Clarify Student U.S. Draft Status Recommend Price Hike For Non-Card Holders

Students of draft age are eligible for a I-S or II-S deferment, the Director of Selective Service, General Lewis B. Hershey, recently announced. In a clarification of the 1951 amendments to the Selective Service law, General Hershey stated that henceforth students will be deferred instead of having their induction postponed.

Students, who are pursuing a full-time course and receive an order for induction, are eligible for a I-S deferment, if they have not previously had a student deferment.

Local Board Defers

A student who is entitled to a I-S deferment must be ordered for induction, General Hershey pointed out, before he can be deferred by his local board. The law says that he shall be deferred "upon presenting the facts" that he is satisfactorily pursuing

A recommendation affecting the present policy in the student co-op fountain was passed by the Student Union Committee last Tuesday. This recommended plan will be brought before the Student Council for consideration at their next meeting on Monday evening at 7 p. m.

At the present time the selling price of merchandise from the student fountain is between 20 and 30 per cent lower than prevailing market prices in the city, the committee reported.

No Card—Pay More

It was pointed out that ASB card holders will continue to receive foodstuffs for the current prices, while non-ASB members will pay the differential price. The differential will be varied according to the article in question, but will still be consistent with current market prices, the committee stated.

The price of coffee will remain at 10 cents for non-ASB members and will be reduced to 7 cents for members under the proposed plan.

According to the proposal non-student guests will pay the price differential. Mrs. Margaret Brookins, student comptroller, stated that the book store is only able to get books at a 20 per cent discount from the list price.

Book Sales Drop

"Although there has been a drop in the sale of books, I do not believe that it is due to the 10 per cent plan," said Mrs. Brookins. She went on to explain that the drop was due to other factors, one of which was the drop in enrollment this semester. The other factor, she lists, is that sales are always slower in the spring semester.

'Hasty Heart' Begins 3-Day Run Wednesday In HSC Auditorium

Highlighting the season's dramatic activities, "The Hasty Heart," John Patrick's popular comedy-drama, will open its run Wednesday, Feb. 13, in the college auditorium.

"The Hasty Heart," which has been a great favorite in college theaters during the past five years, is the story of a Scottish soldier who battles death and his own inner conflicts in a military hospital in South-east Asia.

Who's a Haggis?

Mr. John Van Duzer and his scene technicians have been busily reproducing a British military hospital.

Many residents of Arcata and Eureka have reportedly been startled by the query: "Have you a haggis?" Mr. Walter Beaver, director of the play, when questioned concerning the nature of a "haggis," mysteriously refused to comment. "Come and see the play," he said.

Edwards Takes Lead

Featured in the cast is Jim Edwards as Lachlen McLachlen, the circumspet Scot. A senior majoring in economics, Jim is a well-known favorite among campus theater goers.

Another popular favorite appearing in "The Hasty Heart" is Harry Gift. Harry has been active in radio, drama and athletic activities for a number of years.

Carol Lone Girl

The lone feminine role in the play is capably handled by Carol Braun. Carol's performance as the mother in "All My Sons" is still talked about whenever HSC drama fans get together.

Comedy-lovers will be pleased to learn that Tom Turner has an opportunity for another of his unique characterizations in the role of Digger, an Australian paratrooper.

A newcomer who is given an opportunity to shine in the role of Tommy, a Cockney, is Charles Coon, of Eureka.

Feet Too Long

Kiwi, a New Zealander, is portrayed by Howard Corbin, a social science major who is also interested in music.

Perhaps the most unusual characterization in the play is provided by Gene Marks in the role of Blossom. During the course of the play, Gene speaks only in the native language of the Basuto tribe.

Jerry Beck, a sophomore majoring in speech and drama, will enliven the proceedings as the Orderly who makes up in grouchiness what he lacks in energy.

Completing this fine cast is Dan Gurnee, a music major, who will enact the part of the Colonel.

Behind Scenes Cast

Assisting the director, Mr. Beaver, is Ruth Bartley, who is also handling publicity. Make-up is under the competent direction of Fern Stahl, a senior speech-drama major, and Phyllis Gustafson is in charge of properties.

Tickets for all performances are on sale at the office in the Student Union building. All seats are reserved.

SAB Compulsory Student Card Questions Answered

Question — What control do students have over the affairs of the student union?

Answer—The affairs of the student union are controlled by the Student Council. It is a student's privilege, and responsibility, to make known his wishes to the council members.

Question — Have the new rules prevailing in the Co-op been formulated by the Student Body or the College Administration?

Answer — The rules have been made entirely by the Student Council. Dr. Leonard Christensen, council advisor, and Mr. Frank Stegall being the only administrative persons present.

Question—Why has there been a discrimination in the Co-op between those with and without student body cards?

Answer — This discrimination is in effect a recognition of the student body card as a share in a corporation. Profits from the share are reaped through such activities as dances, athletic events, and services at average lower costs at the student union, fountain and bookstore.

Question—What happens to profits derived from the Student Union?

Answer — An anticipated $5,000 profit for this year will pay the salary of the Student Executive Manager, Comptroller of Student Body Accounts, and the employees of the business office, book store, and fountain. The remaining money is to be spent for student body activities.

Question — Are you paying above price list on books obtained from the book store?

Answer — No. All books are sold over the counter at list price. Books are obtained from the publishers at 20 per cent less than list price. Freight charges and handling are paid out of the difference.

Question — Why are Veterans without student body cards exempt from the service charge in the book store?

Answer — Veterans are exempt because the Veteran Administration pays a 10 percent service charge to the student body by contract.

Question—Who owns the student union building?

Answer—The State of California owns the building. The Associated Student body owns the facilities and equipment of the fountain and pays maintenance charges.

Question—What is the Student Union Committee?

Answer—A committee composed of students and faculty whose function is to formulate student union policies.

These policies are subject to approval by the Student Council.

Question—Is the present policy in the student union permanent?

Answer—No. It is subject to change by the council upon recommendation of the student union committee considering the best interests of the student body.

Question — What recommendations have been made to the student council by the student union committee?

Answer—Coffee should sell for 7 cents to members of the Associated Student Body and 10 cents to all other persons

FATHER, COME HOME!

Hunter Off On Limb; Philosophizes Hunting

By Forrest Waters

This article is respectfully dedicated to all wives, sweethearts, in-laws, or other unfortunate persons who do not understand hunters or hunting.

Hunting is like anything else—anyone with a head on his shoulders can be successful. (A two-headed person could be twice as successful but could probably have more fun at home answering his own questions.

Always Three Ways

Hunting is very simple and consists of three simple steps: (a) Locating the quarry, (b) Pointing the gun at the quarry, and (c) Pulling the trigger. If the quarry does not drop dead, the hunter should.

The game can be any bird or mammal. In Humboldt County we find deer hunting to be one of the most interesting kinds. Now there are various ways in which to hunt deer.

Arnie Torrid has referred to the following as a good method and very widely used.

"A party of hunters goes into the woods, and each hunter is assigned a 'stand.' One individual is picked to circle back and drive all the deer up to the hands. He then scurries back to his car, drives to town to Luck's Tavern and joins other hunters at the bar.

After three or four hours of this, he adjourns to the nearest cafe, enjoys a hamburger and a beer, drives back, parks the car, jumps up and down to work up some perspiration, and collects the hunters from the stands.

Those who have died of exposure are carried by the ones still able to walk, back to camp. The leader expresses his astonishment that the hunters "allowed all the deer to slip by them unseen and implies that they are secretly conspiring to come back later to get the big buck and leave him out."

Tim Jokem has another method called "still hunting." It is called still hunting because the hunter moves around instead of standing still.

Tim says this method consists of the hunter stumbling around through the woods trying to sneak up close enough to a deer to get a shot at it. It is often very successful because many deer die laughing while watching a hunter trying to get through one of Humboldt's terrific windfalls without making any noise.

Hey Hunter, Duck!

The other type of hunting very popular around Humboldt Bay is duck hunting. Decoys (purchased from Worrest Laters Sports Center) are necessary for this kind of hunting and we set out a dozen or so to attract the attention of passing flights of birds.

View From Knoll

Knoll Deroser generously provided the information on blinds and his interview was as follows: "Blinds may be constructed of grass, reeds, brush, driftwood, tree boughs, old bed springs or anything that blends into the natural landscape." Knoll took an item from "Field and Stream" which explained how a hunter in Texas used a steer skeleton for a blind.

He immediately borrowed a skeleton from Dr. MacLin-lie's lab and took it out to Humboldt Bay. At four o'clock he still had six vertebrae, three ribs and a T-bone left, and his bag for the day was two buzzards and a mud hen.

One Pinhead To Another

Dr. Stover gave us another definition of duck hunting: "A shotgun with a pintail looking down one end of the barrel and a pinhead looking up the other."

At this time we might add something about the calibre of guns. In designations applied to rifles and ammunition, the figures may apply to diameter of the bore in inches, diameter of the bore in millimeters, the charge of powder in grains, the weight of the bullet in grains, or anything else that happens to pop into the manufacturer's head.

For example, "30/06" is derived from the fact that there are 30 days in April, and "06" is 60 (the number of characters in the Persian alphabet during the first part of the 13th century) backwards. Other designations as to calibre and size of shot are just as simple in explanation and can be very readily memorized.

Last but not least is the most important thing of all hunting, "the shells." Floe Cranium told me he bought some at a local sports center, called "Head Shot." These are the most desirable type of shells because they will only penetrate the head of the duck. Any of you who have cracked a cranium can appreciate these shells.

"Preserving" Shells

Merl Loop uses only salt-tipped shells. These shells are used on elusive birds which never fly under 1760 yards or a mile high. By using such a salt-shell, the birds are kept from spoiling. Until they reach the ground.

Any similarity to the people of Humboldt State College and similar incidents or anything written by Ed Zern is "purely coincidental."

PRESIDENT REPRESENTS STATE IN COLLEGE SPORTS CONFERENCE

Athletic directors and presidents from the nation's colleges wound up the conference in close agreement that definite strides had been taken toward the improvement of intercollegiate sports.

Thus, Dr. Cornelius H. Siemens, president of Humboldt State College, summed up the weekend session of the National Collegiate Athletic Association just completed in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dr. Siemens attended the conference as representative of the 11 state colleges in California, following an appointment by the council of state college presidents. This session was held Jan. 9-12.

The reason for these meetings is that too many colleges are institutions whose main business is athletics with an occasional lapse into intellectual pursuits, it was charged.

Thus a campaign or drive to de-emphasize college athletics and set up a governing body of rules for all colleges to follow.

Proposals passed on by the NCAA indicate the athletic heads and college presidents are coming to the crossroads for college sports.

Dr. Siemens said that the coaches felt that college presidents, in their recommendations, had come pretty close to

Drama Offers Expression

The drama department at HSC offers the students a wide variety for expression in the field of dramatic arts and stagecraft.

There are three types of plays produced each year. They are the one-act plays and playreadings, directed by upper division drama students; the three-act plays, directed by graduate students; and the faculty-directed three-act productions. Each year numerous one-acts and playreadings are produced which are staged particularly for those students who wish to gain experience in acting.

1951-52 Plays

Rehearsals for these plays are held during the day at the students convenience. Rehearsals for the three-act plays are usually held in the afternoons or evenings because of the difficulty in scheduling. This fall's graduate-student directed play was "Hedda Gabler," directed by Alf Braun. The three-act this year is "The Hasty Heart," directed by Mr. Walter Beaver. It will be presented sometime in February.

Dr. Don Karshner, chairman of the drama department, emphasizes that all students are encouraged to try out for all plays. Prior experience is not necessary for those who wish to audition.

The technical side of the theater offers even more possibility for student participation. It provides a fine opportunity for experience for students interested in art, architecture, costuming, furniture, and lighting. Mr. John Van Duzer is technical director of drama at the college.

Student Drama Groups

Under the auspices of the Drama department are the Drama Club and Alpha Psi Omega. The Drama Club is open to all students who are interested in acting or related fields. Alpha Psi Omega is the dramatic honorary society, numbering 21 members.

Drama Publications

This is the Drama Department's third year of producing "Stage and Studio," a quarterly mimeographed newspaper which covers drama and music events at the college and includes dates of shows put out by schools on their mailing list.

It also reports on outstanding radio and drama programs and offers suggestions for library purchases of books on acting and other aspects of the theater. The "Stage and Studio" is sent out to 337 high schools, junior colleges, and colleges in California, Oregon, Washington and Nevada, and to 283 alumni of the Drama Department and 20 former members of the faculty.

The Drama Department also runs the Lectures and Entertainment Bureau which sends out shows and entertainment to organizations in this area as a service to the people. Fifteen shows, from half an hour to an hour long, have been sent out this fall as far south as Miranda. They serve community organizations.

Drama Festival

An annual event at HSC is the Drama Festival which is put on by the North-Western California Speech Association. This organization is made up of drama directors from the high schools and the community theater and members of the college faculty. This year's drama festival is to be held at HSC on March 14 and 15. Members of the association hope to have 250 students on campus from as far south as Ukiah, as far east as Weaverville, and north to Brookings, Oregon.

ATOMIC ASSEMBLY

"Survival Under Atomic Attack" was the topic under consideration at the assembly this morning. A booklet by this title was issued to students. Also the Air Force showed a film entitled "Women in the Air Force."

State Offers Aid To Vet Students

State of California helped 7,561 World War II veterans to continue their education during the Spring quarter and semester of 1951, it was reported today by D. J. Callaghan, Jr., State Director of Veterans Affairs.

The State Educational Aid roster has been climbing steadily since World War II, Callaghan said, and is probably now approaching its peak. He predicted that State program figures would continue high for another year or two, as more and more veterans exhaust their entitlement to the Federal benefits provided by the GI Bill of Rights and turn to the "Cal-Vet" program to attain their objective.

Nearly 25,000 World War II veterans have been assisted under the "Cal-Vet" educational program since it was established in 1943.

To be eligible for State assistance, a veteran must either have been born in California or must have been a resident of this state at the time he entered military service. He must have had at least 90 days on active duty prior to January 1, 1947.

SURVEYING FROM THE HILL

The beginning of a new year, and a new semester coinciding, gives us pause to review the past year and to make resolutions concerning the future. Nineteen-fifty-one ushered in a new spirit on this campus, not evident since before the second world war. With it, came much progress in building and efficiently-organized and active student council.

But now we face a new semester and a fresh start again. With memories of an enjoyable half year of college extracurricular activities, we look back on the semester and realize that perhaps we should have worked a little harder and spent more time at the books, and under our breaths we vow that next semester will be different. Perhaps we find that we haven't taken full advantage of the social opportunities offered in college, and we resolve that next semester we will take part in these activities as much as our free time allows, to the profit of our personalities.

Then we stop to think how attending Humboldt State has helped us in 1951. It's true that the school is geographically located at the summit of a hill, and we have to walk up that hill to get to the top. Sometimes the books we carry get heavy, and sometimes we get tired because the climb takes a lot of sweat and hard work and the burning of midnight oil. Sometimes we are even ready to give up.

Although the hill is steep and requires no little expenditure of effort, when we finally reach the top and survey the panorama that can be viewed from there, we realize it has been well worth the struggle to attain it.

Dean Of Women Has Character Brother

By Irene Culver

Everyone's main goal is to be engaged in work he enjoys. Edgar Buchanan has achieved his goal. He free-lances to motion picture studios in Hollywood. Although he has been offered a contract by MGM, he prefers to free-lance. Character roles are his favorite.

Edgar Buchanan is the brother of Miss Kate Buchanan, Dean of Women at HSC, and of Mrs. Don Karshner, wife of Dr. Don Karshner, chairman of the Division of Fine Arts.

He attended the University of Oregon, where he took a pre-med course. He was an assistant in the drama department at the university, and later was president of the student body at North Pacific Dental College in Portland.

Dentist Actor

Buchanan practiced dentistry with his father for ten years in Eugene, Oregon. His wife, Mildred, also graduated from dental college. She practiced with Buchanan and his father as a child specialist.

Miss Kate Buchanan describes her brother as "cautious." He has passed the California State Dental Board examination, and keeps his dental equipment in storage because he knows that "anyone in the movies may be here today, gone tomorrow."

Miss Buchanan said that her brother had always wanted to prove he could act professionally. This is how it happened:

He was enrolled in the Pasadena Playhouse, where a movie scout spotted him. He signed a seven-year contract with Columbia Studios, which expired four years ago. They had "typed" him in Western roles, so he decided to free lance, and choose his own roles, although he had been offered contracts.

He now has a television serial and appears on radio programs.

Humboldt Picture

He will appear in "The Big Trees," recently filmed in Humboldt County. Seven other new pictures are ready to be released.

Buchanan works nine months out of the twelve as a general rule. His comments are "It's hard work," and "It isn't half as glamorous as it is said to be."

In private life, Edgar Buchanan is a friendly, keenly alive person who loves to play golf, read, hunt, and fish. His home is in the San Fernando valley, where he lives with his wife and one adopted son, William Edgar, III.

IT'S A WILD LIFE!

WILDLIFE CAMPUS PLANNED

A new wildlife building to cost $200,000 is in the plans at Humboldt State College.

Senator Arthur W. Way and Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti will introduce a bill at the next session of the State Legislature in March to finance the new facilities which will house the students in wildlife management and fisheries courses on the campus. At the present time classes in these subjects are being conducted in temporary quonset buildings. One in every seven students is engaged in wildlife courses at the college.

The site for the new building was obtained last year on the north end of the campus and will include a year-around stream in the instructional program. Known as Jolly Giant Creek, the stream area will be used for brood stock ponds and bird pens.

Part of the proposed project includes a small dam to be built on the creek to store water for the rearing and brood ponds for the fisheries program.

New Editors

and plans to renew studies for his Master's degree in the fall.

More Staff Members

Claudia Pedrotti has been appointed the new assistant editor with Blanche Evans, Gene Marks and Pat Quackenbush as new staff members.

Bob Olson, co-assistant editor of the yearbook last semester has re-enrolled at HSC but plans to transfer to Oregon. He has also announced his marriage to Miss Lee Oberti, a student at the college last semester.

Twelve new staff members have been added to the Lumberjack. They are Ed Hanson, Jackie Loeb, Nancy Earle, Bob Crittenden, Joe Mullis, Don Ratzlaff, Gene Marks, Jack Fishness and Blanche Evans. Jim Gillogly was named sports editor with Dick Stacy as sports reporter. Sam Chaney continues as photographer.

Draft Status

a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued.

In other words all that is necessary is for the student to request the Dean or Registrar to immediately give his local board notice that he is a full-time student doing satisfactory work and that such work actually commenced prior to the date the order for induction was mailed. Actual class attendance is required before a student may be considered for deferment. Enrollment, acceptance, or registration does not give the person standing as a full-time student.

New Type Deferment

The new Selective Service Law, as well as providing for the I-S deferment, gave the President the power to regulate student deferments depending on the needs of the nation regarding national safety, health, or interest. Using this authority the President created the II-S type deferment.

II-S Explained

A II-S classification is based upon the student's class standing or the score he received on the Selective Service College Qualification Test. Those students who are in the upper portion, scholastically, of the male members of their class or who made a score of 70 or better on the test may be deferred by their local board. The law provides, however, that the local boards are not required to defer men who meet one or both of the criteria. General policy has been to defer those students meeting either one or both of the requirements.

II-S Renewable

While the I-S deferment is good only for one year, the II-S classification may be granted by the local board each successive year. Providing the student maintains his class standing, thus enabling him to complete his education.

A student with a I-S deferment may receive a II-S rating the next year if his class standing improves to the point where he is in the upper portion of his class.

Freshmen students who have not yet taken the Selective Service College Qualification Test will have an opportunity to do so on Thursday, April 24, 1952, according to Dean of Students Leonard Christensen. The Dean stated that only those students who intend to request a deferment are eligible to take the test. March 2 is the deadline for application.

The President's order provides that a student wishing to take the test must have an admission ticket to the testing room. These tickets are obtained by applying to your local board.

Mardi Gras Slated -- Carnival, Dance

Mardi Gras, the traditional time of celebration prior to Lent, will be renewed on the campus, as in the past three years, on Friday night, Feb. 29, in the Portuguese hall on west Eleventh street in Arcata.

A combination dance and carnival, the affair will be in costume with a king and queen to reign over the festivities. Caravans of student groups will be announced by a fanfare according to their time of arrival at the hall.

Student clubs and organizations will operate booths in one section of the hall for games of chance and sports while dancing proceeds in another section. Linda MacMillan, junior in education, was named chairman of the HSC Mardi Gras at last month's meeting of the Newman Club, which is sponsoring the celebration.

Through letters mailed this week student groups are being asked to signify whether they wish to have a booth at the carnival.

Mr. Bill Jackson, instructor in accounting, is advisor for the Newman Club.

Professor MacGinitie Starts Night Meteorology Course

Dr. Harry D. MacGinitie, professor of physical sciences, has inaugurated a course in meteorology for the Air Force Reserve and the adult night school program at the Eureka Junior High School.

The series of 24 lectures will be along the project lesson plan from 7 to 9:30 p. m. on Wednesday of each week.

Members of the 9382nd Volunteer Air Reserve Training Squadron have signed up for the weather course, but the course is open to all adults also.

Dr. MacGinitie was in charge of the Meteorology program at Kirtland Air Base, N. M., for two years while serving in the U. S. Army Air Corps.

He is chairman of the division of natural sciences and a noted authority in the field of geology.

Bunyans Split With Chico; Two HSC Cagers Ineligible

By JIM GILLOGLY

Despite the announcement that two of Humboldt's cagers were declared ineligible as the result of the final examinations for the fall semester, the Bunyan quintet came back fighting to gain a "Halving Decision" with Chico State College last week-end. They took the first contest, 77-62, but lost the second, 65-53. The win knocked Chico out of the conference lead.

First-string guards Dick Stacey and Don Flemming failed to pass 10 units of college work and will be ineligible for further college competition this semester.

Staters Down Army Two Games

The first of a two game series ended up with Humboldt State the victor in a 61-59 overtime contest from the Camp Beal service men.

The game was fast, and the lead exchanged many times during the game.

Glenn Wallace, the former Eureka High star and now the leading scorer for the Jacks, dumped in 26 points for the evening.

Don Flemming played a great defensive game. Coupled with Wallace's and Flemming's performances was that of Dan Wilson. Dan made his first start for the Hilltoppers and played an excellent ball game, scoring 14 points.

The next evening was also a well played game. Late in the third quarter Humboldt State pulled to a seven-point lead which they managed to hold.

The final score, 61 to 54.

Wallace again led all scorers with a total of 18 points followed by guard Don Flemming with 17 markers.

Graduate Becomes Ensign

Douglas W. Dupen, former student at HSC, received a commission as Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve upon graduation from the Officer Candidate School, Newport, R. I., Jan. 25.

Ensign Dupen graduated from HSC in June 1950 with high honors. He majored in Speech and Drama, was a member of Alpha Psi Omega.

The red-hot Lumberjacks made it four in a row before bowing by downing the league leading Chico State Wildcats, 77-62, Friday evening.

Humboldt played its finest game of the season and showed great improvement.

The Jacks got off to a fast start and never stopped until the game was over.

The scoring honors were divided equally among the regulars. Bob Dunaway was tops for the winners with 19, followed closely by Glenn Wallace with 18, Dan Wilson 13, and Matthews with a total of 12. Jack Marcus led the losers with 16 markers.

Bob Dunaway played an outstanding game on defense as well as offense. He held George Maderus, the league's leading scorer to a meager 8 points.

Reverse Form Saturday

Saturday night was a complete reversal of the previous night's contest as the Jacks ran out of gas in the second half to be at the short end of a 65-53 ball game.

George Maderus, who was held to eight points the night before, came back strong for high point honors with 19 points.

Wallace was high for the Jacks with 15 counters.

HSC STUDENTS IN MOVIE

"The Big trees," a Hollywood production of the Redwood Empire, will feature many Humboldt College students who were extras in the filming. Also Edgar Buchanan, brother of HSC Dean of Women, (see story on page 4) has a featured role in the film.

The world premier is Feb. 16.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

By Mel Hurd

The HSC gym windows were fogged up with the hard and heavy breathing of the faculty and old villagers as the intramural maple season started with a huffing, puffing ten, struggling to show their talents before the crowd from the hilltop.

Dead Eye

Telonicher started the show by dumping two long shots from about thirty-five feet out to serve notice on the villagers that they were in for a rough night. From there on in until the closing minutes of the last quarter it was anyone's game.

With three seconds left to play and the score 24-23 in favor of the faculty, Griffith fouled Gruell who promptly sunk the two gift shots, became the game's hero and set the score in the record books as Villagers 25, Faculty 24. Missing ten out of twelve free throws lost for the faculty.

Art Man High

High point man for the faculty was Berry with a total of seven points and Roscoe took second honors with five as he astounded the crowd with the Peanuts Flemming type of ball.

Starlet for the Villagers was Diaz with eight tallies and an aggressive type of basketball that had the class-room heads baffled.

The second game scheduled was to be between the Wildlifers and Eureka Hornets led by big Steve Kezlsley. The Wildlifers failed to appear which forfeited the game to the Hornets with a score of 10 to 0.

The next round of the intramural games was played Tuesday the 5th; first game at 3 p. m. between Nelson Hall and Block "H" and the second one at 8:45 p. m.: Knights vs. Redwood Hall.

SCHOLASTICALLY INELIGIBLE was the ruling for Dick Stacey and Don Flemming for further basketball play this season. The loss of the two regular guards was a blow to the casaba squad in Bunyan drive for recognition in the Far Western Conference. Stacey and Flemming were all-city selections in Spokane, Wash., as performers for North Central High School.

SPORTITORIAL

By Pvt. Craig Stark, U. S. A.

Former Sports Editor of Lumberjack, on furlough from Presidio, Monterey, California

Hidden in the nooks and crannies of small and obscure conferences across the nation are many real characters of athletics, but few can approach the bizaare antics of one Mr. Mackay Martin, who happens to be conference statistician for the Far Western Conference.

The subject of Martin is not unknown to past readers of the Lumberjack, for there have been few years in which Martin has not pulled some boffo to earn himself a tongue-lashing by various and sundry sports writers.

Martin's most infamous boner, and deservedly so, was his stubborn refusal over a period of two years to modify the basketball scoring system which he used to award two conference scoring titles to Chico State college athletes. Martin is Chico State's graduate manager and serves as statistician only as a sideline.

During the cage seasons of 1949-50 and 1950-51, he continued to award the scoring leadership on a basis of total points, rather than highest average, despite the fact that Chico State played four more games than anyone else in the conference and six more than Humboldt State.

Jacks Chagrined

This brought, naturally, an aggrieved howl from HSC, because a gent named Bob Marsh was burning up the league with something like a 20 point average while his nearest competitors were hitting around 15 points per outing. But, the competitors were Chico State college players and wound up taking the first three places on a total point basis.

But, Martin is not a gent to be stopped by a little thing like that. No indeed, he immediately found another way to bollix up the works and immediately proceeded to do so.

This year his sin is one of omission rather than commission. He just failed to pick an all-conference football team.

No All-Star Team

But the Far Western conference has regularly picked an all-conference team ever since its re-formation in the immediate post-war period and no one even suggested dropping the custom.

However, Chico State college had its worst football season in years, even getting walloped unmercifully by Humboldt, so naturally Martin would be unwilling to publicize the new low to which the Wildcats had fallen. So he just ignored the all-conference team—a convenience for him and an inconvenience to all the potential all-conference players, who sometimes like a little recognition after a season of play.

However Chico State has a pretty fair basketball team, so you can bet the last confederate dollar in your jeans that there will be an all-conference cage team, promptly selected and published with all the hoopla and drum-beating at Martin's disposal.

There is only one conclusion to be drawn from Martin's display in the last three seasons. Martin is using the position of conference statistician as a convenient outlet for publicizing Chico State college—probably an admirable trait for a Chico graduate manager—and is not interested in even doing his duty as far as the rest of the conference is concerned. In fact, he is so disinterested that he doesn't even bother to think up a plausible excuse for his shining examples of impartiality.

A DEMONSTRATION OF PROTEST! In smiling spirits this group of students gathered recently in the Student Union Co-op to serve free coffee to students in competition with the S. U. services from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. They brought their own coffee and cookers. The gathering was a reaction against the Executive Council ruling that patrons of the Co-op show ASB cards before being served. The Jack fotog reported that all of the homemakers possessed student body cards. From the left, the students are Howard Corbin, Leonard Cook, Ed Creech, Hal Sibling, Jim Westberg and Paul Hartloff.

STUDENT FORUM

Within recent months Chief Justice Vinson of the U. S. Supreme Court has publicly declared that there is no absolute truth. His statement was challenged from coast-to-coast by prominent Americans who declared that the nation's laws, which he interprets, have no foundation without absolutes, and that our nation's freedom was declared on the basis of absolutes through the theory of the inalienable rights of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

In the light of this controversy the Lumberjack prints an opinion on the subject by a freshman woman student writing under a nom de plume.

TRUTH IS ABSOLUTE

By Phyllis Weston

I believe that Truth is a Divine and absolute code; man cannot grasp its full meaning because he is imperfect. In all of nature and science we find evidences that point to the existence of a higher power—something greater and stronger than mortal beings.

Many people argue that truth is relative—whatever man believes to be right is the truth. I disagree with this philosophy because man, being imperfect, also thinks imperfectly. Imperfect thinking cannot be truth because truth is synonymous with perfection. Man himself knows that he is imperfect. How can he then argue that anything he believes is truth?

Since truth is Divine and man is imperfect, we must find a connecting link between the two. Without such a link, I believe man would be unable to understand truth at all. This is where relative truth enters the situation.

Without such a link, I believe, man would be unable to understand truth at all. This is where relative truth enters the situation.

Our modern world has set up laws and standards for individuals to follow. These standards are the product of majority opinion, which has generally striven to come as close as possible to the ultimate truth. However, this is not always possible.

For example, let's consider the problem of killing. Absolute truth denies to any man the right to take another's life. However, self-preservation is one of the strongest instincts of man. Therefore, to reconcile humanity to Divinity, man has set up a standard of relative truth. Killing in self-defense is justifiable under common law; it is the aggressor who must pay the penalty for wrong-doing. This example shows why I believe truth is a vital necessity to man's well-being.

Of course the whole problem revolves around theology. I believe in God as being absolute truth. I also believe in relative truth, as the only means by which man can approach God.

(Editor's note: Perhaps truth is relative sometimes because man has not been able to discover the full truth of a situation. At least it might be said that man seeks truth.)

Because God understands man's imperfection, he has made forgiveness possible without compromising. His own Divine being. How people who do not subscribe to Christian beliefs reconcile imperfect man to perfect truth I do not know.

Women's Dean Takes House Mother Role

Miss Kate Buchanan, Dean of Women, has recently taken over the position of house mother at Nelson Hall. This move was recently made possible by state permission to faculty members to take such positions. At this time applications are being processed for the job of head resident at Redwood Hall. This position was made vacant by the graduation of Ralph Kraus.

Although at present there is no state money for dormitory supervision, Miss Buchanan says that "This move is being made in anticipation of state aid for dormitory supervision."

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Sturdivant met with a group of men engaged in dairying in this community last week for a discussion of the curriculum and program in dairying.

Instruction in Dairying For Two-Year Program

Approval for the appointment of an instructor to head the two-year program of studies in dairying at HSC has been secured from the State Department of Education in Sacramento. The proposal for the curriculum now goes to the State Board of Education for final approval.

"Whether or not Humboldt State College actually begins offering courses in the dairying program next year depends on the number of young men who are likely to enroll," President C. H. Siemens stated.

Executive Dean Lawrence E. Turner met with a group of men engaged in dairying in this community last week for a discussion of the curriculum and program in dairying.

Popera Program Set Eureka Auditorium

"The King of the Popera, who will he be?" is the question being asked on the campus today. This contest is being held in conjunction with the Popera which is set for Feb. 22 in the Municipal Auditorium in Eureka at 8:15 p. m.

Candidates for king will be sponsored by the clubs and organizations on the campus. The king will be chosen by a popular election Feb. 22 at the college and will be crowned during the dance. He will be escorted by the Homecoming Queens for 1950 and 1951 and the Sempervirens Sweethearts for 1951 and 1952.

The Popera, the second to be held at Humboldt, is a concert of light music followed by a dance and entertainment. Selections from the college choir and chorus, the Humboldt Little Symphony, the Lumberjack Marching Band and the Musician's Union Local 333 All-Star Orchestra will be on the program.

Following this concert the dance begins. Entertainment during intermissions will feature the "Pistol River State Teachers College" Band, the trio, Darlene Peterson, Shirley Pitlock and Yvonne Morrison and the coronation ceremony. Also the ancient full harmonic group will be on the program.
