to an announcement made Monday by the Senior Class president.

The service will probably be held in some Eureka church since the majority of seniors are from that city.

NOON DANCE ALL SET FOR TODAY

The class in Organization of Physical Education and the Y. M. C. A. will co-operate this noon in putting on what they want to consider one of the best dances of its kind to be put on at Humboldt. Wayne Simpson, social chairman of the student body and member of the class, is heading the committee in charge.

Dancing will start promptly at 12:10 and continue till the fifth period classes take up. The dance is absolutely free to all students of the college. It is a definite attempt of the members of both organizations to give the students of Humboldt an opportunity to have a good time at their expense.

A number of "Dance Mixers" will feature the noon's entertainment, and it is the goal of the committee in charge to have everyone that space will permit, dancing and having a good time. Music will be furnished by Chuck Schmeder's Serenaders.

W.A.A. Delegation Goes To Santa Barbara

Miss Monica Wright, Ruth Carroll and Eleanor Renfro left Arcata Tuesday noon for Santa Barbara, where they will represent Humboldt at the Western Conference of the Athletic Federation of College Women, which is to be held on the campus of the Santa Barbara State Teachers College April 5, 6 and 7.

The local delegation will return next Monday.

State Board Will Be Guests of H.S.T.C.

Elaborate entertainment has been provided for the State Board of Education which will visit our college tomorrow during the Founder's Day celebration. The college either directly or indirectly will provide four affairs in their honor. These will be a breakfast on Friday morning in the College Commons, Luncheon at the Arcata Rotary Club, and an informal dinner in the commons from 6:15 to 7:30.

The following members of the State Board will be introduced at tomorrow's Student Assembly:

Allen T. Archer, Los Angeles; A. B. Carter, San Diego; Dr. Lewis P. Crutcher, Long Beach; J. Harold Decker, Los Angeles; Miss Alice Dougherty, Oakland; J. R. Gabbert, Riverside; Robert E. Galloway, Sacramento; Daniel C. Murphy, San Francisco; Mrs. Florence C. Porter, Bakersfield, and Miss Alice Rose Power, San Francisco.

HUMBOLDT CHOIR TO PRESENT PROGRAM ON KSL OR KGO

ARRANGEMENTS FOR HALF HOUR BROADCAST ARE BEING MADE BY J. W. HOWE

The A Cappella Choir of Humboldt will sing a half hour program over either KLX or KGO on Saturday night, April 28, sometime between 6 and 10 o'clock, according to an important announcement made Monday by Edmund Jeffers, director of the choir. Final arrangements have not been completed, but at present it looks as though the broadcast may be put on a chain hook-up.

J. Wendell Howe of the college faculty, is responsible for all arrangements for the radio program, and has been corresponding with radio officials for several weeks. However, the final agreement was made during the spring recess when Howe visited the radio officials in Oakland.

This is a signal honor for so young an organization as the A Cappella Choir, and reflects

Students Vote Favors Negative Side

The Pi Alpha Pi debate on "There Should be a Substantial Increase in the Powers of the President of the United States as a Permanent Policy." was held in the H. S. T. C. auditorium Friday, March 25.

Wayne Kelter and Oliver Viagle supported the affirmative. The negative was taken by Ruth Carroll and Janet Stewart.

In a vote taken by the student body, the affirmative was defeated by a large majority.

Garff Bell Wilson, dramatic instructor, presided.

New members were pledged into the Pi Alpha Pi and ribbons were presented to:

Catherine Hill, Elna Gries, Elise Henggi, Janet Stewart, Buster Marshall, and Dr. Vernon Puryear.

They Represent You

The affairs of the Associated Students of the Humboldt State Teachers College are administered by officers elected by the students of this institution from among their own number. Whoever may be elected to fill these offices for the coming year will beyond a doubt, perform their duties according to their own convictions and to the best of their abilities. But they should also represent the views of the majority of Humboldt students, not merely those of minor groups. To assure the election of officers of which this is true it is essential that every qualified voter shall take an intelligent interest in the nomination, primary election, and final election which are announced in today's Lumberjack.

Enrollment Faculty

Increase 500 percent

Twenty years ago, lacking one day, the first classes of Humboldt Teachers College were held.

The school at that time, known as the Humboldt State Normal School, opened in temporary quarters in the old Arcata Grammar School buildings. This building, since torn down, stood on ground now used as a lumber yard by the Hammond-Little River Redwood Company.

Sixty-one students were there on the opening day. There was a faculty of six: M. Van Matre, the first president, who himself taught, and five others.

Today the enrollment is nearly 400 (388 to be exact) and the catalog in addition to President Arthur S. Gist lists 31 faculty members.

At that time there were two courses offered, both for elementary teachers: a regular two-year course and in addition a one-year course for experienced teachers.

The Senior Ball is a regular Student Body dance and will be held in the Eureka Inn.

Financial Secretary Knows Much About Past Of Humboldt College

By RUTH CARROLL

"Have the checks come in yet?"

How many times a day must our financial secretary hear that bawling sentence during the first part of each month? to this and similar questions the dear lady, sitting perched on her "accounting stool," nods silently and smiles radiantly. I think she has become enough of a philosopher to know and be content with human nature, realizing proverbially that "curiosity killed a cat," doubting periodically the correlary to that adage as, one by one, more questions come pouring in to her office. Sometimes I think as I stand by watching that she has developed a fatalistic attitude which prompts her to believe that the torrents of unnecessary questions will cease in due time as did the floods which caused the deluge. At any rate she sits and smiles enigmatically.

If Mrs. Woodcock is the target of many superfluous questions, then more so is the "bull's eye" for untold numbers of unclassified interrogations. What is the janitor to do this afternoon at 2:30? How shall we clean the gym floor? Who is to use the Social Unit this evening? Where are the back curtains for the Auditorium stage? What budget did Humboldt have 15 years ago? How much oil do we need to order for the furnace during the next biennial? How much does the student body have left in the petty cash fund? And so goes on the endless chain of subtly interwoven questions from the president, the faculty, employees, and students. If the telephone rings in the president's office, six times out of ten the answer is, cheerily: "Sorry. I don't know. I'll connect you with Mrs. Woodcock's office. She'll know."

And why shouldn't she? Mrs. Woodcock was one of the first students of Humboldt State Teachers College. (Tut, tut, don't jump at conclusions. Humboldt's just celebrating its twentieth anniversary this week.) She went to school at Humboldt when the total male population here was one. (No; she didn't marry him.) But I have heard that she aided her future husband in making an agricultural note book when they both attended college, and as a result is debited with a red "F" on permanent records in the office today. But what cared the future "financial secretary" when the credit side of the transaction meant a husband?

Mrs. Woodcock is a literal "archive" for Humboldt history, little of which has been recorded in printed form. After the Founder's Day program, if you want to know something interesting about the old swimming pool, the dormitory, or the commons, just drop in on Mrs. Woodcock some time in her more idle moments and learn unpublished history of Humboldt College. What's another question more or less in the financial secretary's life?

An Experiment On A Human

By MARK ROE

The association that goes on in the so-called minds of human beings determines to a great extent whether he is a high brow, low brow, moron, idiot or something else. Unless one is unquestionably certain that he will fall in the high class, he should not reveal his stream of thought to the fickle public lest they judge him accordingly and classify him in such a manner as to injure his pride, position, comfort or income. As a rule a man so masks or controls the expression of his mind to make the highest impression upon others, but occasionally when a couple of good fellows get together with no inhibitory factors present, the class in which they will fall can pretty well be determined by the general run of the conversation.

Purely on behalf of science I performed an experiment in this line. Accompanied by a young gentleman friend of mine, upon whom, incidentally, I placed the greatest confidence and held in the highest respect, I carefully selected an environment in which convention would not enforce restrictions upon ones mind. Here I succeeded in getting my friend to indulge in spontaneous idleness of mind and body. I then suggested a subject from which I thought might follow a discussion enabling me to watch the stream of thought of this intelligent and high moraled young man.

"Sir," I began, "in the delicate lines of poetry is brought to us the histories of many peoples, and the philosophy of the immortals." The suggestion of the philosophy of poets was sufficient to start his mind drifting from one association to another in such a fashion as to result successfully from the standpoint of the experiment, but so disastrously for my ideals. He continued in a dreamy voice that was doubtless an expression of his inner self; the intricate process of the human mind was being revealed. "It seems strange that the philosophy of so many poets is so morbid. Look at all the poems that deal with death and burial.

Some poets want to die hard and go down fighting. Some want to slip out easily and not know what hits them. I'd just as soon die with my head up and eyes open. You'd stand a better chance getting out alive. Some want to be buried at sea, others on the hill or in a valley. Still others want to be cremated and have their ashes scattered hither and yon or placed in a vase and set on the mantle. Personally I wouldn't mind that idea much, but I would much prefer having my ashes put in a beer bottle. Which only goes to remind me—how's for another glass?"

Here my faith in humanity was completely shaken. To think that a man of such high intelligence and moral ideals should be guilty of a train of thought that would so quickly degenerate from an elevated subject like poetry to the dark depths of drinking beer was more than I could bear.

The abhorrence—Now the editor of the Lumberjack is reading this over my shoulder. If there is anything in the world (besides work and being punched on the nose, that is) that annoys me worse than having people read over my shoulder it is having them make remarks about it. That is just what the editor is doing now. He says that there is another way of judging a person's character than by following their train of thought, but he wouldn't judge my friend too highly either seeing the kind of company he keeps. I wonder if he could have meant anything personal in that? Besides he adds that the suggestion of the beer bottle was probably physical and not mental so I wasn't being fair with my friend. That must have had a meaning too. Also he is making a crack about my writing up the results of some of my other experiences along this line. He says it would be a breeze. Or I wonder if he means a draught? Anyway he discourages me. I guess I won't write the thesis for my doctor's degree on character determination by mind reading.

The Student Teachers Club held its regular meeting in the kindergarten rooms of the College Elementary School Monday evening.

Here Is the Proof Girls Are Careless

Girls are more careless than boys, as a rule—at least that seems to be the case at Humboldt College.

The greatest percentage of the articles to be found in the Lost and Found department of the school once belonged to some girl. This department contains such things as women's fountain pens, earrings, gloves, purses, brooches, bracelets, etc. Of course the boys are not infalable because the department contains an occasional fountain pen or pin belonging to some boy.

Purses seem to be the most constant visitors to the Lost and Found bureau, purses whose contents would indicate that a girl's was her fortune; lipsticks, powder-puffs, rouge and many other articles compounded for the purpose of making women more beautiful, but seldom any money.

Questioning of one of the bus drivers who bring students from Eureka and Blue Lake to the College, showed the same thing. Girls are the only ones to forget their belongings on the bus. But what about the time one of the drivers forgot to get up?

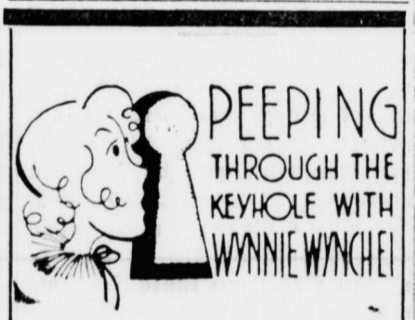

This predominance of women's articles might be attributed to the fact that women have fewer pockets—the designers of clothes for the school girl should take note. More pockets, it would seem, would aid the coed in keeping that "school girl complexion."

Senior Gift, Program At Assembly May 18

Louis Tallman, dramatics student, has been named head of the committee to make arrangements for the Senior Assembly program for the last Friday in this semester, May 18. Wayne Keltner is reported to be working hard composing a clever skit for that program.

A feature of the Assembly program will be the presentation of the Senior Class gift, the identity of which the seniors are trying to keep hidden.

A "Courtesy Program" was given by children of the College Elementary School at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Hi, People! — What a mad scramble its been—Easter 'n all! But now there's a wee bit of a lull and I've time to look around at all the perfectly grand, new things we have here at Daly's.

Garff Bilson addressed the Eureka Rotary Club Monday noon on the topic "War Clouds Over Europe."

However tame and unromantic that announcement may seem, Mr. Wilson was engaged for that appearance by wire at his home in Berkeley. It looks as though a public speaker just can't keep away from speaking engagements, no matter how far away he goes.

College "Y" Sponsors Farmers Ball

The college Y. M. C. A. gave one of the most successful informal dances of the season last Friday evening when the Farmers Ball was held at the college gymnasium. Farmers and farmettes dressed in gingham and overalls romped in a real barnyard setting, made even more realistic by the live animals and poultry that fluttered about among the crowd.

The orchestra was seated among haystacks in the center of the floor.

Elva Baumgartner won the prize for the best dressed farmette while Bill Morehouse carried away the boy's prize.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wrigley, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coons, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Morrow, all of Eureka, and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wilson and Delbert Jeffers of Arcata.

Lumber Company Now On Old College Site

Humboldt State Teachers College had had two sites and been housed in three different sets of buildings.

The college opened in 1914 in quarters in the old Arcata Grammar school building, which stood at that time near the railroad tracks, on what is now the property of the Hammond-Little River Redwood Company.

The college moved to its present location on January 1, 1916. However, the present buildings around the quadrangle had not yet been erected.

Instead, students and faculty found a one-story frame structure composed of four long sections, in the shape of the letter "S." The present College Commons formed the bottom of this "E." At that time the administrative offices were in the present "South Room" of the Commons, and the rest of the present Commons was occupied by the domestic science department and the college library.

The middle arm of the "E" was about as it is today, except, of course that the present "little gym" was "the" gymnasium. The upper arm of the "E", now occupied by the industrial arts department, then was given over to the college training school. Incidentally, underneath this section where fortunate ones now park their cars there were machine shops, shopwork being given as part of the course.

What is now the girls' dormitory at that time formed the back of the "E", running east and west and occupying the space now occupied by the south end of the social unit and the present library. It then contained the industrial arts department and several class rooms. It was "taken for a ride" to its present location when construction started on the present main building in 1919.

There was no college commons in those days. Students living too far away to go home for the noon meal brought their lunches and ate them wherever convenient. They didn't eat in cars, incidentally, for a very simple reason: no one brought cars to school. Eureka students came over on the train and walked up from the station. Beginning in 1922, however, the train was run to the foot of the college hill; there is still near there a railroad sign reading "Normal Junction." Incidentally, boys and girls were not permitted to eat their lunches together.

Save your nickles and go to the Senior Banquet on Friday, May 11th.

No Outside Coach For 1934 Football

The Executive Council decided at a meeting held Monday afternoon to drop the matter of obtaining the services of an outside man as football coach for the coming season.

According to James Hemphill, president of the student body, a closer survey showed that the financial status of the student body will not warrant undertaking a more extensive football schedule.

"This is regrettable," President Hemphill said following the meeting, "because we had hoped to offer the fans of Humboldt County a number of football games here with outside teams instead of a limited schedule similar to that of last year."

Women Graduates Had To Make Gowns

Seventeen years ago when the girl graduates of Humboldt State Teachers College—then called Humboldt State Normal School—appeared at the commencement exercises, each one was supposed to wear a graduation dress of her own making—not to cost over five dollars.

This information was discovered by committee members going over old records in preparation for the Founder's Day celebration tomorrow.

The catalog of 1917 reads: "The expense connected with graduation is very small. The sec-

German Conditions Familiar To Student Immigrant of 1929

By C. W. FROST

To Willi Rindfleisch, pre-engineering junior college student, "Kaiser Wilhelm II," "Field Marshal von Hindenburg," "the western front," "ration cards" and "Adolph Hitler" are not mere words in the daily paper, for he was born in Berlin, until five years ago lived in the German capital and at Stolpe which is about 20 miles north of Berlin, and remembers both the world war and the revolution which followed it.

Highlights in Mr. Rindfleisch's memory of the war include vivid mental pictures of the excitement upon the outbreak of hostilities in the summer of 1914, with newsboys crying extras on every corner, the registration of young men, and the departure of the troops, including his father and brother, for the front, of bulletins containing list of dead and wounded with silent crowds before them; of other silent crowds lined up, four abreast, in columns two or three blocks long at 3 o'clock in the morning, waiting for the butcher shop to open at 8 in hopes that their meat cards would be honored that week; of his own unappeased and ever gnawing hunger, and of his father's infrequent furloughs home from the western front.

One such visit home later in the war was made especially noteworthy by Willi's father, who purchased a "bootleg" ration card and of the bread thus surreptitiously obtained gave Willi a whole loaf. Willi was hungry again in a couple of hours, but the thrill of having all the bread he could eat at the moment remains one of his outstanding memories of the war.

Mr. Rindfleisch's memories of the revolution by which the Hohenzollern dynasty was overthrown chiefly consist of glimpses of fighting between civilians and marines, and of army tanks rumbling up and down the Wiener Strasse firing bursts from their machine guns down the side streets at each intersection. Marines and soldiers also fired through windows which, contrary to proclamation, were left unshuttered after dark.

Mr. Rindfleisch attended the Berlin Gemeinde Schule or common school, and later the upper grade school or Ober-klasse. Classes in both schools for children of six years and over, are held six days a week from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m. with an occasional two-hour gym period. There are no free periods, but five minute intermissions between classes. Students remain in the same room for all their classes except laboratory courses, and are taught by the same teacher in all courses except music for which a special teacher is provided. In the Berlin schools the beginners are in the eighth grade, and those ready to graduate into the upper grade school are in the first grade; for their grades are numbered in exactly the opposite order to ours.

Religious instruction is compulsory, according to Mr. Rindfleisch, in the German public school and consists in great part of study of the Bible both old and new testaments.

After finishing his course in the upper school Mr. Rindfleisch worked as a bookkeeper for the Dykerhoff and Widman Construction Company, with an office in a shack on the job, on various construction projects in and around Berlin, until he had earned and saved $200 required for boatfare, plus $10 for passport and visas, and $2.50 for carfare from Berlin to Hamburg. An additional year was spent working for the construction company while waiting for his name to appear on the list of immigrants to be admitted to the United States as Germany's quota for the year, but upon the April 13, 1929, he sailed from Hamburg on the Hamburg American S. S. San Francisco, and arrived at San Francisco May 24, after a pleasant voyage across the ocean and through the Panama Canal.

Mr. Rindfleisch says that the things that made the greatest impression on him when he first landed in California were the system used in handling the traffic in San Francisco, and the universal ownership of automobiles. The traffic problem is so complicated in Berlin by bicycles and horse drawn vehicles that all attempts to direct it by automatic light systems had failed up to the time he left the Fatherland, while automobiles were too expensive both to buy and operate for any but the wealthy to consider.

Hemphill Announces Election Dates

Nominating petitions for Student Body officers for the school year of 1934-1935 may be filed at any time between April 9 and April 20, both inclusive. The primary election will be held Monday, April 23, and the final election Wednesday, April 25, 1934.

Nominations for the following officers are in order:

Poultney Heads New Club of Naturalists

Robert Poultney, professor of biological and physical sciences, has been elected president of a naturalist's club which was organized last Tuesday evening at a meeting in the Eureka Chamber of Commerce rooms. Delbert E. Atwell was elected vice president, and Leno Moll, last year's secretary of the H. S. T. C. Alumni Association, secretary-treasurer of the club.

The objectives of the new organization are, according to Mr. Poultney, to encourage bird study in the public schools, to protect wild bird and animal life, and to collect and publish data concerning the habits of northern California birds and animals. Anyone interested in these objectives is eligible for membership.

The club, whose name has not yet been decided upon, will meet the first Friday in each month at 7:30 p. m. in the Eureka Chamber of Commerce rooms at which time the regular program will be presented. A special meeting to complete organization will be held upon Friday, April 13th.

Chico State Players To Be Humboldt Guests

Humboldt State Teachers College will co-operate with Chico college in a group of one-act plays which will be presented in the college auditorium April 27. "The Tumblers" by Everett Glass, and "Two Crooks and a Lady" by Eugene Pillot, are to be presented by H. S. T. C.

Chico college will present two one-act plays under the direction of Anne Louise Barney, instructor in dramatics and dean of women.

The Chico players will arrive in private cars on Thursday and will leave on Sunday following the dramatic festival. They will be housed with private families during their stay in Arcata.

Appropriations have been made by the student body for entertainment of the Chico visitors and plans indicate that a banquet will probably be given.

The plays which the dramatic department of H. S. T. C. will give have been carefully selected and, under the able direction of Garf Bell Wilson, dramatic instructor, promise to be exceedingly well presented.

Upper Class Team Wins Championship

The final game in the W. A. A. interclass basketball series resulted in a 38 to 15 victory for the upper class team, giving it the championship of the college with four wins and no losses. The frosh were runners-up with two wins and two losses.

The final game was especially well played, fast, clean and closer than the one sided score would indicate. The guarding of both teams was close, with Amelia Vance and Elva Baumgartner of the upper class organization invincible. Evelyn Quarnheim of the losers starred at guard, but the scoring combination of Lucille Winter and Ruth Carroll was unbeatable that day.

"March Winds Frolic" Theme of Play Day

"The March Winds Frolic" was the theme of the all college women's play day held March 22 under the general chairmanship of Eleanor Renfro. Darts, rope-jumping, stunts, horseshoes, bowling, badminton, ping pong, bat ball and basketball were the sports in which over a hundred women took part. Following the athletic games a banquet was held in the commons.

greatly upon the director and the college. Humboldt has never before presented a purely musical program over a large bay station.

Edmund Jeffers, director of the choir which now has 29 voices, says that the organization has some hard work to do between now and the time from the Bay Region trip and the broadcast, but that they will present the best program of their short history at that time.

In addition to the broadcast, the A Cappella Choir will make the following appearances: Evening concerts at Mills College, Mendocino High School and Fort Bragg High School, and regular concerts at Santa Rosa High School, Marin Junior College, Point Arena High School, Kelseyville High School, Willits High School, Potter Valley High School and South Fork High School.

The choir and party will be the guests of Mills College at a dinner Sunday evening before the concert at that college.

Caricatures Sold at Assembly Program

Caricatures of "Joe Palooka's Ball" were auctioned off during an assembly Tuesday, March 2, by the Y club in the college auditorium.

Joe Paul as auctioneer, lent a great deal of merriment to the occasion with his persuasive sales talks and clever descriptions of the advertising pictures that portrayed many members of the student body and faculty.

The women's choral entertained with two selections: My Johann and Rain.
