Graduates Placed In County Schools

Good news for the graduating class of Humboldt State is the report of the election to schools of various of their members. Meanwhile boards are continuing to meet and offers continue to flow in.

Bill Morehouse has been elected principal of the Freshwater District School. Lois Hedley will go to the Ferndale Elementary School, Hazel Nichols will teach at the Weott District School. Thelma Pelsola will be at the Myers District School, Mary McCutcheon at the Canal School, Eleanor McKay at the College Elementary School, William Daly will be principal of Jane's School and Frances Poulson will go down to Bakersfield to teach.

University Gives Full Credit For Work Taken Here

Humboldt College students entering the University will receive full credit for work taken here, provided they entered Humboldt without high school deficiencies and have followed their advisors' instructions here as to courses, it was announced at the Dean's offices today.

The University specifies the high school subjects for entrance. If a student has omitted any of these, he must take them at Humboldt; however, he will not receive transfer credit for them because they are, in effect, put back into high school.

Again, the University permits no Liberal Arts first-semester freshman to carry more than sixteen and a half units for credit, nor any more advanced student unless he has made a "B" average.

Records showing credit allowed Humboldt College students who entered the University last fall have recently been received here.

Of the sixteen transfers, eight

Banquet And Ball Set For June 9 At Eureka Inn

On June 9, the annual Senior Ball and Banquet will take place at the Eureka Inn. This year the banquet is to be closed to all except the Seniors and the special guests, invited by the members of the Senior class. The banquet is to start at 7 o'clock, and is to be followed by the Senior Ball. The ball, as usual, is open to all who care to go, and the bid system is being used. The banquet and ball are both semi-formal.

The chairman of the banquet is Billie Fielding, while Carl Owen is taking care of the arrangements for the Ball.

Mrs. McKittrick New Recorder At State Next Year

Mrs. W. B. McKittrick, of Arcata, will replace Mrs. Halsey Carstens as Recorder at Humboldt State College next year. Maurice Hicklin who spent part of his time in the registrar's office, will rearrange his work so that he will spend his full time teaching.

Mrs. McKittrick has had considerable experience in college and high school registrars' offices.

Music Scholarship Contest Planned Saturday Morning

The annual music scholarship contest will be held in the college auditorium Saturday, May 28 at ten o'clock. This is to determine the winners of the four scholarships donated by the County Federation of Women's Clubs in voice, piano and violin.

High school graduates who will be majoring or minoring in music here or college freshmen or sophomores are eligible to enter this contest. The public is invited to attend.

Choir May Appear At 1939 Exposition

Proof that the choir's recent trip to the bay regions was favorably received is the letter President Gist received yesterday from the president of the Redwood Empire Association asking that the Humboldt State A Cappella Choir appear at the Golden Gate Exposition next year.

Plans can not be made definitely as yet, but as the time is May, when the choir makes their usual trip, it is not at all unlikely that they will meet this request.

Departing Faculty Members Honored At Dinner Friday

A dinner in honor of the Humboldt State faculty members who will not return next year was given by the Faculty Wives Club and the Faculty Women's Club in the College Commons last Friday evening.

The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Telonicher, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wendell Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund V. Jeffers, Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Carstens, Mrs. Nene Pinkerton, Miss Myrtle Sholly, Miss Zula Z. Ballew and Mrs. Ballew, and Garff Bell Wilson.

Mrs. Maurice Hicklin acted as toastmistress in the absence of Mrs. Bert Wilson, president of the Faculty Wives. She said that all present wished the departing members success in their work for higher degrees, and then introduced as speaker, Mrs. Lillian Gist, mother of President Gist, as one who knew a great deal about the higher degrees.

Mrs. Gist said that advancing years bring their own compensation, because they give a person time for many things. She said one's face may get wrinkled with age, but one's soul gets wrinkled when one loses enthusiasm. Growing older was not bad, she said, if one retained his mental alertness, a keen joy in living, and a sense of humor.

When she was over 80, Mrs. Gist obtained a master's degree from Claremont College. Her major was in classical literature and her minor in philosophy. Last year she was awarded an honorary degree by the college from which she graduated with her first degree over sixty years ago.

Mrs. Hicklin then introduced President Gist who expressed regret at the idea of the faculty members leaving; he said that he could fill positions but that he could not replace personalities. After this, the guests went to the auditorium to attend "The Young Idea" by the Chico players.

George Kinsman New Instructor At State College

George Dana Kinsman, tenor soloist, will take over Edmund V. Jeffers' duties as music instructor at Humboldt State College. Mr. Kinsman is from Auburn, Illinois and has been teaching in the high schools of Towanda and Anchor, Illinois, while studying for his master's degree.

He received his Bachelor of Music and Master of Music degrees at the Illinois Wesleyan University School of Music.

Mr. Kinsman has had extensive broadcasting experience over the following stations: WJBC Bloomington, Illinois; MMC Memphis, Tennessee; WCCO Minneapolis, Minnesota; WMBD, Peoria, Illinois.

Frank Steele, music student at Humboldt State, has borrowed a recording apparatus from his brother-in-law and has made recordings of many of the A Cappella Choir selections, as well as numbers by the bands and orchestras of Fortuna High School, and Arcata High School.

Steele says his best customer for the choir music are the teachers and the favorite selections, the madrigals.

The Finals Are Coming-Hurrah! Hurrah!

Finals begin June 6. What hours of study, what untold energy, how many thousands of over-worked brain cells lie behind that simple statement.

Up till now something to be shoved into the dim recesses of the mind the thought of their near approach can no longer be ignored. Like death and taxes their arrival is just as certain and just as unpleasant.

There are two schools of thought regarding the proper attitude to approach finals. The minority group regards their arrival calmly, fearlessly and even with some elation as a long-awaited chance to exhibit a vast, long-accumulated store of knowledge.

The other group, much in the majority, awaits the Day of Reckoning with guilty tremblings and fear-ridden remorse. The last days of school for these "putters-off-until-tomorrow" are nightmares of last minute book reviews, term papers and desperate cramming.

Miss Adella Johnson is quoted as saying: "Procrastination is the curse of Humboldt College" and in connection with this we say: "Show us a student who writes a term paper at the BEGINNING of the term and we'll show you a white crow!"

Harvest of Hacks

From Princeton comes the news of George H. Smith (alias Lanning) who makes his headquarters in a small New York City apartment and who makes his living by personally grinding out papers for students in Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Swarthmore, Vassar, Smith, and others at fifteen dollars and up per essay.

Despite the best efforts of the police and the Federal District Attorney to close him up, he continues his business, which is legally watertight—of writing "confidential" theses varying from sixty to ninety-five depending upon the mark desired.

Thus is a racket organized to exploit the laziness of procrastinating students, students who should be old enough to see the utter stupidity of handing in made-to-order essays supposedly the result of a year's study in a course. It is an insult to the whole purpose of education. And it is students like these, who defeat this purpose and prove a fertile field for this harvest of hacks.

CANDY SALE

A candy sale was held in the front hall by the senior class, last Friday noon. Miss Billie Fielding was chairman of the sale.

MISS SHOLTY LEAVES

Miss Myrtle Sholty, professor of education at Humboldt State College, who has sent in her resignation, after a leave of absence due to bad health, plans to retire from the profession of teaching. She left for Seattle and Spokane to visit friends, Friday morning. She will return to Arcata later in the summer.

CHOIR CONCERTS

The A Cappella choir of Humboldt State College appeared in a number of concerts last Tuesday afternoon, when they sang for several High Schools. The schools were the following: Eureka High, Arcata High, Ferndale High and Fortuna High.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTIZERS

George Lowry, the editor of the Sempervirens has asked that the Humboldt students patronize as much as possible the people who have advertised in the annual. For the names of these people, kindly see the bulletin board in the front hall.

Pages in a recent issue of the Denver Clarion, Denver University student paper, are turned from the left to right instead of the usual way. "I have noticed for some time that students turn a paper over and read it backwards because it is easier to turn from left to right," says the editor. And so another change in newspaper make-up is started.

CAMPUS COMMENTATOR

Humboldt's gone Hollywood, if not in the actual sense of the word, at least in the autograph-hunting, camera chasing, excitement of nearby celebrities aspect. Little did we unsuspecting natives think that one day a contingent of stars, technicians, directors, extras, etc., from a major studio, like Warner Brothers would invade our territory, but, as you all know, that is just what has happened. A number of Humboldt students have not only come in contact, but a few have the privilege of working as extras and stand-ins. This is the third time, that Kyne's story "The Valley of the Giants" has been filmed in Humboldt County, but this time it is going to be a great deal more exciting to picture.

One of the highlights of the Thursday evening performance of "Spring Dance" was the arrival of Wayne Morris, the star of the picture, in the company of Garff Wilson; after having duly met the celebrity, the cast went on with the show with much excitement.

Last week when the cast was filming at Samoa, various students went over to watch, and also to seek autographs. Mary Handshy, and Lorene Grove not only met and talked to Charles Bickford, but they also were given a ride home to Sunset Hall by the same person...a new experience for the two lassies.

Friday was the day for the annual picnic held by the Men's Association, and it took place at Riverside on the property of the Blackburn's of Ferndale. From all reports, it was quite a success. However the men weren't the only ones who had a picnic, the gals of the school did too; only they went north to the lagoon, where a roll-licking good time (?) was had by all.

Shades of Oiwini Trowbridge (of "Three Men on a Horse" fame) have cropped out in the person of one "Rugged Ralph" Roderick Hugh Brian Breckinridge Belcher (yep, that's all one name, and authentic too). It seems that Rod like Oiwini has the peculiar faculty of being able to pick winners of races but is also unable to win when actual money is bet. In the recent Kentucky Derby, Belcher picked the hoss "Lawrin" to be the winner, and even went so far as to give one Bill Boggess the tip. Boggess promptly guffawed the erstwhile lad, as Patsy, Frankie, and others did Oiwini, and placed his bet on another horse.... To make a long story short, "Lawrin" won, much to the disgust of Mr. Boggess, and the spectators of the Derby who thought it an impossible fete. Keep it up, Rod, maybe you'll conquer your jinx someday, and win a million.

They say that everyone has fits and starts of getting ones tongue tangled, and mixing up words, and their meanings, but when a speech prof., does it, it's something to write about. Monday morning in Speech 2A, Al Canepa was reading a poem, the mood of which was violence, anger. Having read it the first time, Mr. Wilson immediately told Mr. Canepa to get the feeling of "tearing tatters to passion," to the great enjoyment of the entire class.

I'll bet that's another one you can't answer. Well, little Freddie Jackson and Jean Hess were the two... maybe, it all started when the club went to Chico. Who knows??

"I love the bearded lady, cause her whiskers tickle so," was the song that Sophie Macpherson was being serenaded with Thursday afternoon. ## Individual Sports Play Day Enjoyed Here Last Week

Women achery, tennis, and badminton enthusiasts had their day last Thursday when the women's Athletic Association staged their annual individual sports play day.

True Dolson, sophomore, won from Marjorie Peugh, freshman, in the badminton singles tournament while Myrtle Boehne and Mary Floccini, sophomores, and Ruby McAllister and Hazel Nichols, seniors, have not yet played off all of their games.

Stories by "Pop" Jenkins, talks by Miss Craig, Irene Paddock, Ardys Goff, and Helen Albert, a monologue by Eva Mathisen, and piano solos by Ida May Inskip provided entertainment for the participants of the play day when they lunched together in the Commons at noon.

Among those attending the luncheon were Miss Craig, Mrs. Monica Hadley, "Pop" Jenkins, Irene Paddock, Eva Mathisen, Helen Albert, Ardys Goff, Ida May Inskip, Myrtle Boehne, Virginia Belloni, Bessie Boehne, Mary Floccini, Barbara Crnich, Doris Martin, and True Dolson.

Visiting Players Entertained Friday By Alpha Psi Omega

Members of Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic honor society entertained the Chico players at a luncheon in Mrs. Stella Little's cabin at Moonstone Beach Friday afternoon. Director Hume of Chico introduced the various members of "The Young Idea" and Director Garff Bell Wilson introduced the members of Alpha Psi Omega and told what parts each of them had played to be elected a member of the honor society.

Afterwards the guests played on the beach. Beryl Unsoeld was in charge of the luncheon and she was assisted by the neophyte members of Alpha Psi Omega, Warlene Elmore, Frances Waters and Carol Hine. Roderick Belcher was also been pledged.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE MEN'S PICNIC

Mitchy Chetkovich taking candid camera shots everywhere at the same time. Such swell grub and in such quantities...Swell because it was prepared entirely by male hands...Close harmony prevailing in groups...the songs that the boys somehow seemed to know...Father and mother would have trouble recollecting them...Not much swimming, considering the day was so fine...Dan Oliver's belated but triumphant arrival in the Black and White Scourge...Everyone leaving for home with someone with whom they did not arrive...All in all, very enjoyable, orderly, and a good time was had by all.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A BOOKLOVER ALBERTA STARKEY

Almost ever since I can remember I have had a great love for books. At the age of three, I kept my mother busy reading my favorite stories to me over and over. Whenever a visitor came to call, I, anxious to entertain, would bring out my book of the "Three Little Kittens" or "The Night Before Christmas" and recite the story glibly from the pages. It didn't matter to me that the pages were upside down, for I had thoroughly memorized every story and Mother Goose Rhyme in my little collection of greatly worn and much beloved books. Quite often it happened that the visitor would read to me, which, of course, made him a very welcome guest indeed.

In the earlier years of grade school I developed a violent passion for books of almost any kind. My teachers always had a ready supply of story books, which I spent most of my time reading. Once, an ambitious teacher gave me a history book to read. I liked it very much at first, for most of the stories were new to me, but it was surprising how quickly my interest vanished when later we were given the same book to study.

By the time I was ten or eleven I had quite a lengthy list of reading material to my credit. Teachers had encouraged my interest in books and had helped me in every way possible to select good reading. I was very proud of my progress and made it a point to allow no one to surpass my record. This attitude grew until competition with the rest of the class became something of major importance. Thus I started on what one might term a period of "quantity" reading.

During this period most of my time was spent on books written for boys and girls. These books were easy and interesting to read, and I priced myself of the great number I covered. During one never-to-be-forgotten summer vacation I added around ninety books to my list. That was the summer I suddenly determined to be a librarian, and so spent most of my time at the town library in the place where I was studying.

At the age of twelve I went intellectual, and was seized with the ambitious desire to read something educational. I began with Dickens, which I think now was pretty hard to start off with. The books seemed to assume the size of encyclopedias; the stories were long, depressing and complicated, and my first attempt to read them fairly bored me to tears. It wasn't long though, until I found myself really enjoying Dickens, and, feeling that I had accomplished something, I went to work reading all of his works that I could find in the public library.

Next on the program came some sage old volumes on geology, astronomy, biological sciences, and French, which the stern librarian handed out with conscientious approval. Of course, most of the contents of the instructive books could not be absorbed by an over-zealous twelve-year old, but I find enough in them to keep me interested for quite a time.

Then came graduation—and high school. During the four years that I spent there I had many opportunities to enlarge upon my cultural reading in my English, French, and other classes. It seemed queer to me that so many of the students disliked the outside reading we were required to do. I really enjoyed mine.

The last two years of my high school career brought many new activities which took most of my extra time away from my interest in the field of written knowledge. I shall not regret that, however, for one always needs several fields of interest.

I have entered college now. The things seem so new and strange to me. Yet they are not perhaps, because what does college always bring? Familiar things, of course, classes, and study, and—books.

CLUB PRESIDENT

Miss Imogene Platt, assistant professor of English and director of research at Humboldt State College, was elected first president of the Soroptimist Club of Humboldt.

BOIL IT IN OIL

We all know that in any democratic organization there has to be a certain amount of control, policing, and general supervision. As a general rule these bodies are organized with a view for working in an efficient, unassuming and inconspicuous manner. It is with this purpose in mind that we, the "Associated Students of Humboldt State College," elect a "Board of Control." This body is supposed not only to enforce the rules and regulations set up, but to do so in an efficient manner and also, in a way that will attract the least possible dissension in the student body.

The way in which the present Board of Control has been functioning has been a disgrace to any small democratic society such as ours. Their inefficiency, highly assuming and conspicuous conduct is almost worse than the things they are unsuccessfully trying to permanently correct.

From this conduct they have gathered far more disrespect and ill content from their fellow students than members of such a body usually gather. In the past the board was very successful. It went about its duties in an unassuming fashion. It dealt with the problems confronting it quietly and decisively. Its actions showed some signs of permanence. Its members did not gather an unusual amount of disrespect and ill content. There was competition for membership to the Board of Control. That is the way things should be. In the future let's see to it that we have an efficient, unassuming and inconspicuous Board of Control.

received full credit. Of the others, four had entered Humboldt with high school deficiencies ranging all the way from one student with one unit in a foreign language to another student with high school deficiencies in laboratory science, in two units of foreign language, and in the one-unit restricted elective.

Of the others, one had carried two physical activities for each of two semesters here, the university allows credit for only one a semester. Another had taken a four-unit subject here which he felt would be helpful, but for which he knew he would not receive a transfer credit.

Two other students lost two units each because they had carried eighteen and a half units at Humboldt when only sixteen and a half were permitted in similar cases at the University. Each of these Humboldt students, however, knew he would not receive transfer credit for the subjects but felt that they were worth taking without it.

Welfare Director Speaks To Social Security Class

Mr. Melville, director of Social Welfare for Humboldt County, spoke to the class in Social Security Wednesday afternoon on "Welfare Work in Humboldt County."

To a question by the class as to qualifications for securing positions with Social Security offices, Mr. Melville stated that applicants must comply with personnel standards prescribed by the state and by the Social Security Board. These standards, which apply only for the better positions, require a Social Security certificate which may be obtained after a year of graduate study in Social Science.

Humboldt State students who have found positions in Welfare work include Oliver Viale, Bob Caviness, Leo Schussman, and Bill Collier.

It is probable that two more graduates will receive work along this line after July.

Class Plans Mass Planting Of Wild Flowers On Campus

The beautiful pink blossoms of the rhododendrons blooming along the Wilder trail are the driving force behind Mrs. Elma M. Folsom's English 1 A class and their project for a mass planting of wild flowers on the Humboldt State campus.

Thursday the members of this class made an excursion along the Wilder, Fern and Ridge trails looking for suitable places in which to plant wild flowers. They found several rhododendron bushes heavily laden with large clusters of pink blossoms, while the last trilliums are beginning to fade. The iris on some of the trails is also in full bloom.

Jack Ellis Stars In Redwood League

Jack Ellis, Humboldt's contribution to the Redwood League, continued his standout play Sunday by collecting four bingles in six trips to the plate. This hitting along with his three for five performance against Fortuna in the opener gives him an average of .636 and a spot in the "Big Six" of the league batting race. Ellis also handled five chances in the field without a miscue to continue fielding at a 1,000 clip.

Despite the Humboldt's stellar performance, his Scotia teammates fell before Samoa-Arcata 9 to 11. Scotia outthit the S-A combine 15 to 9 but couldn't collect in the clutches. Charley Timmons, an ex-Humboldt received credit for the victory although Wes St. Louis had to finish the game.

The group played what is called a Scotch Foresome in which two people play on one ball, alternating shots.

Elizabeth Hawes Book Available At The Library

"Fashion Is Spinach" by Elizabeth Hawes is among the new books at the library.

Elizabeth Hawes is one of the best known and most successful designers of smart women's clothes in America, and the undisputed leader of the small group of American designers who have challenged the style supremacy of Paris.

Miss Hawes' story is an adventure into every phase of women's clothing industry, the second largest business in the United States. Her early struggles for recognition and her final leadership in helping to shift the center of the fashion industry from Paris to New York make a story that will appeal not only to the initiate, but to thousands besides...and to their husbands.

Ralph Ingersoll, publisher of "Time," says the following about "Fashion Is Spinach."

"There are few enough books written by people who know what they are talking about. And few enough of those few which make either sense or, making sense, have the wit to hold the reader's interest through even a short summer evening. But Hawes' book on fashion is one. It is fun to read, exciting to think about...She is a fiery, human little David taking a shot at that fantastic Goliath which is the fashion world...and plunking it right in its dreamy eye."

Humboldt Students Act As Stand-Ins For Movie Actors

Not only has the coming of the movies now being filmed in this community afforded much interest to college students but it has also provided well-paid employment for a few of them.

Virginia Torp and Evelyn Lehrman worked as extras for one day. Fred Hibler has worked as a stand-in for Harry Cording and Charles Bickford and is being considered for the job of stand-in for Wayne Morris, star of the production.

Vesta Moxon's blonde curls, enabled her to play the part of Claire Trevor's stand-in one afternoon.
