BOWERSOX TAKES OVER CHEMISTRY CLASSES

A. W. S. DANCE IS SUCCESS

The A. W. S. was the sponsor for the George Washington Bounce, held last Friday in the big gym. The dance was held for the purpose of making some money for the Red Cross Room here at Humboldt. According to Kay Swap, A. W. S. president, the dance was a success. She particularly wants to thank the members of her committee, all of whom worked hard and well.

Dance chairman was Marilyn Henry, and on her committee were the different heads of the other departments. Wini Hoag was decoration chairman.

The decorations consisted of a huge flag, hung at the far end of the gym. Garlands of red, white and blue crepe paper hung in loops along the walls of the gym. At each juncture was a large bow and two crossed hatches. The railings were decorated at intervals with acacia, peach and cherry blossoms. Topping it all off, was a cut down "cherry" tree, covered with cherry blossoms and a hatchet buried in the trunk.

Marian Langer was chairman of the refreshments committee. During the evening, she and her assistants dipped orange punch for anyone who wished it.

The A. W. S. was also fortunate enough to get Bullock's Orchestra to furnish the music. Included in the dance program were a couple of shottisches, polkas, and waltzes, which added an agreeable note of change.

The many servicemen present were invited from four different places, the Section Base, Blimp Base, Navy Air Port, and the Coastal Patrol.

Etching Exhibit In Main Hall

In the show cases in the main hall can be seen an Exhibit of Etchings and Engravings, sponsored by the Art Department and Mrs. Little. These were all selected from the exhibition of the Society of American Etchers, Inc., of New York.

Notice the technique of etching and the variety of subjects. Mrs. Little says that these engravings and etchings are really a selection of the best in the country, and show fine workmanship.

All the compositions are valued at from five to thirty-five dollars per copy. This is only an exhibit, however, but should anyone want one, the person to see, is Mrs. Little.

This exhibit came to us from Oregon State, and after remaining here a few days, it will be sent on to the San Francisco Museum, and from there to San Jose State College.

Came to the Student-Faculty at the gym on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Lt. H. R. Inskip Here On Visit From Washington

LIEUT. HERBERT INSKIP

Lieut. and Mrs. Herbert R. Inskip and daughter, Mary Jane, visited last week with Inskip's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Inskip, other relatives and friends.

Lieut. Inskip, graduate of Humboldt State College, and widely known pianist, has been in the service for two years. He is now stationed in Washington, D. C.

A 29-day furlough permitted him to come to the Pacific coast to see his wife and daughter, who reside in San Francisco, where Mrs. Inskip holds a position in a war plant.

While in Arcata they were entertained at dinners at the Fred Telonicher and Judd Brown homes.

FACULTY FORUM

The third of a series of Faculty Forums for the discussion of subjects of present day interest was held in the Social Unit on the evening of February 15. Following a pot-luck supper, served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Woodcock, the Forum was devoted to the subject of education in the post-war world. President Gist discussed actual plans in the making, and Mrs. McKittrick reviewed a new book by Mark Van Doren, Professor of English Literature at Columbia University, entitled, "Liberal Education," which discussed the philosophy that should underlie post-war education. There was a spirited discussion over Van Doren's praise of the curriculum of St. John's College at Annapolis, Maryland. This curriculum is based on the reading of over 100 world-famous books that have stood the test of time through the

LIEUT. KENNETH GEIGER

LUKE FIELD, Ariz.—Kenneth M. Geiger, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Geiger of Arcata, has successfully completed his flight training at the Army Air Forces Pilot School (Advanced Single Engine) Luke Field, Arizona.

At graduation ceremonies February 8, he received the Army Air Corps silver wings and a second lieutenant's commission in the Army Air Corps Reserve.

He received his preflight training at Santa Ana Air Base, California and pilot training with Army Flying Units at Rankin and Merced Army Flying Fields, California before coming to Luke Field.

ages. All other subjects are studied to the end that these books may be read and understood. Four years of laboratory work are required so that students may "become acquainted through direct experience with the crucial experiments in the history of science." Included in the book list are some books that have been read in courses at Humboldt this year, such as "Oedipus Rex" by Sophocles, the plays of Aristophanes and Aeschylus, "Tom Jones" by Fielding, "Tartuffe," by Moliere, and the Constitution of the United States.

Other titles in the list that may be found in the college library include: Virgil's "Aeneid"; The Bible, Plutarch's "Lives", "Confessions" of St. Augustine; Dante's "Divine Comedy," Leonardo's "Note Books," "Gulliver's Travels" by Swift; Rousseau's "Social Contract," Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations," Darwin's "Origin of Species," and Tolstoy's "War and Peace."

New Member of Humboldt Teaching Staff Takes Over Niles Work

The chemistry classes are now meeting regularly under the guidance of Mr. J. F. Bowersox, who is now an official member of Humboldt State's teaching staff.

Mr. Bowersox was laboratory assistant at Oregon State College, from which he graduated with a master of science degree, and a degree in pharmacy and chemistry. He also holds a registered pharmacist's degree in the State of Oregon.

His first school was the Bend High School in Oregon, where he taught chemistry. Following that, he taught chemistry and social science in Fortuna Union High. Mr. Bowersox remained in Fortuna for several years, and then he went to Eureka High, where he has been carrying on valuable community work along with his regular teaching duties. For the past few years Mr. Bowersox has taught Consumers Science in the Eureka High School. Besides acting as principle of the Continuation High School, his was the job of director of the war training program. Last year, Mr. Bowersox was also made full director of Adult Education in Eureka, after having been assistant director for many years.

Mr. Bowersox also comes under the heading of Commuters, as he has a nice home in Eureka, where he lives with his family.

Annual Guidance Conference Meets

The Northern California Guidance Association held its 14th annual conference February 19, at the College Elementary School, with Miss Lillian Hagopian of Arcata Union High School, presiding.

After a welcome address by President Arthur S. Gist, Dr. J. A. Burkman, Assistant Director of Education for the State of California, Sacramento, led a discussion on Guidance and Its Implications. During a pot-luck luncheon at the C. E. S. cafeteria, an address was made by Dr. Frank B. Lindsay on the Survey of the California Junior High School. Dr. Lindsay is assistant superintendent of Public Instruction and is a member of the Chief Division of Secondary Education for the State of California at Sacramento.

At the afternoon session, Mrs.

PATRONS CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Thursday, February 3, the Patrons Club of Humboldt State held a business meeting in the college social unit. In addition to the discussion of purely business matters, Arthur S. Gist presented a report on letters of thanks from men in the service to whom the Patrons and faculty sent Christmas Cards. In 1942, these groups, in a joint effort, inaugurated the practice of sending Christmas greetings to former Humboldtites in the armed forces. The appreciative thanks of the recipients encouraged the members to continue the practice for the duration.

A member of the P. T. A. Congress, the Patrons Club is dedicated to student welfare here at Humboldt. It is the aim and purpose of this organization to assist resident Gist, Dean Monica Hadley, and other faculty and administration staff members when it can be of service in this respect.

Myrtle McKittrick led a discussion on Teacher Recruiting, after which Dr. Lindsay spoke on Guidance for the Post-War Period. The conference adjourned at 4:00 P. M.

EDITORIAL

By SALLY BLACKFORD

"To the G. I.'s in the field or in barracks or on maneuver, letters are really the most important things that happen or don't happen. In five minutes of talk with a soldier, you know whether he has heard from home or that letters do not come. It is a constant source of conversation, of worry and of gladness.

Good food can be given to a man, and entertainment and hard work, but nothing in the world can take the place of letters. They are the single strings, and when they are cut, the morale of that man is shattered."

John Steinbeck wrote those lines, after making a tour of the war fronts. He saw your brother, your father, your boy-friend, at night, when they have nothing to do but think of home, and what they used to do, in the morning; waiting for mail-call, thinking of those letters waiting for them at the base, on board ship, watching and looking for the boats that bring the mail. And can you see the faces of those men, when there is no letter? A bitter disappointment, that in effect equals the loss of four hard-earned miles, of a town won only by the loss of—perhaps a company, perhaps more than we will know for a long time to come.

Oh, I know—you're busy. There seem to be so many things that you have to do, that just won't wait. But can a soldier on the battlefield ask a German plane to wait before he dives, so he can finish the last installment of a continued story? Can a doctor tell a wounded soldier to wait for medical aid while he listens to a short-wave program? No, of course not. Then have you any right to tell a man on a battlefield to wait for a letter while you go to the movie, or a dance? When a letter means so much to those men? It doesn't have to be a volume—just a line or two; that's all it takes—just some tangible object to let them know that they aren't forgotten. So how about writing that letter today, now.

Dr. Burkman, who was here at the Annual Guidance conference informed Mr. Gist that Humboldt's training school is recognized in Sacramento as one of the best in the country.

Challenge Prexy Gist to a game of badminton—and lose!

EX-HUMBOLDT MEN RETURN

Harvey Del Fatti, former Humboldt Student and football star, who is now a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps, was welcomed back to Humboldt for a day last week. He expects to get in the thick of things soon, but is looking forward to the day of the "Big Reunion" at Humboldt.

Lieut. Del Fatti has been stationed in Arizona. Just incidentally, he is the proud father of an eight months old girl.

Cpl. Leslie Larson, who attended Humboldt in the spring of '42, returned from overseas, where he has been engaged in engineer work for one year. Cpl. Larson believes "There are not many familiar faces left, but the same old school even if it is camouflaged under a solid color of green." His exact reaction to the color is unprintable.

Lieutenant Ted Speir announced his marriage to June Ann Balsiger from Los Angeles on February 5. He has been stationed at Camp Haan and was married in Beverly Hills.

Georgia Williams, now a WAVE, is here on a 15-day leave from the U. S. Naval Hospital at Newport, Rhode Island. She liked her work there and enjoys being a frequent visitor to Boston and New York.

Stanley Roscoe was commissioned a lieutenant on February 8, at Fort Fort Sumner, Army Air Base. Lieutenant Roscoe graduated from Humboldt in the Spring of 1942. He was active in all student functions and is well liked by all who knew him here.

Gene Soares, last of the forgotten men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps was here for two days last week and is now reporting for active service in the army.

Another well-known ex-Humboldt men, Lieutenant Herbert Inskip, came here from Washington, D. C., for a short leave. Lieut. Inskip graduated from Humboldt in July of 1933, with a General Elementary teaching credential. Before entering the service, he taught music at Knox College, Illinois.

Cliff and Sid Hansen returned to their old haunts for a few days from the Presidio of Monterey. They are both in the medical division there and have been in service for six and one-half months.

Pfc. Ellis Williamson, former Humboldt tennis star, was here for two days before returning to duty in the Financial Department at the Monterey Presidio. Besides tennis, he was outstanding in the College Choir.

Kenneth Geiger, now a 2nd Lieutenant, has been recently married to Marion Wilson, of Arcata. While attending Humboldt State in 1942-43, he proved to be one of our star basketball players.

Trione Writes Of Activities

Here is a letter from Lieutenant Henry Trione who attended Humboldt for two years and graduated from University of California before entering the Navy. He was sent to the Harvard Business school for Post-graduate work, and is now on the Alutians:

Dear President Gist—

Life here on this Aleutian Island is getting ready for winter. In the five months we've been here, we've seen the sun about five or six times. At least now I know where the Humboldt rain and fog comes from.

These islands are just oversized lumps of rock and lava, covered over with a heavy blanket of undrains. No trees, no wild life (except a few foxes), no civilization and no women. But it's an ideal place for a war—no problem of post-war reconstruction is involved. Yet, in its crude and barren mountaintains, this island is rather picturesque. At present, the tundra is bright green and is sprinkled with a variety of wild flowers.

No doubt you've read in the paper of the situation up here. In fact it compares favorably with our fronts over the entire globe. At least now we can say we are not losing the war. It seems to me though, that Churchill hit the nail on the head when he said: "It's just the end of the beginning."

Please convey my greetings to the members of the faculty, particularly Mademoiselle Johnson and Doctor Fisher. It will be a great day when we can return to Humboldt, perhaps not as students, but at least as visitors.

Listening Hour

The Listening Hour was held last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fulkerson. The outstanding numbers of the program were a piano concerto by Cesare Frank, and "I Hear America Singing" by Kliensinger. This was taken from a poem by Walt Whitman. Refreshments were served following the concert.

Student Meeting Thursday
The student body meeting, held Thursday, February 17, was very successful with the majority of the students attending.

Coach Mathieson presented athletic letters to the following men: Mark Melendy, Axel Lindgreen, Sut Walsh, Walter Sweet, Francis Godec and Bret Melendy. These awards were presented to the fellows for completing the necessary athletic activities of the season. The boys worked hard for the awards and are deserving of such an honor.

The Freshmen were welcomed by Kay Swap, president of the A. W. S. She said that we should resolve to keep the college the same as it has been, that we should make the best of college in the chaotic conditions of today.

Joyce Bruner dedicated the service flag to the 365 former students in the armed forces, and the six who have been killed in action.

Ruth Farrar submitted a piano selection and the meeting was closed by Kay Swap leading the Student Body in singing the Alma Mater.

Guest Speaker From England at Y Meet

Mrs. Shattuck of the Y. W. C. A. in Eureka, was the guest speaker at the last weekly meeting of the College Y. Mrs. Shattuck told of her work in England with the girls who are industrial workers. She has spent several years there and told of many interesting experiences that proved educational to the club.

Several weeks ago Rev. Arthur Reed spoke to the Y on child delinquency. He gave an interesting and thought-provoking talk. Dr. Natalie Hall read several short poems on delinquency.

CANDY SALE BRINGS PROFIT

Valentine's Day was the day the "Y" chose for their grand candy sale. On a table in the front hall they sold the choice bits made by the members of the organization. There were popcorn balls too! Both were a real treat to the students who were fortunate enough to get some of the candy before it was gone.

And not so "choice bits" were sold at the dorm for 5c a nibble. Those brave souls who had the money to spare, ventured—and lost! The rippling waves of fudge proved to be unsweetened chocolate minus the amount of temperature required in the making of a tempting plate of fudge. The stuff ran down their chins and put the taste buds in an unheard of uproar. Only good pure Arcata water gushing down the mouth and throat region proved adequate to regain the feeling of normality. "Yes the Candy Sale was a success," say "Y" members as they count the coppers in their treasury. "Y" members want to thank Dr. Hall for her help, and also Mrs. Hicklin, who donated sugar to the cause.

Staff meeting Monday noon in the little dining room at the dorm. All members of the Staff had better attend.

JOE ERROR AND JEAN MISTAKE

Editor's Note—This is a first in a series of articles written by that mysterious character around the campus "Ramona" who sees all, hears all and knows all—tells all, too! If you have a pertinent question you would like to know more about—ask Ramona and she'll tell you in the next edition of the L. J.

The proof of the pudding is in the dating. What I mean is, the date will tell! You may be a Hedy Lamaar or a Clark Gable, but if you don't have that certain poise that it takes—poof!

Making dates is hard, BUT breaking them is harder. It's common knowledge that the "what-doin-tonight" line is definitely nil. That went out with the Dark Ages because it puts everyone on the spot.

Then there's the lovely that thinks it does Joe good to wait. Remember, there is as much difference between the fellow that's late and a fellow that waits as there is between a girl who's late and the girl who dates. That goes for both sexes, incidentally.

A word to the wise should be sufficient—but fellows, please remember that girls resent being one of a harem—anyway, hearing about it. This is a critical time for gals, shortage of men and all, so don't try pitting one girl against the other by talking about one when you're with another.

Another problem for women in this day of rationing and such, is blind dates. If he (or she) doesn't come up to your expectations, be a peach about it and you'll be rewarded in the end. Your fame for being a good sport will get you much further than a sulking glamour title.

You've heard of "shop early and avoid the rush" haven't you? That applies to dates too. Be polite and give the girl a break—and I don't mean the date! Breaking a date is justified by very few emergencies. This goes for both sexes—the date-breaker will soon find that there will be nothing to break.

So you like to dance! But remember your partner doesn't write the lonely hearts column, nor the campus gossip page. The dance floor is not the place for you to try out that "strictly in-the-grove" step that Joe taught you last night. Other people like to dance, too. In buying livestock, it's well to look it over; but the fellow who inspects the wallflower row at a Mixer Dance, makes but one friend—the girl he finally chooses. Even she's a little dubious.

And girls, remember that you're not dating D. Rockefeller. If Joe says, "Let's whip down to the Co-op for a coke," don't order a double fudge sundae with nuts. Fellows, give the girls a tip. Let her know your financial standing of the moment with a casual "I'm down to a dime—help me spend it?" She'll appreciate it too.

It should be remembered that there is a time and place for everything. And a little verse we picked up demonstrates what we mean: Time now to say good-night.

So just remember this—
Easy to avoid a fight—

Think twice before you kiss.

A good rule to keep is—Go home while the fun is still at its height! You leave a good impression and will probably have another chance for more fun than you had this time!

The only rule for dating is "Have a good time." It's up to you—if you put your best foot forward, your date can't help but catch the spirit!

See you in the next edition with more advice about what to do when.

Sincerely,
RAMONA.

HSC Archery Team Wins Fourth Place In West Tournament

The Humboldt State College girls archery team captured fourth place in the Western Inter-Collegiate Archery Tournament, held in January, according to results tabulated in Los Angeles. Twenty-four teams competed.

The Humboldt team consisted of Anna Babler, Pat Cloney, Shirley Thompson and Sally Westbrook. They competed in the beginners division.

Anna Babler, a freshman, scored additional honors by tying for second place for individual high score with Nancy Dahl of University of California at Los Angeles.

Teams shot their scores on their own campus and then mailed them to Los Angeles for tabulation. Schools from Arizona, Idaho, Utah, Oregon, Washington and California competed.

Mrs. Monica Hadley is the archery instructor at Humboldt State College.

Beginning with this issue, the Lumberjack will print a series of biographies of Humboldt's faculty. We feel that Humboldt students will be interested in reading some of the "on the record" facts and "off the record" notes about the lives of faculty members (especially the "off the record stuff"). President Gist, our first victim, was rather taken aback when suddenly approached on the subject of his life by inquisitive members of the L. J. staff. However, he recovered sufficiently to give us the following picture of his life.

Born January 19, 1883, in Marion, Iowa, President Gist is the son of William W. and Lillian Gist. We don't know, of course, but we imagine that for the next few years he was just a kid in three-cornered pants. Not until 1904 do we again find anything significant in his life. In that year he graduated from Iowa State Teachers College with a Bachelor Didacitis degree. Then in 1918, he received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Washington. His teaching career was begun in a rural school.

In 1928 came an important event in our president's life. Yes—matrimony. Mrs. Gist did the proposing—so we hear—and Mr. Gist says that that was his most embarrassing experience. He couldn't have minded much, however; in fact, he must have rather liked it. Besides that was Leap Year!

Two years after his marriage to Ruth Palmer, Mr. Gist became President Gist of Humboldt State College. He is an author and has been co-author of several books as well as writing three books of his own. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa as well as of Rotary Club and the Masons.

Outside of college, President Gist seems to be somewhat of an outdoor man. He's a fisherman and also a golfer. At home here in Arcata he has a garden, keeps chickens, a cat, a horse, a dog, some goldfish, and two ducks—Hansel and Gretel. One of his chief interests right now is doing what he can to keep up the morale of boys in the service. This, we judge, is quite a lot after seeing the file of over 600 addresses of servicemen which is kept in his office.

When asked to make a statement for the press, Mr. Gist said: "The students are showing a fine type of morale in wartime. That's what I think."

Chinese flyers here in America for training have found that so simple a phrase as "Have a 'Coke'" speaks friendship in any tongue. East, west, north, south, Coca-Cola stands for the peace that refreshes, — has become the happy bond between people of good will.

Students Invited To Red Cross Room

You've all seen those signs with some service man, or Uncle Sam pointing straight at you and saying in harsh accusing words in big not-to-be-missed letters: "Are You Doing Your Part?"—Well, are you?

Humboldt's Red Cross Room is now wide open to the students after its official opening last Friday. There's loads of work to be done, and its fun, too, as the many students who are working now, know. Why don't you stop in between classes every time you go by the room and cut out one square for the lap-ropes? That means fellas, too. Anyone who can't manipulate a pair of scissors by this time is pretty far gone.

The sponsors of the department hope to have a few girls there during every hour of the day, so in order not to take so much of one person's time, work in shifts, and it can't miss.

Guaranteed, you won't get the Purple Heart for bravery, but you'll surely be worthy of some kind of mention if you remember those old woolen skirts and coats that are needed so badly for the lap-robe squares, that you have stuffed away some place at home.

If you spend even 15 minutes a day in the Red Cross Room, you can be sure you won't feel guilty when next you see that accusing poster. So come on kids, ease your conscience and spend some working-time in the Red Cross Room.

The photographic exhibit in room 204 is open at all times. Students are invited to come even if there is a class in session there.

EXCHANGES

While American children read Mother Goose, German youth read Papa Gander.

Reports from Germany tell of the Nazi propagandist who was liquidated because he lost his sense of rumor.

Jeep: "Would you blame me for something I didn't do?"
Sergeant: "Of course not."
Jeep: "Well, I didn't get up for reveille."

She: "Kiss me once more like that and I'm yours for life."
GI: "Thanks for the warning."

A private from the base radio section believes in looking ahead. Last week he met a girl in her early teens, gave her a nickel, and said: "Call me up when you're 18."

War Commuter: "Will not be at office today. Am not home yesterday yet."

Kiopi kapoo means, a toe shine boy; one who earns his living by painting and polishing the toenails of feminine bathers.

Greetings Sent By Ralph Swetman

Greetings to members of the Humboldt State College faculty and to friends in the community were received last week by President Arthur S. Gist from Dr. Ralph Swetman, former Humboldt president and now president of Oswego College in New York.

His telegram also requested the address of Dr. Homer P. Balabanis, principal economist for the Balkan States rehabilitation in the State Department, who is on leave of absence from Humboldt State College faculty.

HONOR ASSEMBLY POSTPONED

The semi-annual Chi Sigma Epsilon assembly, scheduled for February 24, has been postponed until March 9. This honor assembly is given every semester for the purpose of announcing the names of the honor students of Humboldt, and is one of the main assemblies of each semester.

HOW TO SKI

By P. E. W.

Are you the outdoor type? Swell, then that's all you need; plus a good constitution, warm clothes, lots of food, Coca-Cola, sweaters, warm pants, (and a pair of woolie P. J.'s to wear under them), skis, boots, poles, ski wax, a cork, and snow. At first I wondered about the cork, but it turned out that it is quite necessary to rub the wax into the skis.

Let us presume that we have reached the snow, which is a lot to presume, because getting to the snow is half the job. (My next article will be on skid chains—or skids.) Anyway, here we are; the skis and poles before us. Here is the novice skier.

She carefully notes which is the left ski, somebody told her that this is the first mistake that people usually make. She slips the toe of her dainty boot into the bindings and fastens them. Then bending from the waist, she attempts to fasten the right binding. Oh my, this is difficult! After a few groans, one of the polite young gentlemen comes to her assistance. (The Sap). He thinks so too and accidentally gives her a little shove. This is the first "sit mark" of the day in the making. She starts up the slope, taking one step forward and sliding back three. Defying all the laws of mathematics, she reaches the top.

She nods as they explain all the fundamentals; knowing she'll do it her own way, anyhow. They go first. As they come to a graceful stop, she looks at their tracks; clear-cut, curving ribbons in the gleaming snow. "It's a snap," she mutters.

Five seconds later, in a little cabin several miles down the mountain, Aunt Jamie remarks to Grandpappy, "Well, whadya know, Grandpappy, the highway department is bringin' a snow plow."

All in all this has been very humiliated for our little pal and she decides to find a little mountain all by herself and practice up. After twenty minutes of diligent work, she returns, ready to demonstrate how she has learned to turn around. Planting both poles by her right ski, she leans back and flings her left ski clear around. With her feet pointing in opposite directions, toe-dancer style, she smirks sweetly at her audience and falls flat on her face. This has really hurt her pride (and brother, that ain't all). Everyone is laughing so hard that they can't even express their sympathy. At lunch time, she is desperate and pours tomatoe juice all over her feet to make them think she is bleedin' to death. No sympathy—more laughs.

To cap the climax, she falls in a mud-hole as she runs across the road. This brings sympathy from everyone for they realize that she would encounter some difficulty if she couldn't walk, even without skis.
