

DRAMA FESTIVAL APRIL 14-15

12 DRAMA GROUPS TO MEET AT HSC

Northwestern California Speech Association will present its fourth annual drama festival on Humboldt State college campus April 14-15. The festival is designed to bring together students from high schools and community players in the area to share experiences and display their histrionic talents. Members of the college drama department and other college groups will be hosts to 200 guests at the festival.

Invited to the events are students from Del Norte county, Hoopa, South Fork, Weaverville, Fortuna, Ferndale, Arcata, and Eureka high schools, Arcata Community Players, Eureka Recreation Department Players.

The festival will begin at 4 p. m. Friday, April 14, when visitors will be registered and placed in housing accommodations. The college student body will be host at dinner in Nelson Hall. In the college elementary school auditorium after dinner they will see the Arcata Community Players production, "Two Blind Mice".

Activities will resume at 10 a. m. Saturday, April 15, at the play-reading of G. B. Shaw's "Candida", in the college auditorium and an arena production of Chekhov's "The Marriage Proposal", will be given in the school library.

At 11 a. m. repeat performances of the two productions will be given and luncheon will be served in Nelson Hall with students from Eureka and Fortuna at hosts.

At 2 p. m. everyone will assemble in Humboldt State college auditorium to see four one-act plays given by high school students. Arcata will present "The Kid Makes Up His Mind", a farce; Del Norte, "The Stolen Prince", a Chinese play; South Fork "Balcony Scene", a drama; Ferndale, "Antic Spring", a comedy.

Following there will be coffee and dancing in Nelson Hall social unit.

C. S. T. A. OFFICERS ELECTED FOR '50-'51

Heading the C. S. T. A. next year will be Kenneth Laudenschlager, recently elected president of the organization. Mel Klein, was elected vice president and Viola Batt and Lois Carlson were elected to the offices of secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Those elected to the executive board were Rod Stock, representing the senior class, Marion Wurche, junior class, and Janice Telonicher the sophomore class.

IT IS LATER THAN YOU THINK

The grim possibility implicit in the title of his provocative best seller "No Place To Hide" was vividly brought home to a capacity assembly audience yesterday morning by the noted author, Dr. David Bradley. His first-hand account of the Bikini atoll tests, as well as his predictions as to the probable production of the hydrogen bomb made it clear that man may well be within two or three years of complete annihilation.

Dr. Bradley, who placed himself in the category of a doctor who still clung to "the old-fashioned idea that human beings were worth saving," stated flatly that the role of America in this crisis is crucial, and that Europe looks to this country, with its own successful record of representative

State To Send Pheasants To HSC

Wildlife students at Humboldt will receive 300 Ringneck pheasants from the state department of Fish and Game for the purpose of providing game management students with practical experience and to increase the local pheasant populations.

During the time the pheasants are at the college they are cared for by game management students currently taking Dr. Glover's game bird class. This year's student supervisor is Virgil Mullis, a wildlife student and president of Conservation Unlimited.

The birds are one day old when they are sent from the State Game Farm at Yountville, Napa county. When received by the college the chicks are placed in electrically heated batteries there they are kept for 10 days. The birds are just developing their contour feathers when they are transferred to separate houses with outdoor runways. The birds remain here for about three weeks until they are well feathered and able to scratch for themselves. The next transfer is to outdoor pens where they remain until about ten weeks old. After the birds have been banded, State Conservation officers are contacted and the pheasants are

Plan For Arcata Youth Center

Dr. Henry, assistant professor of education, Charles Woodcock, and Jan Van Hee Humboldt students, met with the Arcata Recreation Department to sound out the feasibility of starting a Youth Center in Arcata, with the possibility in mind of drawing upon Humboldt State for personnel for this project.

This meeting was an outgrowth of the past Eureka Conference during which a group of HSC students were approached by representatives from the Arcata High School who asked if there were any interested people who would be willing to start a place for teen-agers aside from the existent pool-halls, bowling alleys and movies. Mr. Van Hee who first introduced this plan to the college said, "from this start, the project is building up its own momentum".

At a recent meeting, it was decided to reactivate the Coordinating Council as a means of presenting ideas and possibilities for starting the Youth Center. The first meeting date for this body is April 18. The C. S. T. A. will choose one representative to be seated at the Council.

Dr. Henry stated "something like this would prove an excellent opportunity for community contacts and teaching experience for the students of Humboldt State". President Gist stated "The college wishes to be identified with any worthwhile community projects such as this proposed Youth Center. At a time when the town and college are becoming more and more youth and recreation minded, this would be an excellent undertaking". The Department of Education of the school has already promised full support.

If this Youth Center idea can be fulfilled, the administrative powers will be vested in the Arcata Recreation Department, and the supervising personnel will be drawn largely from Humboldt State.

Results Of H. S. C. Traffic Survey

The following are the results of the Humboldt State traffic poll. 496 students participated which is 62 per cent of the college population, although every student was urged to help with the survey.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

It was certainly encouraging to find in the last LUMBERJACK, an article which proves that someone was dissatisfied with the recent election. It requires an answer, however, and I should like to make some contribution.

It was asked, "Who is running except the Rickey Party?" A so-called Ultra-Conservative Party consisting of six candidates ran in the election. One other candidate existed outside of the Rickey Party, and he won the position of council member.

The next question, "What does this Rickey Party stand for?" is conical to me. It's ironical that a gutless student body would criticize the one party which has enough interest and energy to put up a poster. It reminds me of a sleepy kitten who wakes up to inquire into the fate of a nation, and then goes to sleep again before it finds out.

The LUMBERJACK asked the following questions?

"Why did none of the candidates for office let the confused voters know what their policies were?" As for the members of the Rickey Party, we had no policies, and the six out of the original party of eight were elected, still have no policies. If you consider the present degraded state of the Student body, this answer is not hard to understand. We six elected members have only the basic principles of hard work and good judgment to work from. Policy is a farce when elementary principles have yet to be regained.

The next question, "Why was there no advance notice given to the poor student who did not belong to the select few in 'the know'?" is a complete fraud. I suggest the LUMBERJACK stick to facts. If they will investigate they will find that an apology is due every candidate that ran in the election, and I feel the question does not warrant answering.

The next inquiry asks, "Why was there no opportunity for all of the candidates to be known by the bewildered voter?" This also has the same characteristic smell of the last question. I ask again that the LUMBERJACK do a little checking before they write this kind of material. What was available to one was available to all, and what was available to one has been available to every candidate who has ever run for student body office at HSC.

The answer to the fourth question is self evident from the nature of our present student body. It asks, "Why was it possible that one party could be slid into the drivers seat smoothly with such a minimum of effort?" It's almost a joke, isn't it?

After this question, the LUMBERJACK writers became very logical, straightforward writers, but only for a paragraph. Ending up the article, they insist that the last election was not an open one and that candidates and parties could not be shown. This is a effective way to write an article and although it creates interest, it is a type of writing that I detest, regardless of the results.

The election was a fair one. The election stunk! Lets

SOCIAL NOTES

By J. R. O.

Spring with its many signs - birds-bees, flowers, cotton dresses, sunburnt faces, and beach parties - has arrived. Wonder how many lovers will be bitten by the bug and plunge into the depths of matrimony. It happens every spring, you know.

Why not wish with all that terrific music in the co-op on Friday couldn't they push the tables back and everyone enjoy a little dancing? Wouldn't be much trouble, could be a lot of fun. Shame to let all that good music go to waste. How about it Rally Committee?

The Desroseirs, Bonnie and Rowland, have a new recipe for an evening of fun. A few goodsquare dance records and a house full of friends out at Dows Prairie.

Now with balmy weather setting in beach parties are first on the social list. Understand the Cove is getting its share of them. I only hope that the students using the Cove don't tear down the fence, leave bottles in the field, or ride cars into the pasture as they did last year. You know, the farmer could forbid us to use the field and then how would we get to the Cove. Why ruin a good thing.

Only a week away is the Jr.-Sr. Prom with formals and all at the Eureka Inn. The date is set now for April 21 for sure. I understand the Junior class is going all out for this affair under the presidency of Jim Palmer. Admission to the seniors is free.

Soon to take place is the choir trip. This annual trip by the College A Cappella Choir is carried out with the purpose in mind to better relations between other communities, colleges, and schools with HSC. Money for the trip is gotten by the choir themselves through cake sales, dances, and etc.

In closing I'd like to say that within six weeks the semester will be over. There are a lot of social activities going on during that time, so why not all take part in them.

EUREKA INN SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

An open letter was recently sent to Dr. Leonard Christiansen from manager Del Thompson of the EUREKA INN, congratulating the Freshmen who presented the Sweetheart Ball and to those who attended. "... we have never had a nicer group in attendance at any function held at the INN. It was a pleasure to work with the various committees in handling this affair. You can be very, very proud of these young men and women, and we are honored to have been selected as the setting for the "Sweetheart Ball".

not rationalize and blame a poor election on a few individuals who took it upon themselves to create it in the first place.

M. S. Rickey

Student Body President

Q. Why must we wait for weeks for our grades at the end of the semester when they are actually turned into the registrar's office by the end of final week?

A. As you well understand, it is a complex and trying task to compute for several hundred students their semester index and grades. Many students add to the confusion by requesting special privileges or by constantly arranging both the registrar and instructors for their semester "booby prize". Yet I don't feel a bit sorry for either the registrar or the faculty who have on the whole done nothing to correct this defunct system. The administration or the faculty should make a study of this unnecessary inconvenience and come up with a workable solution. I suggest each student turn in with his final exam a self addressed postcard with the name of the subject and a space for a grade indicated. Thus he could get his results, as they do at other schools, with despatch. This is one of the ways in which you could get your grades shortly after the final exam.

H.S.C. Claim Member of Royal Family

Not many people know it, but a descendant of royalty attends classes regularly with other students at Humboldt State College.

Dorthea (Dolly) Dunn was born in Lahaina, Maui Island, Hawaii. Her claim to royalty comes from her maternal great grandmother, who was the grand niece of King Kamehameha IV. Kamehameha I conquered the Islands years ago, and brought them under one rule. His birthday is celebrated yearly by the Hawaiians.

Dolly has some other ancestors who are as interesting as her grandmother. Her paternal grandfather an engineer, came from Scotland on a whaling boat and settled in Hawaii to help build many of the plantations there. Another ancestor is a Frenchman and one a doctor from England. Her own mother and father were born on the islands, although her mother spent a few years in San Francisco, they have spent their lives there.

Dolly came to the United States for the first time last year when she entered Humboldt State College as a freshman.

Quota System Still Used By Colleges

The quota system is still being used by many colleges to bar entrees on the basis of race and religion, charges Arnold Forster, Civil Rights Director of the Anti-Defamation League, despite the fact that college students are overwhelmingly opposed to it.

In October 1949, two letters were sent to each accredited liberal arts college in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Connecticut, one signed by an obvious "Jewish" name and one by a "non Jewish". Of the total 106, forty-one responded differently to the "non-Jewish" letter.

In a survey just completed, only one out of 10 seniors expressed preference for colleges which discriminate. Almost 80 percent of the non-Jewish seniors said it would make no difference to them if a member of a minority group worked beside them and almost 70 percent would be willing to entertain any of them in their home.

The low index of prejudice on the campus is apparently, not the result of a college education since the incidence of prejudice among seniors is largely the same as that for freshmen.

The Look article by Arnold Forster is taken from his forthcoming book "A Measure of Freedom" which was published on April 10 by Doubleday.

DANISH GYM TEAM DEMONSTRATES DENMARK'S PHYSICAL ED. PROGRAM

Janet Oppenheimer

Coming from all parts of Denmark and walks of life to form the Danish Gym Team were 32 men and women who not only displayed the physical education program of their country but did it with a marvelous amount of grace, poise, ease, form, muscular coordination, and team work. These men and women were more than worthy of representing a nation of over four million people.

Since arriving in New York City on September 6, 1949 the group picked up Chevrolet cars and one truck, donated by the Chevrolet dealer there, they have toured 44 states and given over 200 performances. From California they will continue north to Vancouver, then back through California on their way to the East.

They plan to reach Denmark by the summer.

After showing such wonderful teamwork and form you would be led to believe this group had worked for months together as one; however, their training began July 1, 1949 in Denmark and lasted six weeks before coming to this country on the S. S. Atlanta. Although all had previous rhythm and gymnastic training and experiences, either in private schools or gymnastic folk schools, this was the first time they had met and worked together.

Their program started with an entrance march around the Eureka Municipal Auditorium performed by all members of the team, singing their national anthem as they marched. The girls dressed in blue jersey short uniforms, were first on the list with a series of rhythmic exercises done with both grace and ease. Next the men attired in black trunks went through another series of exercises which showed how through such exercises it is possible to get all muscles working in complete coordination. The girls then came back to perform on bars not more than two inches wide. On these they stood and did perfectly balanced exercises using arms, legs and torsos without once losing their equilibrium. While the men and women changed into native costumes for their folk dancing exhibition, Professor Hansen, pianist for the group, gave a short talk on the background of their country and its folk dancing. Brilliantly dressed in national dresses and suits the group then did five different folk dances, one in which the men proceeded to swing the women right off their feet in a small circle. After this two of the men came out and did the "Oxen Dance" in which a member of the older set tried to outdo a member of the younger set. This dance took both good timing and breath. Here a fellow came out and did a set of free exercises which were done with perfect timing and muscular coordination. He performed on the hardwood floor and included handstands, back flips, forward rolls, and exercises. The rest of the fellows then appeared in long white jersey pants with matching shirts for their teamwork tumbling. Starting off were two of the team who did duo-balance work on mats and off a small trampoline no larger than two feet square. They did such tricks as hand-to-hand in a standing position, flipping off the tramp onto the other fellow's shoulders, first in standing position and then landing in a hand to hand from a back flip, ending their part of the program with a comedy act. The full group of men then came out to do singles on the mats, horses, and leather stands. This was a wonderful display of their teamwork and timing. In closing they did back-hand springs so fast it was impossible to tell where their feet and hands were. The group of 32 men and women closed their show with another march around the floor.

The purpose of the whole tour was to demonstrate to this country their physical education program and to try and learn something of this country in return. I think it is only too bad that we of the United States haven't something of such high caliber to send to Denmark and other countries to demonstrate our various programs and to learn of their countries.

Baseballers To Meet Chico Here Monday

Casaba Squad To Hold "day" Next Saturday

Humboldt State's never-say-die basketballers put the final lid on the 49-50 basketball season Saturday with a final get-together slated in a "day".

The team will hold a golf tournament in the morning and a tennis tournament in the afternoon. Both tournaments are for basketball players only, and should produce something interesting. Several of the team's members can't tell a driver from a divot or a drive from a backhand, although several others are accorded experts with the club and the tennis ball.

At 7 o'clock at the Bella Vista, the team and a few invited guests will hold a stag banquet. In addition to varsity and junior varsity players, those attending will be Coach Jack Whetstone, trainer Hal Harshman, manager George Wildridge and publicity director Craig Stark.

Winding up the day's activities for the casaba experts will be a private dance at the Hospitality House in Eureka.

In case of inclement weather for the outdoor tournaments, the Lumberjacks will take a busman's holiday and hold a basketball tournament.

Humboldt State's baseball Lumberjacks go after their first Far Western Conference wins of the season next Monday when the defending champion Chico State Wildcats come to Arcata for a doubleheader in the Arcata Ball Park.

Led by Lyle Olsen, their giant shortstop, the Wildcats are highly favored to repeat in the Far Western Conference pennant tilt. Olsen, two year all-conference selection in basketball, is regarded as an all time great at Chico, and definite major league material.

The Humboldt State aggregation has had little practice time this season, but the Lumberjacks are fairly well set. Veterans occupy five of the eight starting positions, while the other three are occupied by freshmen who played on all star teams.

Pitching is the big problem. Just two experienced pitchers are on hand, both of them are highly regarded.

Evan Reilly will probably get the starting nod in the first game of the doubleheader, while Coach Ted Staffler will follow up with Wally Maciel in the second game.

Wildlife Bar-B-Q At Camp Bauer

Do you like the smell of a barbeque, the sizzling of pork over a hot-bed of coals? And that girl friend, give her a break, fellas, bring her along, too.

Conservation Unlimited is barbequing that tender, juicy, plump (using the word loosely) hog they have been so carefully nurturing along through the winter at the Frank Smith ranch.

The date of the feast is April 16, the place is Camp Bauer. For tickets and further info contact any member of Conservation Unlimited or stop at Hut No. 3.

are available in the office of Dr. Palais.

Lumberjacks 10th In Golf Tourney

Competing against the "big name" schools of California, Humboldt State's golf team wound up in a tie for tenth place in the Northern Collegiate Golf tournament played at Pasatiempo last Thursday.

Bob Hulbert, star transfer, shot a sizzling 77 which with his handicap of 11, gave him low net score for the day, and also put him well up on the list of medal scores.

The University of California took top honors in the contest with a team score of 294, followed by San Jose State with 301 and Stanford with 303.

Twenty one colleges and universities were entered in the tournament.

Two other members of the Humboldt team, Dave Dana and Joe Oppenheimer, racked up identical 90's.

Faculty To Play Seniors Friday

Sporting a newly invented "four platoon" system, the Humboldt State college faculty will battle the graduating seniors this Friday at 10 a.m. in the gym in Humboldt State college's "battle of the century".

Although rosters have not yet been announced for the tussle, many familiar faces, on the basketball court and in the classroom will be represented. Among the faculty "old men" opposing the spry youngsters, will be Rod Shepherd, Charles Roscoe, Jack Whetstone, and William C. Himstreet.

Many Humboldt State stars of the past few seasons, including Bob Marsh, Eddie Oliveira, Spider Klingenspor, and many others will attempt to uphold the honor of the younger generation in the struggle. The senior class, sponsors of the affair, will charge ten cents admission for the battle.

Football Squad To Hold Banquet

The Humboldt State college football team, bloody but unbowed after a rough 1949 season, will hold a stag banquet at the Bella Vista tomorrow (Thursday) night at 8:00 p. m.

Junior Varsity members, who boast the proudest record (won one-tied one) of all Humboldt State athletic teams this year, have also been invited to the affair. Since this a self-promoted function, each footballer will pay $2.00 a plate or the dinner.

SPORTS

IT SAYS HERE

..... in fine print

By CRAIG STARK, Lumberjack Sports Editor

Banquets seem to be in the air -- both the football and the basketball squads are currently planning feasts. Coach Jack Whetstone and his basketeers are discussing something new in the way of post-season parties, a "sports day".

The "day" would include a tennis tournament in the morning and a golf tournament in the afternoon, with only basketballers participating. We've heard that many of the team can shoot golf in the low 80's. For nine holes, that is.

Tennis was never like this -- the other day we saw a tennis match being played that was slightly unusual. One player was standing on the north side of the upper court, as is customary. His opponent was standing on the south side of the lower court. Whassamatter fellas, don't you like the rules the way they are?

Ambitious??? Coach Mel Klein (pride of the CES) is currently holding forth in the gym every Thursday and Saturday. It sounds like, and is, a swell idea. The occasion, of course, is a free "play night", when everyone plays what they like, with the limitations of space and common sense, however. Participants inform this column that a good time was had by all. Volleyball is number one on the popularity poll, they tell me.

Wanted -- one (preferably two) baseball pitchers. May be either left handed or right. Report to Ted Staffler, Humboldt State College baseball coach. If you could get pitchers like that, be assured the entire Humboldt state baseball team would be forking over for ads.

Since you can't get pitchers like that, the Humboldt State baseball team will have to limp along on what it has; to wit: two good pitchers, and a few who might make college pitchers with experience.

The two good chuckers are Evan Reilly and Wally Maciel, who can handle themselves on a mound but the Bob Lemons and the Vic Raschis have days when they can't get their closest "cousin" out.

All of Humboldt's conference meetings are double-headers. That means both chuckers will have to go the route every time. Well, here's hoping.

Football Costs Money

A number of colleges have been forced to abandon football, recently, because of financial entanglements at some schools and the trouble others are having in holding top-flight coaches against higher bidders, warned Brutus Hamilton, director of athletics at University of California.

Among the schools that have abandoned football are Canisius, Portland University and St. Louis University. Harvard and Washington University of St. Louis have de-emphasized the sport.

Hamilton went on to say that the costs of financing a big-time football team are nearly prohibitive, although he pointed out that California, one of the largest schools in the nation, is in no trouble.

Campus Planned

Reese Bullen, assistant professor of art, is constructing a model of the future campus. This model will be photographed and sent to the various state departments. The contour-maps and data should be available by May 1 when the master plan work will start.
